Argentina Reports Three Peronist Revolts Crushed

Government Says Army Puts Down Rebellion By Ex-Dictator Group

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Peronist revolts flared today in the industrial city of Rosario and in two oil towns in northern Argentina, but the government declared all three were crushed.

Retired army officers who had served under ousted dictator Juan D. Peron and a band of armed civilians tried to storm an army barracks at Rosario, northwest of Buenos Aires. An army communique said they were replused after killing three of the Rosario garrison, and fled, leaving behind one of their dead, a retired colonel who served as aide to one of Peron's military chiefs. Other accounts put the casualties at 10 dead and 50 wounded.

The communique said 33 persons were arrested.

FOUR-HOUR FIGHT

Shortly after the four-hour skirmish at Rosario, supporters of Peron struck at the oil field towns of Tartagal and Vespucio, in remote Northern Argentina near the Bolivian frontier.

Government sources said the rebels took over the airport and a police station at Tartagal, but army troops had no trouble in recapturing the positions.

At Vespucio, 20 miles south of Tartagal, the rebels were said to have occupied oil installations and offices of the state oil monopoly, but government circles said the insurgents were put down and the situation was in hand throughout the country.

TOWNS ON RAILWAY

There were no reports of casualties in either of the northern towns. Both are on the railway leading north from Salta, capital of the province of the same name.

While the fighting was in progress, terrorist bombs damaged railway and communications systems around Buenos Aires.

The insurgents in the north also struck at communications, cutting the railway tracks to the south and severing telephone lines, reports from Salta said.

Try To Orbit 2 Satellites At Once Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An attempt to hoist two U.S. satellites into orbit with a single rocket failed today.

The double-headed Thor-Able-Star roared smoothly away from this missile test center at 2:50 p.m. Tucked in its nose were a 203-pound Transit III-A navigation satellite and a 40-pound radiation study satellite riding as a hitchhiker.

Forty minutes later the Department of Defense announced that "preliminary telemetry reports have indicated that the satellites failed to go into orbit. time."

"The exact reason for this failure is undetermined at this

The goal was to place the two satellites into a circular orbit 500 miles high. They were clamped together on launching, but were to separate if they achieved orbit.

The double header technique was pioneered last June 22 when a Thor-Able-Star lofted Transit II-A and another radiation study satellite into successful orbit. The idea is to utilize the maximum payload capacity of the booster vehicle.

RAIN FORECAST ON AND OFF 3 DAYS MORE

Off-and-on rain may be expected through Saturday, according to forecasts today.

San Rafael rainfall to noon today registered .68 of an inch.

Marin Municipal Water District officials said the county is now so well soaked that at last the reservoirs will begin to gain.

Overnight rain at the new Nicasio dam was .75 inch. Other reservoirs reported as follows: Kent .78, Alpine .55, Bon Tempe .70, Lagunitas 1.20 and Phoenix 1.02.

Woodacre recorded .88 inch of rainfall from 5 p.m. yesterday to 9 a.m. today. Point Reyes Station reported .45; Kentfield .71, Larkspur .40, Chevy Chase in Larkspur .42, Muir Woods .30, Corte Madera .31, Novato .56 and Sausalito .28.

Gale warnings were out but slackening winds were expected late in the day.

Club Members Face Injunction In Loan Move

Officers of the Novato Community Club may find themselves slapped with another injunction if they attempt to borrow money on the property.

Club directors at a meeting Monday night agreed to ask member permission to borrow $6,500 to $7,500 on the property to finance renovation which would bring the club house up to fire safety standards.

MOVE BY BOWMAN

But San Rafael attorney William O. Weissich said today that club officers may face an injunction against such action. Weissich said that his client, club member Alfred Bowman, may request an injunction to prevent borrowing on club house or property.

Bowman has filed a suit asking that the club house be given to the City of Novato, as he says was promised on club incorporation in 1947. Other members say there was no promise to turn over the building on city incorporation, or say that bylaws have been changed or ask joint city-club use of the rambling building at 906 Machin Avenue.

LEND ON 'GAMBLE'

The suit normally would prevent borrowing on the property, Weissich contends, but some institution or person "may lend the money on a gamble." If so, an injunction may be asked.

If the suit turned out in the city's favor, the city would not be liable for the loan, Weissich and City Atty. Clark M. Palmer said.

Eleanor Lafranchi, acting club president, said directors expect to have contractors' bids by the Dec. 14 membership meeting so that a definite debt ceiling could be set for members to vote on. The present ceiling, in the bylaws, is $500.

Court Orders New Orleans To Integrate

Decision Sweeps Aside Barriers Raised By State

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Three federal judges—ignoring demonstrations for segregation—today swept aside every state-raised barrier to school integration and enjoined nearly all Louisiana officials from interfering.

"The conclusion," read the opinion, "is clear that interposition is not a constitutional doctrine."

Interposition is a theory by which a state puts its sovereignty between the federal government and the people of the state.

'PACKAGE' FAILS

The judges later added: "Without support of the interposition act, the rest of the segregation 'package' passed by the legislature falls of its own weight."

Further, the tribunal knocked out what it called "a series of measures which purport to abolish the Orleans Parish School Board."

State Rep. John Garrett of Claiborne Parish in the Louisiana Delta country in northeast Louisiana where segregation sentiment runs high, said the legislature would continue to fight despite the decision.

THRONG GATHERS

While the court made public its decision, angry housewives and mothers thronged outside the home of a white Methodist minister whose 5-year-old daughter continues to attend one of the city's two integrated schools, William Frantz Elementary.

The women jeered and yelled but Rev. Lloyd Foreman already had spirited his daughter into her kindergarten class by the back door.

Foreman was target of similar demonstrations yesterday when he took his daughter to school by the front door.

The three judges had been asked to rule on two motions. One by the Orleans Parish School Board asked suspension of integration until differences between state and federal government had been resolved.

Another by the state asked abandonment of all integration permanently.

China Grants Interest-Free Loan To Cuba

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China announced today it is granting Cuba a multi-million-dollar, interest-free loan between 1961 and 1965.

The Communist New China News Agency announcement used the figure 240 million rubles—60 million dollars at the current official exchange rate or about 240 million at Moscow's new official rate effective Jan. 1.

The agreement signed today in Peiping was new evidence of China's "friendship offensive" aimed at winning over Latin America and usurping Russian penetration of the Caribbean.

A joint communique issued by Communist Chinese Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien and Maj. Ernesto Guevara, one of Premier Fidel Castro's top advisers announced that the loan would be used to purchase equipment and to provide Cuba with technical aid and that Peiping had agreed to send a government mission to Cuba.

Lumumba Reported In Friendly Area

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — Fugitive ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba today was reported to have reached friendly territory some 400 miles east of the capital, well out of Col. Joseph Mobutu's reach.

Some sources said he abandoned his plan to go to Stanleyville, and was heading instead toward another of his political strongholds, Luluabourg.

Teen-Age Gang Caught After Lagunitas Holdup

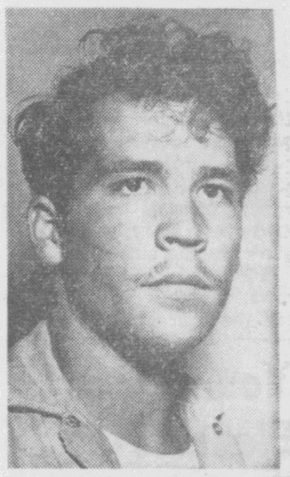
Got $177 At Gunpoint, Forgot Masks, Rope

By WAT TAKESHITA

A teen-age robber gang of five, whose leader said they planned a television-type holdup with masks and rope to tie their victims, badly bungled the job last night after hitting the Lagunitas Grocery Store for $177 at gunpoint.

Sheriff's inspectors said the boys had planned the holdup for a week, but in the last minute excitement they forgot their masks and rope.

An hour after the 5:30 p.m. holdup, Deputy Sheriff Robert di Grazia and Highway Patrolman Thomas Foley captured all five with an arsenal of weapons in their getaway car in Novato.



DONALD R. TEMPLE
'Wanted fast money'

Ringleader was Donald R. Temple, 19, an unemployed hod carrier living at San Quentin Village. In Marin County Jail today, Temple said he has a wife and two children.

"I just got tired of foolin' around," he told an Independent-Journal reporter. "I just wanted some fast money."

ANOTHER ON PAROLE

Caught in the car with Temple were a 16-year-old San Francisco boy, who is on parole from Washington state; two San Anselmo youths, 17 and 15, and a 15-year-old from Larkspur. All four were being held in Marin Juvenile Hall.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos commended Deputy di Grazia for a "fine job of police work."

Inspector Bowen Bridges, who questioned the boys, said they planned to "pull two more jobs," then head for Mexico. The youths had "cased" Lagunitas Grocery three times before holding it up last night.

Store owner Edward J. Lacy, 72, was shaken by the experience but unhurt. A neighbor boy, Johnny Tanzi, 12, who helps Lacy at the store, gave this account of the holdup to Deputy Kenneth Irving:

WALKED INTO STORE

Three youths walked into the store. The oldest youth pointed a .32-caliber automatic at Lacy and ordered, "Open the cash register and put all the money in a bag." Lacy stuffed a bag with all the paper money, which turned out to be $177, later recovered intact in the getaway car.

Another youth with a red beanie hat went behind the counter and filled another bag with cigarettes and three bottles of wine. The gunman told the store owner to open the safe, then seemed to get nervous and barked, "Let's get out of here." The leader wore a green corduory jacket.

The Tanzi boy said he saw only three of the holdup gang inside the store.

SEDAN SPOTTED

As they left the store, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Sipes of Lagunitas noticed it was a green sedan. Description of the green car and corduory coat was flashed over the air.

About an hour later, Deputy di Grazia, patrolling Novato, spotted a green De Soto on First Street near Grant. The driver wore a green corduory jacket. As di Grazia turned his car around to give chase, the De Soto stopped at the Associated service station at Grant and Highway 101

Pharmaceutical Assn. Denies Ad Ban Move

The California Pharmaceutical Assn. today denied that it is sponsoring legislation to prohibit the advertising of prescription drugs.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy on Monday displayed a copy of a letter written by Floyd N. Heffron, executive secretary of the California State Board of Pharmacy, which reported the Pharmaceutical Institute—for which Heffron also is spokesman—would back a bill in the 1961 Legislature providing a prescription drug "may not be advertised to the public by its trade name, generic name or its official name, or by reference to its therapeutic or physiological effect." This would leave virtually nothing that could be said about the drug in advertising.

However, the bill is not the idea of nor supported by the California Pharmaceutical Assn., declared Cecil Stewart, executive vice president, in Los Angeles.

"The California Pharmaceutical Assn. has not in the past, and does not in the future, contemplate advocating or sponsoring any law prohibiting the advertising of prescription drugs," said Stewart.

Stewart also declared the association has not seen a copy of the proposal.

He said that a proposal for such a law advanced at a public hearing of the State Board of Pharmacy in Fresno last May was put forward by 30 pharmacists from Northern California, acting on their own initiative. It was not, he asserted, sponsored by the California Pharmaceutical Assn.

The pharmaceutical association, went on Stewart, has endorsed only a section which would outlaw untrue or misleading advertising—which is already outlawed under Section 17500 of the Business and Professions Code.

Meanwhile, a federal grand jury in San Francisco today resumed its investigation of charges that some Northern California pharmacists are engaging in price-fixing in violation of anti-trust laws.

Llye L. Jones, anti-trust division chief here, said three Northern California pharmacists would be called as witnesses. Other witnesses will be heard in a special grand jury session tomorrow, he said.

Jones also announced that on Friday he would be meeting with Helen Nelson, state consumer counsel.

"Any information she may have that throws light on a price-fixing scheme in the drug field will be of interest to us," Jones said.

Distributors Of Milk Ask Price Increase

Marin County milk distributors, at hearting before the Bureau of Milk Stabilization today, asked for price increases which would run as high as four cents per quart for some consumers.

No one was present to protest the proposal at the hearing at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

Seven distributors in the county asked that the state permit a price increase of one cent per quart for home-delivered and one and one-half cents per quart for milk sold through stores.

Added to the home-delivered price, however, would be a minimum delivery charge of three cents. This would hike the price by four cents for a person having a single quart delivered.

The distributors, represented by L. A. Maes, economist, pleaded that increased employees' wages, a sharp rise in container costs, increased taxes and other cost hikes make the price rise necessary.

Home-delivered milk now costs 25 cents per quar in one-quart bottles. This would be raised to 26 cents. Half-gallon bottles, now 50 cents, would go up to 51½ cents, providing a slight saving by use of the larger containers.

Added to this, however, would be the delivery charge, something new for this area. The distributors asked that a minimum delivery charge of three cents per delivery be made. This would cover delivery of up to nine quarts at

BAY AREA'S FUTURE

Jobs, Economy Not Easy To Forecast

(This is the third of five stories digesting the voluminous report of the Army Corps of Engineers on the Bay Area's future, as it affects Marin.)

By RANDALL GOULD

Patterns of Marin County's future employment and economic growth are much less easy to project over the next 60 years than are such matters as an expected fivefold increase of population.

This is made clear by the newly published U.S. Department of Commerce volume "Future Development of the San Francisco Bay Area," through the experts' belief that South Marin in particular will increasingly be a residential suburb of San Francisco—a trend likely to extend.

"As the southern reaches of Marin County and the northern East Bay residential areas become more crowded," says the study, "the Bay Area's expanding population will find the lower portions of Sonoma and Napa Counties increasingly attractive for residential development."

Industries thus seem likely to center on real estate, tourism, and associated enterprises rather than factories, although there is one interesting hint.

San Rafael's recent acquisition of a plant of the Fairchild Semi-Conductor Corp. lends pertinence to the following:

"Many of the new industries which eventually will locate in the Bay Area are not yet even in existence. Completely new products will be developed within the next 50 years. . . . The Bay Area is in strong position to obtain a share of these new products and of new industries."

Marin County shares with such localities as Denver, Colo., the reputation of offering so much to its residents that makers of the newest precision scientific equipment seem increasingly likely to be drawn toward these favored areas as calculated to attract and stabilize the

'INSULTING' TO ROYALTY

Story Causes Heads To Shake In Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — The chrysanthemum throne was shaking with rage today.

Emperor Hirohito and his staid old imperial household agency officials were hopping mad over a story by one of Japan's leading authors.

The story by Shichiro Fukazawa, describes in graphic detail the beheading of the emperor, Crown Prince Akihito, Princess Michiko and other members of the imperial family during a fictitious "people's revolution."

"It's unbecoming," snapped household agency director Takeshi Usami.

"It's not only unbecoming, it's downright disgusting. It's unpardonable."

The story, entitled "A Story of a Fashionable Dream," appeared in Chuo Koron, one of Japan's leading magazines.

Briefly, it told of the author's dream of a "people's revolution" during which he joined mobs storming the imperial palace. It described in gory detail how the mobs chopped off the heads of the imperial family members with huge samurai swords because they lived in luxury while the people lived in destitution.

"I don't know what the story was written for," said Usami, "but it is derogatory. I have asked the justice ministry to study the possibility of indicting the author. We still do not know which law we can apply in the case. But I have no doubt that we can punish him."

Since the imperial household agency cannot enter into a court action, it was anticipated the emperor could ask Premier Hayato Ikeda to file a libel suit on his behalf.

The editor of the magazine in which the story appeared, Kiyoshi Takemori, said he saw nothing wrong with the story. He thought it was pretty good.

"It was just an artistic work and not aimed at the imperial family," Takemori said.

Careful reading of the story, he explained, would reveal it to be merely an attempt by the author "to emphasize his fear and denial of all revolutions in a unique way."

The author had nothing to say. He went into hiding for fear of possible physical attack by ultra-nationalists who also were angered.

Young GOP Elects 3 To Board

Election of three more members of the executive board of the Young Republicans of Marin was announced today by Gordon L. Ness, president, after the first meeting of the new officers.

Named to the executive board were Richard C. Callahan of Sausalito, Willis H. Carrier of Mill Valley and Charles Michaels of Kentfield.

Ness also announced permanent committee chairmen for 1961, as follows; Jack Carew of Greenbrae, Young Republican editor; Mrs. R. C. Callahan of Sausalito, social chairman; Mrs. E. W. Thomas of Terra Linda, special events coordinator; Gerald Tice of Santa Venetia, membership chairman; Pete Fishel of San Anselmo, college program, and Charles Michaels, government relations chairman.

The group's next activity will be a Christmas party Dec. 10 at the San Rafael Improvement Club. Refreshments will include Scandinavian glug and a light cocktail supper. Dancing will follow. Mrs. Thomas Moss of Mill Valley is chairman.

Winnie Fetes 86 With Big Brandy Cake

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill celebrated his 86th birthday today with a 100-pound cake soaked in his favorite brandy.

Habitually a late sleeper, he had the lights on early in his bedroom.

There was good reason—for a parade of well-wishers, postmen, messengers and delivery boys began ringing his doorbell as early at 6:30 a.m.

First to pull up before his London home was a uniformed postoffice messenger carrying a heavy load of birthday telegrams, many from the United States.

A member of his household said a greeting from President Eisenhower was among the thousands pouring in from all over the world.

Indications were that this would be a quiet birthday, for Sir Winston is still recuperating from a broken bone in his back suffered in a fall 15 days ago.

Around the huge and alcoholically fragrant cake, the mail, telegrams and presents piled up.

They included greetings from Queen Elizabeth II, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, the heads of foreign states and from the humblest in this and other lands.

Administrator Will Be Honored At Party Tonight

County Administrator D. A. Jensen, who left his job today to become executive officer of the California Motor Vehicle Air Pollution Control Board, will be honored at a no-host cocktail party and dinner on Dec. 7 at the Meadow Club in Fairfax.

Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m., followed by dinner at 8 o'clock. Those who plan to attend must make dinner reservations by calling the Marin County administrator's office by Friday.

Jensen will begin his new job Dec. 1. For the first month he will be working at Berkeley, then plans to move to Los Angeles next year.

New county administrator for Marin is Alan Bruce, who has been Jensen's assistant.

Safety Officer Ranks Decrease

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The annual Governor's Traffic Safety Conference, greatly reduced in size, met today in the state capitol.

Past conferences have had up to 2,000 delegates and have lasted for two or three days.

This year 200 local safety officials planned to attend a one-day session. State officials were briefing the local officers on ways to cut traffic accidents, which took 3,588 lives in California last year.

Lawyer Says Soble Never Tried Escape

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York psychiatrist arrested as a 20-year Soviet spy never tried to escape his shadowers during a long, "hot surveillance" by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, says his attorney.

On the contrary, the doctor even stopped his car so that trailing agents could catch up with him, the lawyer said.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Robert Soble, 60, was held in $75,000 bail for a federal court hearing Dec. 20. Soble, whose legal name is Soblen, is a brother of confessed Soviet spy Jack Soble, 57, serving a seven-year prison term for espionage.

SEPARATE RINGS

The government charged that the brothers were involved in separate espionage rings that sought national defense secrets for transmission to the Soviet Union. Both brothers were naturalized in 1947.

Dr. Soble, if convicted, could receive the death penalty. The doctor suffers from a serious illness, his attorney said.

Soble was arrested at noon yesterday at Rockland State Hospital, in suburban Orangeburg, where he has served as supervising psychiatrist.

The indictment by a federal grand jury also named 18 coconspirators, none of whom are defendants. They include several Soviet officials and four Americans.

THREE YEARS

It took the government three years to collect evidence for an indictment against Dr. Soble.

In arguing for low bail, his attorney, Richard C. Green, told the court that Soble would not flee.

"He has been under wide-open hot surveillance by federal agents and never tried to run away, to a point where he even stopped his car on highways if he lost the agents trailing him, so they could catch up to him."

Apparently, Soble made friends among FBI agents who arrested him. He asked Judge William B. Herlands if he could say goodby to "the FBI gentlemen."

Herlands smiled and gave his permission.

The government said the Soble brothers were born in Lithuania, and during the 1930s roamed Europe as Communist agents for the Soviet secret police.

MET BERIA

The indictment charged that in 1940 Jack Soble met the late Lavrenti P. Beria, head of the Soviet secret police under Stalin. In exchange for permitting nearly all the families of both brothers to go to the U.S., the brothers agreed to act as spies here.

Eventually, said the government, the entire family—about 15 persons—left Lithuania.

The indictment said that Dr. Soble received monthly reports during World War—from local headquarters in Rockefeller Plaza of the super-secret Office of Strategic Services.

Dr. Soble, the government said, also was said to have dealt in photographs of Sandia Base, a New Mexico military installation.

Rebels Still Sniping At U.N. Column

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—Rebel Baluba tribesmen armed with ancient rifles sniped at a column of U.N. Nigerian soldiers today in Katanga Province.

The Nigerians fought their way out of an ambush two days ago, killing at least 30 tribesmen and wounding many.

The tribesmen, their faith shattered in the protective powers of witch doctors' voodoo, stayed well hidden today in dense thickets along the Nigerians' march route.

The U.N. column of slow-moving trucks and heavy vehicles is traveling from Kamina in western Katanga to the tin mining town of Manono, 10 days ago the site of savage tribal killings.

The rebels have been slowing the column by digging trenches across the road.

The Nigerians will reinforce the U.N. garrison already in Manono.

Four Nigerians wounded in the ambush Monday near the tiny township of Kabondo-Dianda have been evacuated to a hospital in Kamina. None was seriously injured in the fight, about 300 miles north of Elisabethville.

The Nigerians, who had been in the Congo just three days, were attacked with spears, arrows and ancient rifles.

Storm Tapers Off

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stormy weather that lashed the Midwest abated today but the season's coldest spell gripped wide areas from the Rockies into the Northeast and southward to the Central Gulf.

Strong winds and snow flurries were reported from the Great Lakes eastward. Snow of one inch or more fell in some areas of Pennsylvania and New York.

May Drop Eichmann

BONN, Germany (UPI)—German attorney Robert Servatius said today he may drop the defense of Adolf Eichmann if he determines that the memoirs printed in a U.S. magazine are genuinely those of the ex-Nazi.

Servatius recently returned to West Germany from Israel where he conferred with Eichmann, who is being held for trial in connection with the mass execution of six million Jews by the Nazis in World War II. In the memoirs, currently appearing in Life magazine, Eichmann said he had no regret for what he did.

Steel Pay Hikes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pay increases ranging from seven to 13 cents an hour go into effect tomorrow for basic steelworkers. But there is no indication steel price increases will follow—at least for the present.

Some 50,000 members of the United Steelworkers Union will be entitled to wage raises. But the union estimates about 40,000 of these are currently unemployed and thousands more are working less than 40 hours a week.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A freak blizzard, hurried by gale-force winds that piled snow up to three and one-half feet, virtually halted traffic in and around Buffalo today.

Snowplows sent out last night to cope with the season's first snowstorm were hampered by stalled automobiles, trucks and buses.

Inventories Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manufacturers' inventories declined another 400 million dollars during October, and sales and new orders also dropped off, the Commerce Department said.

The report showed that during October manufacturers increased their inventories of goods ready for sale to buyers, but cut back on stocks of raw materials and partly finished goods. Manufacturers' sales dropped 700 million dollars during October and new orders declined 1.1 billion from the previous month's figures as adjusted to take seasonal factors into account.

Accused By Army

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —The U.S. Army today lodged charges of negligent homicide against two officers and one enlisted man for the deaths of 16 soldiers in an artillery training accident.

An army spokesman said investigation into the incident at Grafenwoehr Sept. 2 resulted in charges against First Lt. George I. O'Grady Jr. of Arlington, Va., Second Lt. Mark F. Kempf of San Antonio, Tex., and Pfc. Raymond R. Riggs of New Iberia, La. They are accused of firing an artillery shell which overshot a firing range and landed in a menauver area, killing the 16 men.

Kennedy Still Holds Margin Over Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Republicans were challenging the Nov. 8 election results in some areas, President-elect John F. Kennedy held a margin of 180,180 votes today over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Only 181 precincts, scattered among six states, remained unreported in those figures, based on official returns from 31 states and unofficial tabulations in the other 19.

TOTALS NOW

The totals at this point gave Kennedy 34,120,496 votes and Nixon 33,940,316. The total for the two already surpassed 68 million votes, to set a new record.

Republicans were charging that in some precincts in Texas and Illinois, more votes were tabulated than the number of registered voters.

A formal contest notice filed in Texas charged among other things that "in many boxes the returns show more votes counted for president and vice president than there were voters listed on the actual voter list."

JURY PROBE

In Chicago, both a grand jury investigation of alleged election fraud and a recount of the vote in some precincts were under way. The recount officially concerns only a Cook County race, but an unofficial check of presidential ballots in the first precinct completed gave Nixon 10 more votes than he had received in the official canvass.

Another Chicago precinct counted 84 votes cast although only 28 registered voters lived in the precinct.

Meade Alcorn, general counsel for the Republican National Committee, said only three votes in the disputed precinct were counted for Nixon, who ran far behind Kennedy in the Chicago area but lost Illinois' 27 electoral votes by a margin of only 8,849 in the statewide totals.

Fortner Youth Sent Back To S.F. Clinic

Clifford E. Fortner, 16, who stabbed 12-year-old Lorna Lax to death in Kentfield last year, was back today at Langley Porter Clinic in San Francisco, which he escaped on Nov. 22.

After a hearing before Superior Court Judge N. Charles Brusatori last evening, the youth was ordered back to the clinic to continue treatments he has been getting there since last April.

Judge Brusatori continued the case until next March 3 for another review. He asked that clinic officials have a full written report on progress made by the boy at that time.

Chief Probation Officer Walter Busher took young Fortner from Marin Juvenile Hall to the clinic last night after the hearing.

Those who met with the judge to discuss the future of the young slayer included Busher; Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety; Thomas P Boyd, attorney for Fortner; Dr. Morris Peltz, supervising psychiatrist at the clinic and Miss Merle Updike, supervising social worker at the clinic.

The youth's parents, who now live in Novato, are taking on extra jobs to help pay for the boy's treatment at Langley-Porter.

Clifford and Michael Miller, 16, Mill Valley, walked out of the San Francisco clinic and drove into Mill Valley where they were caught when they ran a stop sign. Probation Officer Busher said Miller had asked for Thanksgiving leave but was turned down. Fortner had never asked for Thanksgiving leave, but had "sounded out" his superiors for Christmas leave.

When Miller decided to break out, Fortner probably just went along on the spur of the moment, said Busher.

School Site Purchase Set In Novato

Trustees of the Novato Unified School District last night passed a resolution of intent to purchase about three acres of land adjacent to the Novato High School site for a future elementary school.

Two appraisers now are checking the area, southwest of the high school grounds, Supt. W. J. J. Smith reported. An additional five acres would be added from the high school site to make room for an elementary school housing 450 youngsters, to be constructed wthin five years, the resolution said.

Estimated growth figures for the district show 3,005 students are expected in kindergarten through eighth grade next year, compared to the present 2,754. High school enrollment is expected to climb from the 823 of today to 926.

The additional students can be taught without double sessions, Smith said, as the Rancho School housing 300 pupils is expected to be completed by fall.

Schools Issue Due On KTIM

"Should county superintendents of schools be appointed or elected?" will be discussed on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow.

At present, both county superintendents and county boards of education are elective. A bill to make the county superintendent an appointive office is to be introduced at the 1961 session of the California Legislature.

Panel members for the KTIM discussion, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent; James W. Kirchanski, director of the 3-R Schools; Robert W. Corlett, San Anselmo Elementary School District trustee, and Mrs. Adele S. Alpers, member of the Marin County Board of Education.

trolman Foley, who had his patrol car parked behind the service station, walked up from the other side, and the boys were trapped. As Foley kept his eyes on the boys, di Grazia searched the car and came up with the bottles of wine and a .410 shotgun under the front seat.

Deputy Sheriff Edward McKamey drove up to help take the boys to the sheriff's office. Later search of the car turned up these items:

A .32-caliber automatic under the hood next to the engine block, a .303 rifle in the trunk, two hunting knives, a jack knife in the pocket of one of the boys, $177 in currency in a paper bag under the back seat, pieces of chain, cigarettes, three bottles of wine, and a hatchet.

The only ammunition found were for the .410 shotgun. Investigators said Donald Temple admitted using the automatic in the holdup but denied it was loaded at any time.

According to Inspector Bridges, Temple may have been involved in a strong-arm robbery in Sacramento last year, and a safe burglary in Iowa. "They were going to tie up the victims, pull down the shades, and then run off to Mexico," said Bridges. But from the outset, they forgot their rope and masks.

The ringleader was to be arraigned today for robbery, illegal liquor possession and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The other four will be turned over to juvenile authorities for robbery, illegal liquor possession, and delinquency.

a time. For more than that number, the charge would be one-third cent per quart.

Those who purchase milk in stores would escape the delivery charge, but the price would go up from 24 cents to 25½ cents for one-quart containers, and from 48 cents to 50½ cents for two-quart containers.

About half of the milk in Marin is sold in stores, Maes testified.

The seven distributors asking the increases are Borden's Dairy Delivery Co., Foremost Golden State Co., Lucas Valley Dairy, Marin-Dell Milk Co., Arden Farms, Spreckels-Russell Dairy Co. and Green Glen Dairy.

Donald A. Weinland, chief of the bureau, who presided at the hearing, said the bureau will study the submission and report to the State Department of Agriculture within 45 days.

Dystrophy Drive Starts Tomorrow Night In Novato

The Novato Volunteer Firemen's Assn. will launch its muscular dystrophy drive tomorrow night.

On Sunday afternoon, a group of 4-H Club members led by Joan Marzell will continue the house-to-house canvass.

Envelopes will be left at unoccupied houses for delivery to either of Novato's fire houses, drive chairman George Gnoss said.

The Novato volunteer firemen have annually sponsored the drive to fight muscular dystrophy, a chronic disease which destroys muscle tissue.

There are 11 cases in Marin County. Twenty-five per cent of the contributions stay in Marin for purchase of drugs, chairlifts and therapy. The remainder goes to the national organization for other uses, including research, said Gnoss.

Novato Delays License Law Discussion

Discussion of a proposed business license ordinance for Novato was postponed last night for city councilmen to consider four changes proposed by the chamber of commerce.

The business license ordinance, as proposed after discussion session of a council-chamber committee, would set a $25 flat yearly license fee for most city businesses, plus $2 for each employee after the first. It would set up other categories and requirements for special businesses and out-of-town operators in the city.

The suggested chamber changes, proposed in a letter to the council last night, were requests only for clarification of words in various sections and a request that the date of which employees be counted be changed.

Councilmen, who got their first formal look at the proposed ordinance at a late hour during last night's council meeting, continue discussion to the Dec. 6 meeting.

Airmen Chase Cows From Base

Airmen turned cowboys yesterday morning at Hamilton Air Force Base.

About 35 cows from the Manuel G. Pimental Ranch adjoining the north boundary of the base wandered through a fence and started eating their way toward the runways.

They were chased back by four or five airmen, on foot.

West Marin Stays Same In Projection

sort of skilled labor which is essential.

But this sort of thing is hard to project ahead to the year 2020.

Directly applicable to Marin County is this from the new volume:

"The natural beauty of the Bay Area and its cultural heritage and entertainment facilities have proven to be prime tourist attractions.

"When these assets are considered in the national context of rising disposable incomes and increased leisure time, the outlook favors an appreciable increase in the important tourist business."

Considering the area as a whole, the study lays stress on the status as major ocean port and an established position as financial, communications and distribution center. Thus future growth is expected as regional supply center and also increasing trade with the Pacific Basin and South America.

Marin's role seems calculated largely to be that of home and recreation spot, the first for San Franciscans working at a multitude of economic tasks and the second for these and also for visitors.

Study of a series of map projections supports this interpretation.

A map showing land use in 1960 has a few red patches to show present industrial areas of this county. There aren't many and they aren't big.

The Sausalito waterfront has a couple of small industrial streaks and Tiburon is marked. San Rafael is the major area, with a little coloration out at Point San Pedro, evidently for the quarry. The Fairchild plant makes a tiny mark on Highway 101 north of San Rafael and there are two or three more on the same road north and south of but not in Novato.

Off in West Marin the Radio Corp. of America transmitting and station areas are marked. (The Marin County Planning Commission points out that this map doesn't show land zoned for industry, but actual use.)

There's not much use in studying the charts of 10-year progress.

Skip all the way ahead to the experts' idea of how things will be in the year 2020 and while there's plenty of industrial "color" on the map areas south, all around San Francisco Bay to the southwest and east, as well as many inland areas, Marin shows relatively little change.

The cautious map-makers have left West Marin precisely the same as before. The whole Sausalito waterfront is now included, San Rafael is bigger, and there are new patches at two points: On San Pablo Bay at the mouth of Gallinas Creek, and at the Highway 101-Black Point intersection, where a considerable area appears east of 101, north of the Black Point road. The industrial patch north of Novato is bigger.

It would appear that caution had been the ruling factor, as nobody can be sure what might develop in such fields as electronics, or perhaps industries based on the broad Pacific — seashore chemical processes, say.

It's obvious that the soothsayers stand pat on their general prediction that Marin County for the next half-century and more will be predominatly a place for living, well but progressively scrunched up a little closer to your neighbor.

(Tomorrow: Land for urban needs.)

Asst. Police Chief Of Ross Hurt In Wreck

Leslie E. Flowers, assistant police chief of Ross, suffered neck and shoulder injuries when his patrol car skidded off the road and slid 30 feet down a ravine bank on Chestnut Avenue near Hillside Avenue in Ross yesterday. Flowers lives at 7 Redwood Drive in Ross.

Flowers said he was driving up Chestnut Avenue and started to turn around when he reached the top of the hill. As she started to turn in the fog and rain, the car skidded on wet leaves on the road. It went sideways down the ravine but remained on all four wheels. When the auto stopped against some small trees, Flowers radioed the county communications center.

Flowers, who had freed himself from the car, was personally pulled up to the road by a cable of the tow-truck.

He was taken by ambulance to the Ross General Hospital where X-rays showed no fractures.

OBITUARIES

Retired Printer Found Dead

James Purcell Brown, a 92-year-old retired printer, was found dead of a gunshot wound in the workshop of his Mill Valley home early today.

Police Chief James McGowan said Brown was believed to have accidentally shot himself while cleaning his grandson's rifle.

Brown's son, Horace Brown, found his father slumped over his workbench when he arrived home about 5 a.m. from working as a printer on a night shift at the San Francisco Examiner.

He told police he noticed a light burning in the small workshop, attached to the house at 36 Portola Lane. Entering, he found his father dying.

Police said the accident appeared to have happened between 8 and 10 p.m. The .22-caliber rifle, checked by police officer William Walsh, had one shell in it. The bullet had entered the right side of Brown's chest.

The rifle had been loaned to Brown by his grandson, Roger Brown, of Oakland, a few days ago.

Brown and his son Horace were the only occupants of the house.

Born in England, the elder Brown had lived in Mill Valley about 20 years. He retired about 10 years ago from his own printing business, J. P. Brown and Sons in San Francisco. A son, Ernest, now runs the business.

Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Services Held For Mrs. Kreil

Private funeral services were held Monday for Mrs. Ethel Agnes Kreil, a resident of Lagunitas for 15 years, who died Nov. 24 in a Martinez hospital. She was 71.

Inurnment was at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Mrs. Kreil had lived with her son, Edward F. Barbano, at Camp Lagunitas since 1945. She had been ill for the past two months and was visiting in Martinez when she was stricken.

Survivors are her son; a daughter, Mrs. Josephine Vale of San Francisco; two brothers, W. E. Wheeler of Stockton and George Orchard of San Francisco, and one grandchild.

A native of Salem, Ore., Mrs. Kreil lived for many years in San Francisco before moving to Marin County.

The family request contributions be made to the American Cancer Society.

Our 90th Anniversary of outstanding service to Californians

A lot of candles, a lot of years, for Crocker-Anglo is California's oldest national bank. Our roots date back to the days of the Gold Rush when the early pioneers came by oxcart and prairie schooner to stake out futures in California – El Dorado of the West. As the westward migration grew, overland stagecoaches replaced carts and wagons and then made way for the first railroad. Today, California is even more El Dorado of the West—rich with golden opportunities for you, your family and your business. And on this, our 90th Anniversary as a national bank, we offer the strength and stability of our time-tested banking services to help Californians continue to grow and prosper.

America's first transcontinental railroad was completed on May 10, 1869, when a spike of California gold was driven home in the pioneer railroad town of Promontory, Utah. Charles Crocker, along with his associates Leland Stanford, C.P. Huntington and Mark Hopkins, founded and built the historic railroad. The following year, on November 30, the institution that is now Crocker-Anglo was chartered as a national bank – the first in California. Today, W. W. Crocker, Charles Crocker's grandson, serves as Chairman of the Board.

Committees Plan Goes To Council

Ten committees which would study the present and help plan the future of Novato were proposed to Novato city councilmen last night.

The committees, long in the planning stage, would have members appointed on Jan. 20, the first anniversary of the city's incorporation.

A council committee studying the plan recommended last night that each committee consist of not more than seven members from "the greater Novato area," not just within the city limits.

Committees would be required to submit reports on their studies by next May 1, with City Administrator J. Julien Baget acting as coordinator.

Volunteers for the committees may place their names in nomination at the city hall, councilmen noted as they referred action on the committee program.

Committees proposed:

1. Central Business District —To submit a report for development of the area, including specific recommendations for off-street parking.

2. Industrial Development—To study ways to encourage business coming to Novato and review available areas to be planned for industrial development.

3. Recreation—To study existing and potential recreational facilities, report on specific recreational activities, indicate alternate means of financing and check possible co operative recreational facilities with other agencies.

4. Parks — Check potential park areas, check governmental reports on parks, report on alternate means of financing or acquisition of park areas.

5. Parkways and Trees — Prepare tree plan and alternate means of financing, study ways of encouraging community participation in tree planting.

6. Freeway Relocation — To use existing Novato Chamber of Commerce city committee.

7. Housing and Redevelopment—To review existing housing and redevelopment codes with view to possible local adoption; study possibility of using federal funds.

8. Local Government — To study potential of city hall facilities; examine administrative, finance and accounting and legal functions.

9. Agriculture — To study ways of cooperation between local government and agriculture.

10. Public Works—To study existing flood control and "street deficiencies reports"; report on needed immediate and long-term capital improvements.

Novato Plans New Survey Of Traffic

A house-to-house traffic survey is expected to begin next week in Novato.

The survey would dovetail with a recent State Division of Highways Survey which stopped cars briefly in the Novato area to find origin and destination.

The goal is an agreement between county planners, city officials and the state highway division on Novato road needs, particularly for the best location for an expanded Highway 101.

State engineers propose widening to an eight-lane freeway on the present route through the city; many Novato residents prefer an out-of-city route.

In a letter to the city read at last night's city council meeting, the highways division agreed to pay half, up to $500, for the survey. The city would pay the other half. The funds will pay for 10 census takers who will make a 25 per cent survey of homes to attempt to pinpoint highway use.

In other business, the Novato council:

1. Reversed the city planning commission to allow Mrs. Marie Hewitson to remodel a former garage-apartment at 1032 Sixth Street to a full apartment use. Neighbor George Speak wrote that he did not object.

2. Continued to Dec. 13 an appeal from a planning commission turndown of construction of a doughnut shop at Second Street and Industrial Way. Petitioner is Jack Caristi.

3. Continued discussion of an ordinance delineating "normal" subdivision requirements to Jan. 3.

4. Agreed to consider a taxicab franchise ordinance, at the suggestion of Louis Worden of the Novato Yellow Cab Co.

5. Approved a resolution to reconsider the county agreement with Paul I. Trousdale interests on the construction of San Jose Boulevard, now within the city limits.

7. Agreed not to meet on Dec. 20 or 27.

Novato Council Rejects Plea For Yule Decorations

Novato city councilmen last night reluctantly turned down a request from the city's chamber of commerce for $1,175 for city Christmas decorations.

The chamber asked that $350 be allotted for permanent plywood "tree-candle" cutouts for use on Grant Avenue utility poles. Brackets would cost another $625; labor for putting them up, $200.

But councilmen reminded the chamber of the tight budget for the city's first year, noted that an outright donation for decorations might be illegal, and wondered why no attempt had been made to solicit merchant donations.

Councilman Everett Pozzi called the cost of the plywood decorations "vastly inflated." They would be cut from four-by-eight-foot plywood pieces, chamber manager Robert Merritt told councilmen.

"Hit the merchants" for $700 or $800, suggested Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva, then come back to the council.

Councilmen voted 4-1 to turn down the request. Dissenter was Mayor Wayne Womack.

Marinship Plan Hearing Slated

The first public hearing on the Marinship report by planning consultant Frederick H. Allen will be held at 8 p.m. today before the Sausalito Planning Commission at the city hall.

The plan was submitted after Allen's one-month study of the area in which he made proposals regarding types of industry, waterfront uses, zoning and street patterns for Marinship.

Reed Trustees Plan Classrooms Meeting

Reed Union School District trustees will hold a special meeting tonight for adoption of a formal resolution applying for a state loan for the Del Mar Estates eight-classroom construction project, according to Supt. Paul R. Stouffer.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. in the district office, 605 Tiburon Boulevard. Nothing else is on the agenda, Stouffer said.

Brown Hints He'll Seek Re-Election

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund Brown came close today to saying he'll be a candidate for re-election in 1962.

The Democratic governor volunteered the statement at a news conference on his return from a 15-day trip to South America.

"This is the toughest job I ever had," he said. "I like it. I enjoy it."

Falling just short of declaring his candidacy for another four-year term, the governor said he won't announce his plans for the 1962 campaign until after the 1961 session of the legislature.

He offered the statement, he said, to counter any impression of indecision on his part.

Brown, who had predicted President-elect John F. Kennedy would carry California by one million votes, reserved comment on why the state went to Vice President Richard M. Nixon by 35,000.

On other subjects, the governor:

Reiterated he intends to ask the legislature to exempt prescription drugs from the state sales tax even though state revenues are falling. But he said no new taxes will be proposed by the administration.

Declared he would seek some modification in the present law which makes relatives responsible for needy aged.

Parents' Math Course Slated

A course designed to save parents from mathematical idiocy in the eyes of their children will start at Marin County Day School at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Instructor will be Munzer Afifi of the school's faculty.

"During my time at the school," he said, "I discovered that parents might need some attention. I hope these classes will be accepted as an invitation to intellectual fun. There will be no homework, no roll call, no demand upon previous mathematical knowledge."

Elementary and junior high school teachers may attend without fee, said Costa J. Leodas, director of the school.

Burglar Gets $200 From Coin Changer

A burglar activitated a coin changer machine at the Village Launderette, 1135 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, and walked off with $200 in coins during the night, Police Chief Howard Clark reported.

Owner Morton A. Escher of 17 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, discovered the theft a little after 7 a.m. The automatic laundry is open 24 hours a day. Escher now plans to connect a burglar alarm to the coin changer, Clark said.

Mill Valley Postmaster McSweeney To Retire

John E. McSweeney, Mill Valley postmaster for 14 years, is working on his 37th and last Christmas season with the post office. He announced today he plans to retire Feb. 18.

"I'm very happy to know this Christmas will be the last one I have to fight the strain of handling heavy mails," he said.

Fifty-five in February, McSweeney said he plans to retire the day after he is eligible, but has not made application to retire as yet. He plans to go to work doing on-the-job training in real estate work for Kramer Associates of Mill Valley.

McSweeney said two men from the post office are attempting to get civic and political backing to be considered as his replacement. They are George Parker, assistant postmaster, and Edward D. Clark.

Parker, who lives at 124 Lovell Avenue, has been with the Mill Valley Post Office 27 years. Clark, a senior clerk who lives at 82 Del Casa Drive, Mill Valley, has been in post office work 23 years. He began at Dubois, Pa., then resigned and later was reinstated in Mill Valley in 1949.

McSweeney, a resident of Mill Valley since 1938, lives at 240 Buena Vista Avenue.

He began his postal career in 1924 in his native Benecia, and transferred to the Berkeley Post Office in 1931. He joined the Post Office Inspection Service in San Francisco in 1935. In 1943 he became an officer in the Navy and was assigned to establish fleet post offices in the Pacific area. "The day we landed in Japan, we were setting up post offices at Yokohama and Yokusaka," he said.

He retired as lieutenant commander in 1946 and received appointment as postmaster of Mill Valley while still in uniform.

McSweeney and his wife, Viola, have a son, Jack, who works for United Airlines in San Francisco, where he also lives.

Notary Commission

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a notary public commission to Selwyn H. Graham Jr., 21 Convent Court, San Rafael.

Novato Valley 4-H Sets Potluck Dinner

The Christmas potluck dinner and regular meeting of the Novato Valley 4-H Club will be held on Saturday at Marion School.

Dinner will start at 6 o'clock and the main course will be turkey. Entertainment will be a "high society" fashion show presented by the members.

Discussion Set On Park Site For Glenwood

Selection of a park site for Glenwood will be discussed by the San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission at its meeting 8 o'clock tonight in the city hall.

Commissioners are studying two six-acre parcels in the subdivision.

They originally recommended a park site on Robinhood Drive, but city councilmen said it included too much expensive street frontage. The estimated cost for the land and street improvement was $75,000.

Now being considered is a site with only two frontage lots on Knight Drive. Most of this park would be located off the street, behind the houses. Its price tag is estimated at $42,500.

Commissioners will also consider an application by the National Baseball Congress to hold the 26th state semi-pro tournament at Albert Field for the second year in a row. The tournament would start July 21, 1961.

Also before the commission is the resignation of Mrs. Faye L. Williams, supervisor of special activities, who is leaving San Rafael on Dec. 15 and moving to El Cerrito. Mrs. Williams had been with the department for eight months.

Memorial Dedicated To Pacific War Dead

A stone figure of Columbia, in front of a granite wall bearing the names of 412 members of United States armed forces who died in Pacific Coastal waters during World War II, was dedicated yesterday at the Presidio of San Francisco.

The monument was erected by the American Battle Monument Commission on a high ridge with a view of the Pacific Ocean. Sculptor of the statue was Jean de Marco of New York.

Civilian and military dignitaries were on hand for the dedication, including retired Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who commanded U. S. Navy forces in the Pacific during the war, and retired Gen. John L. DeWitt, who headed the Western Defense Command and the Fourth Army.

Also among the invited guests were five Gold Star Mothers from Marin: Mrs. Victor W. Jones of San Rafael, Mrs. John Jordan of San Anselmo, Mrs. Henry R. Sanborn of Fairfax, and Mrs. George T. Carpenter and Mrs. Louis Scroll of Novato.

Italian Painter Dies

ROVERETO, Italy (AP)—Fortunato Depero, 68, Italian painter who was a leader of the futurist school a half century ago, died yesterday of a heart attack. His futurist paintings, exhibited in New York and in many European cities between 1910 and 1930, are in many private collections.

MUSIC WHILE HE WALKS

Alexis (Ollie) Ross of Vallejo, walking from his hometown to the San Francisco City Hall, via Marin, to pay off an election bet, tootled a harmonica as he trudged down San Rafael's Lincoln Avenue yesterday afternoon. "The doctor told me the harmonica would keep my mind off my feet," he said, "but it hasn't." Ross, complaining of sore feet but determined to stick it out to the end of the trail, spent the night in a San Rafael hotel and started walking again in the rain this morning. He left Vallejo at 10 a.m. Monday. (Independent-Journal photo)

Leftist Students Still Battling In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Leftist students fought a gun-battle with troops today in defiance of President Romulo Betancourt.

The stubborn challenge to the authority of the moderate Socialist president made the situation increasingly critical for his government.

Firing from high school buildings on Avenue Roosevelt has continued sporadically since Monday night. It is part of widespread rioting in the capital that has killed six persons and injured at least 105 in an attempt to touch off a revolution and establish a Castro-style government.

Tough military crackdowns, supported by a suspension of civil guarantees, have snuffed out most of the rioting which began last Friday. However, for a time last night it spread from the slum districts of western Caracas to the fashionable eastern end.

The main battle was centered at Miguel Caro High School in western Caracas. The school is adjacent to Caracas University, which officials said appeared to be the demonstrators' chief stronghold.

Police have not attempted to enter the university grounds, where Social Christian Party students backing Betancourt fought their way into classrooms to break a Communist student strike.

One leftist group attempted to storm the police station nearby but were driven back by tear gas and armored cars of the presidential guard.

Another gang of youths tried to burn a bus in the southern suburb of Chaguaramos, despite orders to the army to shoot such firebrands on sight. The bus was saved by firemen.

Troops took up positions in Puente Trinidad Street, where several newspapers are published. The papers have advocated a tough line in suppressing Communist activities. Betancourt has charged the Communists are behind the rioters.

National Guardsmen earlier occupied the press room of the Communist Tribuna Popular after the paper issued a call for revolution.

Freighter Grounded In Great Lakes

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) —A Liberian freighter lay grounded and leaking on a Lake Michigan island today, battered by gale winds and waves which hampered Coast Guard rescue efforts.

The Francisco Morazan ran aground off the shore of South Manitou Island during a gale Tuesday night. At that time the captain, Eduardo Trizizas, told the Coast Guard there were 15 men and a woman aboard. Later he told a reporter on ship-to-shore telephone there were only 14 persons aboard.

Trizizas first said "there is leakage in the double bottom," but later in the morning reported his condition worsening with water in all holds, three and a half feet deep in some places.

Visibility improved as the day wore on, but the wind and sea remained high.

The Coast Guard flew a plane over the scene and sent two helicopters to the island to stand by.

Committee Vetoes 12-Month School

The Mill Valley School District's nine-member finance study committee has turned thumbs down on the idea of a 12-month school.

Operating the district's schools on a four-quarter system would not be a satisfactory solution to the problem of classroom space, the committee held in a report submitted to district trustees this week.

The committee endorsed the idea of a summer session—but not as a part of the regular school year.

The board will review the report at a meeting Dec. 12 at Park School.

In the 22-page report, covering a six-month study, the committee found disadvantages outweigh advantages of the 12-month school plan.

It noted that Aliquippa, Pa., tried the plan for 10 years and abandoned it. The report said the committee had learned of no other school district that uses the plan in the United States.

Sole advantage to the plan, the report said, is that the disbursement of students would be favorable in that class sizes would be reduced.

Disadvantages were listed as:

1. The plan does not solve the problem of insufficient classrooms.

2. The plan requires 18 classrooms per school and only Edna Maguire has that many.

3. The four-quarter plan, which would theoretically increase classroom capacity up to 33 per cent, would cost more. There would be little saving in operating cost and instruction costs would be increased to pay teachers during the summer.

4. It was suggested that there would be "a major-impact on maintaining a high caliber teaching staff with high morale."

5. Integrating schools with with Tamalpais High School would be difficult because there would be eighth grade graduations four times a year.

6. Vacations would be a problem.

7. Education would be adversely affected by increased shifting of students from school to school and from teacher to teacher.

8. Classroom organiztion four times yearly require more clerical help.

In favoring the summer program, the committee cited very little additional cost to the district. The program would assist students who need additional help in academic subjects, particularly reading, writing and arithmetic an would enrich with such courses as music and physical Education.

Members of the committee, who were highly complimented for their work by board chairman Robert H. Andresen, are Steve Cook, chairman, Mrs. Arne Anderson, Archer Forsyth, Robert Gordon, Edward Kemp, Colin Menzies Jr., Robert Petersen, Glenn Skelton and Willard Tribble.

Civic Center Vault, Alarm System Voted

Marin County's new civic center will have a spanking new vault and burglar alarm system, the board of supervisors decided yesterday.

The price tag will be $8,103, the only bid submitted by Diebold, Inc., of San Francisco, manufacturers of safes, chests, vaults and alarms.

If the 2-year-old safe now in the auditor's office in the courthouse were used, a saving of $841 could have been effected. The majority of the supervisors decided, however, that the present safe could not be used. Supervisor William D. Fusselman voted against purchasing the new equipment.

The supervisors also awarded a contract for folding doors in the new building to Fire Production Products Co. of San Francisco. The single bid submitted for the doors was $15,978.

S.F. Man, 23, Found Guilty Of Burglary

William Wayne Keller, 23, of San Francisco, faces one to 15 years in prison for breaking into the West Marin Pharmacy and dentist Frederick J. Saam's office in Point Reyes Station last July 22.

A jury of eight women and four men heard the case before Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. in Marin Superior Court and found Keller guilty of second degree burglary after an hour and a half of deliberation.

Judge Sims will sentence Keller Friday morning. Keller has two prior felony convictions in San Francisco, for burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

Deputy Dist. Atty. P. Roy Vallarino, prosecutor, introduced evidence to show that Keller broke into the pharmacy but tripped a burglar alarm before he could get any loot. He drove away in a car, and later was caught in Sonoma County.

Group Proposes County Gas Tax

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A State Assembly committee says California counties should initiate a gasoline tax to help pay for new highway construction under their jurisdiction.

The Assembly Interim Committee on Revenue and Taxation expressed the majority opinion at a public hearing here yesterday.

The motion came from Assemblyman Jesse Unruh (D-Los Angeles), who said he hoped the State Legislature would not have to impose an additional gasoline tax.

Cello Program Planned Sunday

A program of sonatas for violincello by Bach, Boccherini and Brahms will be presented by Jean Mattos Maguire Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Outdoor Art Clubhouse, Mill Valley.

A cellist with the San Francisco Symphony and the Marin Arts Quartet, Mrs. Maguire is prinicipal 'cellist with the Marin Symphony Guild Orchestra.

She will be assisted at the piano by Robaline Meacham of Mill Valley. The concert will benefit the Mount Carmel Church building fund. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Board Rejects Probation Chief Raise

Any raise in salary for Walter Busher, Marin County probation officer, will have to wait until next year's budget discussions, the county board of supervisors decided yesterday.

Appealing to the board for a raise for Busher was Roy A. Ibach, chairman of the Marin County Probation Committee.

"His pay is not commensurate with the responsibilities of the job," Ibach told the board, adding that Marin paid its probation officer far less than any of seven neighboring Bay Area counties.

Busher's salary is $770 a month. Ibach said his committee recommended a raise to $846, still less than the $998 paid in Alameda County and $950 in Contra Costa County.

"Our 'competition' is with the State of California and the Bay Area counties," Ibach said, expressing fear that unless Busher's salary were raised he would be hired away from Marin. Busher is "looked up to all over the state," he said.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman suggested a study of counties of size corresponding to Marin, such as Sonoma. "If you are going to compare salaries, you should also compare the actual operation of the job," Fusselman said. "The same title does not always carry the same work load."

Ibach was asked to bring in such a comparative report for reference when the raise comes up during the budget sessions.

The board also told Ibach that any reorganization of the probation department would be impossible until after the first of the year.

Ibach had requested the board to raise a deputy probation officer to a supervisory position.

Any reorganization would have to wait until a scheduled conference with the sheriff's department to determine possible overlapping of work by the two departments, the board ruled.

OPEN DOOR POLICY? NOT AT THIS HOUSE

ONTARIO, San Bernardino County (UPI)—Mrs. Bernard Pennino opened the door to her home and was astounded to see the man standing outside turn pale, spin around and dash out the yard by vaulting a three-foot fence.

It took the housewife several minutes before she realized what caused the man's apparent terror, she explained to police yesterday.

When the doorbell rang, said Mrs. Pennino, she tripped over the toy gun of her son, Jimmie, 15, and carried it with her to the door.

She discovered she had the gun in her hand while the man, apparently a salesman, must have been reading a sign her son had tacked up on the front door. The sign read:

"We shoot every third salesman and the second one just left."

Mill Valley Trustees Won't Oppose Bar

Construction of a restaurant and bar adjacent to Strawberry Point school will not be further opposed by the Mill Valley School Board.

The board had objected to plans for development of Greenwood Lagoon because of the bar's proximity to the school. After hearing that the board's letter of protest had failed to impress the Marin County Planning Commission, trustees voted 3-2 Monday night, with Trustees Kenneth N. Nelson and George M. Wood dissenting, to abandon protest.

The board voted unanimously to notify the board of supervisors that it does not favor the extension of Harbor Cove Way along the school's southern boundary.

Bond issues were again suggested to trustees as the answer to how to house expanding enrollment in schools.

Mrs. James Behr, president of the Edna Maguire School Parent-Teacher Assn., by letter, said "another bond election will have to be held."

Another letter was read asking that a new bond issue be sought in April. The letter was signed by 28 people.

The board put the matter over for discussion and debate until Dec. 12 at Park School and urged all interested citizens to be present and continue to send in suggestions.

Sen. McCarthy Spent $5,039 On Election

State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael spent $5,039 on his successful re-election campaign, according to figures filed with the secretary of state and announced in Sacramento.

The Marin County Republican defeated his Democratic opponent, Charles M. Geller, by approximately 30,000 votes.

NOW ENJOY 3-MINUTE OATS

The best of OATS, from the land of OATS
Yes, oats grow to their plump, wholesome, flavorful best in the fertile fields of the midwest. In this land of oats, sun, showers, and the rich, black soil gently nourish the grain right up to its final golden harvest.
To make 3-Minute Oats, the choicest grain from each crop is then carefully graded, cleaned, and Fireless Cooked — At The Mill — For 12 Hours. Like baking a potato, this exclusive, costly, slow-cure process seals in all the precious vitamins and minerals — brings out all the rich, nut-like flavor of the whole grain.
LESS FLOUR — BETTER FLAVOR! Another 3-Minute processing "exclusive" is the elimination of excess flour. When added to water, flour makes paste, you know. So — floury oats cook to an objectionable pasty, gummy flavor and texture. In contrast, flour-free 3-Minute Oats cook up fast, flaky and delicious every time. Help yourself to health and goodness — enjoy 3-Minute Oats — the very best of Oats — from the land of Oats!

New, Tenderized Beef Gets Try At Dinner In Marin County

A method of tenderizing beef as revolutionary in the food industry as nuclear fission was to the world of physical science has been developed by Swift and Co., nationally known meat packing firm, after 20 years of research by biological chemists, nutritionists, veterinarians and other food specialists.

Henceforth, brides with no knowledge of cooking beyond an ability to light the gas and open the oven door may oven-roast or barbecue everything from a standing rump, sirloin tip and boneless chuck on down to rolled brisket, and fry or broil round steaks or flanks with perfect assurance that the outcome will be no less succulent than the highest quality rib roasts, T-bones, tenderloins and filets in a skillet. Stew meat may be impaled on skewers and turn out as mouth-melting as the finest brochettes.

The beef, of course, will have to be Swift's, and more particularly, Swift's Proten, pre-tenderized through an exclusive patented process developed by the introduction of natural vegetable proteins called enzymes into the circulatory system of steers about a half hour before slaughter — utilizing nature's most efficient pumping plant for uniformity.

Home economists and newspapermen were treated to an example of what can happen to a dry-cooked cross ribs roast from beef subjected to the Proten process at a dinner held at Bob's of Marin restaurant in Corte Madera last Monday night put on by Swift and Co. and Jim Kilpatrick of Bon Air Market, the only present retail outlet for the new Swift product in Marin.

The beef might well have been sliced from prime rib and was tender enough to be separated with a fork. Its distinctive qualities were made more dramatic by serving with it for contrast the same quality of meat unprocessed.

Impact of the new process on the price of meat and on the public's general buying habits is likely to be a gradual thing, since Swift's patents on the enzymes and method of application will no doubt see slow and strictly controlled licensing to other suppliers — perhaps supervised by government inspectors.

The enzymes are described as harmless, natural food elements, the same as those consumed by us daily in other foods we eat; they do not affect the flavor of the meat in any way, and remain dormant until a temperature of 120 degrees has been reached in the cooking. Beef so processed need not be aged before use but its keeping qualities are not impaired.

So far, only good quality steer beef is subjected to treatment by the packing firm. Future plans call for probable use with other meats, turkey and possibly chicken.

Stanford Report On Tam Needs Due Next Month

A report on needs of Tamalpais Union High School District by the Stanford School Planning Laboratory may be made to the board of trustees at a December meeting, Supt. Chester G. Carlisle said today.

The survey was authorized by the trustees as a followup to a similar one in 1956 to determine school capacity, projected growth and logical location of future school sites.

Carlisle said he had received a preliminary report from Stanford and the work was completed except for its refinement and reproduction. In general, he said, the conclusions and recommendations will not differ materially from those in the 1956 report. He has asked the Stanford personnel to report to the trustees at the regular Dec. 19 meeting or at a special meeting.

Mumps Leading Disease List

Mumps, after subsiding for one week, swelled again in Marin County last week.

Eighteen new cases were reported to the Marin County Health Department, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, said today. Eight of them were in San Rafael, six in San Anselmo, two in Mill Valley and one each in Kentfield and Novato.

Other communicable diseases reported included four cases of streptococcic infections, a case of measles and a case of tuberculosis.

Vandals Break Windows At Homes

Vandals knocked out 15 windows and two plate glass patio doors in new homes under construction at Marinwood Estates, the job foreman has complained to sheriff's deputies.

Roy A. Hill, foreman for H. Fred Anderson Construction Co., estimated damage at $350. He said he had chased juveniles from the work site the past two or three weekends, and the youngsters may have stoned the windows for revenge.

Hill said some of the interior doors of new homes had been scratched with a sharp instrument.

San Anselmo Bank Officer Will Retire

Ralph R. Emery of San Anselmo, vice president and cashier of Wells Fargo Bank American Trust Co., will retire from the bank tomorrow.

Joining the bank 40 years ago, he has been an officer for 38 years.

He was named assistant cashier at Santa Rosa in 1922 and, moving to the San Francisco head office in 1924, advanced to assistant vice president in 1934, vice president in 1949, and vice president and cashier in 1950.

His banking career started in 1917 when he became associated with a bank in his native city of Orange, Mass., immediately following high school.

He has held such posts as president of Group Six of the California Bankers Assn., and chairman or member of numerous association committees on bank operations.

He and his wife, Alice, have resided at 126 Crescent Road, San Anselmo, for many years.

Six New Directors Elected To Chamber

Six new directors were elected to the board of the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Re-elected were Lawrence Biancalana, Pacific Gas and Electric Co.; Richard Cuthbert of Cuthbert's Blue Print; Paul R. Leahy, California Pacific Title Co., and Edward P. Morphy, Tamarin Realty Associates. Elected for the first time were Irving Chapman of Chapman's Shoes and Francis Fogarty, J. C. Penney Co.

The new directors will serve two-year terms beginning Jan. 1. They will be installed at the annual chamber membership meeting late in January.

Mailed ballots were received from 217 of the 350 chamber members, reported chamber manager Richard L. Shirley.

The 15-man board of directors will meet at 10 a.m. Friday in the chamber office to appoint three directors at large from the membership for one-year terms. Chamber president Burton R. Kirchner will appoint a nominating committee for new officers.

Nominations for a president, two vice presidents, a treasurer and manager will be submitted to the board at a noon meeting in Rickey's Rancho Rafael on Dec. 13. The officers are elected for one year terms beginning Jan. 1.

Firm Protests Action Of Sign

Coldwell, Banker and Co., real estate firm at 1242 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, this week appealed a use permit which reduced a proposed sign in front of its office from 20-by-4 feet to 16-by-3 feet.

San Rafael planning commissioners reduced the size of the sign in granting a use permit last week.

The protest will be heard by the San Rafael City Council on Monday night.

Three Hurt In Crashes Near HAFB

Three persons were injured in two rear-end crashes 15 minutes apart during the heavy traffic period near Hamilton Air Force Base main gate on Highway 101 Monday afternoon.

Un Obee, 23, of Vallejo was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for bruises on head and left knee, suffered when a car northbound driven by Russel Obee rammed a vehicle driven by John R. Drafton of Petaluma after being struck from behind by a sedan driven by Theodore L. DeCroft of Birmingham, Mich., at 5:15 p.m., just south of the Hamilton gate.

Fifteen minutes later and a few yards from the scene of the first mishap, Donald Davis, 18, of Santa Rosa also northbound, drove into a halted car driven by Gale Ann Foster, 17-year-old Novato High School student of 2030 Hatch Road, Novato.

Miss Foster's car was jammed into a truck just ahead. Both Miss Foster and a passenger, Susan Wilcox, 16, of 451 Leisure Lane, Novato, reported cuts and bruises but said they would see their own doctor.

Sausalito Still Needs Librarian

Sausalito City Manager Charles A. Brown announced today that applications are still being taken for the position of city librarian, a post left vacant with the retirement of Mabel Wosser Nov. 1.

Applicants should have college training in librarianship or be graduates from accredited library schools. Salary is between $4,000 and $5,000 per year.

Brown said six applications have been received so far. Deadline for filing is Dec. 9.

Arkansas was admitted to the union in June, 1836.

Apartment Project Tossed To Planners

Visions of a 20-million-dollar community apartment project for the end of Strawberry Point caused the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday to refer back to the planning commission a Samuel R. Neider tidelands development it recently rejected.

Despite angry remonstrances from Strawberry residents, the board had already confirmed the planners' approval of two other Neider projects, allowing apartment development of 13 acres near Highway 101 and reducing lot sizes from 10,000 square feet to 7,500 on a man-made island east of Strawberry Point.

Not only did attorney Bryan R. McCarthy stage an unusually dramatic personal performance on behalf of the three Neider developments for which he has already staged several battles, but this time he brought in help.

The initial group on filled tideland east of the point should bring Marin County $250,000 in taxes annually, Flood estimated, with the whole peninsula under similar development returning at least 1.5 million dollars in "the most spectacular development in the world."

Against this and the other Neider proposals of the day was launched a tumult of objection ranging from the temperate presentations of Stephen Kauffman and Ralph Cole for the Strawberry Property Owners Assn., backed by protest petition with 274 signatures, to choleric flings from the audience of "carving the county up" and "building chicken coops"—which McCarthy disdained to answer.

Residents complained that they had bought under representation that single-family development was contemplated with minimum 10,000 square foot lots. Existing heavy traffic and school hazards on Strawberry Drive were cited but McCarthy countered that a new road would become the main artery.

Chairman Walter R. Castro, who finally moved that the Harbor Point project be referred back to the planners, said it was necessary that this "new information" be considered as put before the board by architect Lloyd Flood and his partner Ralph T. Walters, both of 419 Belvedere Avenue, Belvedere.

Flood said the two had "sought the most beautiful property in the San Francisco Bay area" and that Neider had at Strawberry Point the most fortunate possible locale for "tower apartments in a park-like setting."

"We want to preserve all the natural beauty," he said in showing colored drawings which he said have already brought New York guarantee of $2,250,000 for the first tower building, to be followed by four more plus 15 "patio town houses" along with yacht basin.

Flood said these would be "the most beautiful apartments in Marin County" with "extra low density" only one-third that of planning standard, involving little community expense but bringing high taxes.

SUPERVISORS ROUNDUP

Propriety Of Planner's Appearance Questioned

A question of the propriety of appearance of a county planning commission member before the Marin County Board of Supervisors to speak on a matter already heard by the planners was raised by a supervisor yesterday.

The planner was Felix M. Warburg, lone dissenter against approval by the commission Nov. 21 of a tentative map of William Kent Estate Co.'s 27-acre Seadrift Lagoon No. 2 at Stinson Beach.

Warburg had argued for leaving a number of lots vacant. He appeared before the supervisors yesterday to say that in his view the subdivider should consider the problem of open space.

"I question the propriety of your speaking here," said Supervisor William D. Fusselman. "You are a member of the planning commission and had a chance to express yourself there.

"I've been many times on the losing end of a vote myself."

Denys W. Behenna, a Stinson Beach resident, said the subdivision would mean "355 houses in a series of straight lines, 12 feet apart . . . a type of tract development not compatible with this area."

Attorney Bryan R. McCarthy took strong exception, saying that "the Kents have put in half a million to a million dollars—are they going to build junk?" Anyway, he said, an original map was approved in 1958 and "all we're trying to do is keep to the original plan."

Planning Director Mary Summers finally pointed out that the supervisors were merely considering four exceptions prescribed by the planners. These, relating to Dipsea Road, omission of map contours and sizes of two lots, hadn't been previously mentioned.

In haste and relief the supervisors voted approval.

The supervisors also:

1. Appointed: In public works department—Robert Lee Frederickson as maintenance man II at $401, Robert S. Norwood and Leslie S. Wong as junior civil engineers at $483; in data processing—Sam West as tabulating operator II at $483.

2. Approved paying $1,039.32 for overtime at the county hospital and farm since July after learning alternative procedure would cost $1,200 monthly for four extra employees.

3. Let Chairman Walter R. Castro volunteer as a committee of one to "stop the blatting of a bakery truck" in Santa Venetia.

4. Declined, as involving new policy, proposal by North Marin Water District manager Jerome Gilbert that Peach Street, Novato area, pipe relocation costing $826 be charged against a local assessment district rather than the water district.

5. Agreed to grapple soon, probably next Tuesday, with demands for final decision on Richardson Bay flood control and possible refunds to people in Tamalpais Valley Flood Control District if that project is abandoned.

6. Set for 2 p.m. Dec. 20 hearing Greenwood Lagoon master plan, involving 29 acres to be used for two projects near Tiburon Boulevard in Strawberry; and rezoning of last of five sections of Alto property affected by freeway.

7. Approved adjustment for new classrooms for Presbytery of the Redwoods, Adrian Way, Santa Venetia.

8. Bought for Public Works Department a $7,956 backhoe and loader, receiving credit for $3,120 spent on five months rent plus a $1,050 trade-in.

9. Referred to Supervisor Vera Schultz, absent due to illness, a problem of whether the county should object to the army engineers about George Kappas's application for three years' extension of his Richardson Bay dredge-and-fill permit.

Terra Linda High School Dedicated

Terra Linda High School—the $1,750,000 school plant on Nova Albion Way—was dedicated last night in a four-hour ceremony witnessed by 400 parents but not one student.

The school's 440 pupils had been instructed by school officials to stay home during the dedication in the gymnasium.

In use on the 29-acre site are a two story, L-shaped academic building housing classrooms, library and administrative offices; and four other buildings, a cafeteria, gymnasium, music building and shop. A $100,000 swimming pool is being constructed and should be ready for use in April.

The first officers of the newly formed Terra Linda Parent-Teacher Assn. were elected during the evening.

They are president Frank Parker of 8 Cushing Avenue, Santa Venetia; first vice president Jack C. West of 724 Butternut Drive, Terra Linda; second vice president, Principal Webster Wilson; secretary, Mrs. Mavis Lundmark of 330 Hyacinth Lane, Terra Linda, and Treasurer, Mrs. Eleanor Gaustad of 642 Blackberry Drive, Marinwood.

Dedication ceremonies were included in the open house comprising the school's second "Back to School Night" in which parents followed their children's schedules through six chopped-down 15-minute periods. They visited classrooms and talked briefly with the school's 24 teachers and administrators.

A rectangular bronze plaque proclaiming "this building dedicated to truth, liberty and toleration" was presented to Principal Wilson by Mount Tamalpais Parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West. The parlor also donated an American flag and California state to the school.

New Catholic Church Plans Told In Novato

Construction will begin in about a year on a new church for the congregation of Our Lady of Loretto Roman Catholic parish in Novato.

Rev. Charles Farrell, pastor of the parish, announced at Sunday masses that the archdiocese of San Francisco has approved construction of a new church on the grounds of Our Lady of Loretto School, a few blocks from the present church.

The size of the church will be dictated by the number of parking spaces possible on the property, Father Farrell said today. One parking space is required by city planning laws for each seat in the church. The style also will depend somewhat on the size, he said.

Architect J. Clarence Felciano, who designed the school and the convent for the teaching nuns in Novato, will design the church. The cost still is unknown, as preliminary plans for the church are just being drawn, Father Farrell said.

Construction on the six-acre school site is expected to begin in a year to 18 months. Plans still are indefinite on what other church facilities will be included.

The new church would replace the present one which can seat only 200 persons. An average of 1,900 persons attend the six masses each Sunday, Father Farrell reported.

The two early masses are held in the church; the others are held in the parish hall, which seats 400 persons.

Father Farrell and an assistant pastor have a parish with 1,100 member families extending from north of Hamilton Air Force Base to the Sonoma County line, and from the bay to Hicks Valley.

Stanford Club Meets Tomorrow

Marin County Stanford Club will meet at the Meadow Club in Fairfax at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow for its annual dinner meeting.

Stanford University alumni living in Marin will have a chance to hear and see what is happening at the various Stanford campuses—at the Farm in Palo Alto; at Tours, France; in Florence, Italy, and in Germany. Speaker will be Frederic O. Glover, executive assistant to the president of Stanford. Glover just returned from dedication ceremonies at the new campuses in France and Italy.

Those who plan to attend may make reservations with Mrs. Paul Kern of 584 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael.

Named To Demo Unit

Nancy Swadesh of Mill Valley, Marin Democratic party leader, has been named to the board of directors of the Northern California Chapter, Americans for Democratic Action. Paul Seabury, associate professor of political science at University of California at Berkeley, was named chairman.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Kidnapers of rich sportsman Anthony Alessio were bunglers who "left trails a mile wide," a police official says.

Five suspects have been arrested. Federal agents believe one or two more members of the gang may still be at large. About $83,000 of the $200,000 ransom paid for Alessio's release has been recovered.

Three persons were arraigned here yesterday on a state charge of kidnaping, which is punishable on conviction by life imprisonment with possible parole after seven and one-half years because the victim was unharmed. Arraigned were James Robert Gorman, 29, escaped convict; his wife, Ruby, 30, and Selma Marrone, 25. Each was held in lieu of $210,000 bail.

Two others were arrested yesterday. They are Richard Lee Hoffman, 24, named by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as one of the gunmen who abducted Alessio from his driveway, and Frank Marrone, 31, a convicted Alaska murderer awaiting appeal.

The principal industries of Surinam—formerly Dutch Guiana — are mining, agriculture and lumbering.

CHP To Patrol Near Oakland With 'Copters

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The California Highway Patrol will take to the air in helicopters starting Monday to patrol and help speed traffic on the heavily traveled Nimitz Freeway near Oakland.

Bradford N. Crittenden, patrol commissioner, announced the airborne traffic troubleshooting patrol today.

It will be the CHP's first test of aerial patrols for heavily traveled freeways. The only previous test was with a conventional airplane over desert roads in the Barstow area.

Crittenden said Sgt. P. B. Omelich, coordinator of the project and the man who will do the actual flying most of the time, will be primarily on the lookout for accidents and stalled vehicles, but also will watch for traffic violations. He'll be in touch with ground units by radio.

The helicopter patrol will continue through the month of December, including the holiday season.

Normal patrols will be during daylight peak traffic hours during the week and on one weekend day.

Ex-Cavalryman Ends 20-Year Army Career

A Sleepy Hollow Army officer, who began his military career with the horse cavalry in its twilight years, retired today at Fort Mason after 20 years of service.

He is Lt. Col. William E. Worrall of 21 Fawn Drive.

When Worrall enlisted in the Army in 1940 with the Third Cavalry, mounted troops were literally on their last four legs. Shortly after receiving his lieutenant's bars in 1942, Worrall became one of the Army's last instructors in military horsemanship at Fort Riley, Kan.

Cavalry units were being converted to armored vehicles when World War II broke out, but when the fighting shifted to the rugged terrain of China and Burma, the horse and his cousin, the old Army mule, gained a respite from oblivion. In 1943, accordingly, Colonel Worrall was ordered to activate the 252nd Pack Troop. As its commander he took the unit of 300-odd horses and mules—and men—to fight the lonely supply line battles in the high country of China and Burma.

After the end of World War II, Colonel Worrall was transferred to Army intelligence assignments in Alaska, Germany, the Pentagon and finally, in 1957, to Fort Mason. Until a few months ago he was chief of the intelligence division of the Pacific Transportation Terminal Command headquarters.

WILLIAM E. WORRALL
Last man on a horse

Most recently Colonel Worrall has presided as head of the Fort Mason Transient and Officers' Mess.

Colonel and Mrs. Worrall, the former Elizabeth Hubbard of Middleburg, Va., have three children: Virginia, 13; Elizabeth, 9, and William, 7.

The Worralls hope to stay in Marin

S.F. Officials Question Use Of Span Aide

San Francisco's city-county supervisors want to ask Golden Gate Bridge directors some questions about the hiring of an administrative assistant to bridge manager James Adam.

Supervisor James Leo Halley said yesterday he would invite the bridge directors, by letter, to a caucus with the supervisors some time next month to justify among other things the need for a $12,000-a-year assistant to the bridge manager.

William Hendricks, San Rafael advertising and publicity man, was hired last week for the job.

Halley said he wants to ask some questions about the financial condition of the bridge district, too.

Also, the San Francisco supervisors will discuss appointment of a member of the bridge board to succeed Maurice Moskovitz, who died Oct. 28.

They may also discuss reappointment of two San Francisco members of the board whose terms expire Dec. 23. The two are Dan London and William D. Hadeler.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 30th, the 335th day of the year with 31 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mars and Mercury:

The evening stars are Jupiter, Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1782, preliminary peace articles ending the Revolutionary War between the United States and Great Britain were signed in Paris.

In 1804, for the first time in U.S. history, a justice of the supreme court, Samuel Chase, went on trial in impeachment proceedings.

In 1835, Samuel Langhorne Clemens, better known as Mark Twain, was born.

In 1874, former British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill was born.

In 1922, Sarah Bernhardt made her final stage appearance in Turin, Italy.

In 1949, Chinese Communists captured Chungking, China.

A thought for today: English novelist and poet George Meredith said: "Kissing don't last; cookery do."

TIME AND TIDE

Marin Court Soon To Decide On Sanity In 1947 Slaying

ERWIN A. WALKER
Ready to die?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Within the next few weeks, a Marin court will decide if a former policeman convicted of killing a highway patrolman 14 years ago has been cured of his insanity and is now ready to die in the gas chamber.

Erwin W. Walker, 42, nephew of a superior court judge, son of a one-time Los Angeles county engineer and veteran of bloody combat in World War II, was found guilty in 1947 of killing Loren Roosevelt, a highway patrolman who suspected he was a burglar.

Less than three years earlier, Walker had been a typical, clean-cut American second lieutenant leading troops under blistering Japanese fire in the Philippines. And before that, he was a well-liked high school athlete who grew up to become a respected rookie on the Glendale Police Department.

Sentenced to death by a Los Angeles County judge, Walker was taken to San Quentin Prison's Death Row. On the day before his scheduled execution, he tried to commit suicide.

Clinton Duffy of San Anselmo, then warden of the prison, said the condemned man seemed to be suffering from hallucinations. A panel of doctors was hastily summoned and 30 minutes from the time set for the execution, he was declared insane. A jury agreed two weeks later. In effect, it was a reprieve—California law doesn't permit the execution of an insane man.

That was on April 15, 1949. Since then, Walker has lived in state institutions undergoing therapy.

Meanwhile, his lawyer, John C. Houlihan of Oakland, battled the conviction, contending Walker's mental condition—and crime career—were caused by his experiences in the Pacific war.

Two weeks ago, Walker's status changed and California's legal machinery began nudging him toward the gas chamber.

Dr. William C. Keating Jr., head of the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, where the convict is held, declared that therapy has been successful and Walker is sane.

His report will be forwarded to the Department of Mental Hygiene here. The department will make its own findings and send them to the Marin County Superior Court, which found Walker insane in 1949.

If the Marin court says Walker is sane, he will be brought to San Quentin and the Los Angeles superior court will set a new execution date. And, if the court finds he is still insane, he will be returned to a mental institution.

No matter what happens, Houlihan says he will ask Gov. Edmund G. Brown to commute the sentence to life imprisonment. Only once has a California governor refused to commute the death sentence of a man declared insane and later found sane.

The problem the courts face is an old one—what constitutes criminal insanity. Dr. Keating, after three months of study, made his ruling under a State Supreme Court decision which states a man is sane if he knew what he was doing when he committed the crime and realized he faced execution.

Some psychiatrists say the war made Walker mentally unbalanced. In high school, he was a brilliant student interested in technical subjects. After a year in college, he joined the police department as a radio operator. His record was spotless.

Walker enlisted in the Signal Corps when the war broke and before long was an officer. He was on Wake Island in 1944 when the Japanese aerial bombardment was so heavy that many of the troops had trouble eating or sleeping for a long time after.

He was with the men who swarmed ashore at Leyte in the Philippines and it was in this campaign that he began to show signs of a mental breakdown. While he was away on official duties, the Japanese attacked his men. His best friend and others were killed.

Walker blamed himself for the deaths and asked to be returned to the United States. While still on active duty in this country, he committed two burglaries — his first crimes.

After his discharge, he pulled two more burglaries. His family said he was a changed man, mentally and physically.

The police pursued him. Two Hollywood policemen cornered him and he shot and wounded both. After another burglary, officer Roosevelt stopped him and was shot to death.

Walker waived a jury trial, pleaded innocent by reason of insanity and told of his war experiences. The judge, finding him guilty, remarked that millions of boys had had the same experiences and returned home to lead normal lives.

Billion Dollars Help Needed For Schools

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, said yesterday the state must spend more than one billion dollars in the next four years to meet the four million annual student enrollment expected by 1964.

Simpson said his figures were based on estimates by school construction specialists in the State Department of Education.

To meet record enrollments, he said, local districts will have to build some 750 elementary schools and about 150 high schools. That means 15 elementary and three high schools must be built every month in the next four years, Simpson said.

To end double sessions and replace unsafe buildings would require another 600 new schools and an estimated cost of 474 million dollars, Simpson said. Double sessions in California public schools are expected to rise this year to a three-year high of 120,000 students.

Annual public school enrollments are expected to increase 739,000 by 1964 to more than four million. Present predictions are that annual enrollments will top five million by 1970, Simpson said.

Department specialists based their predictions on 600-pupil elementary schools costing $20 a square foot to build and equip ready for use. High schools would have 1,800 students and would cost $24 a square foot ready to use.

Handicapped Children Program Goes National

A project started among Tamalpais Union High School District students to provide specialized care for handicapped children has been adopted on a national scale by the American Legion.

The San Anselmo American Legion post backed the project begun two years ago by Robert Foster of Mill Valley at Tamalpais High. The following year, students from Redwood, Drake and San Rafael were included.

Foster offered an eight-week training course to provide teenage babysitters for handicapped children. More than 75 teen-agers turned out for the course and subsequently became a trained corps of specialists.

National interest was taken in the project after Ray Greenberg, chairman of the San Anselmo Legion's child welfare committee sent American Legion headquarters a copy of the Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine story on the teen-agers and their work.

Foster described the work to the Legion's national child welfare commission at a Miami convention.

The local project is now headed by Tamalpais High teacher Krieg Vezie. Foster is at Colorado State College studying for a doctorate.

The Butterfield Overland Mail coaches operated on a weekly schedule, averaging 23 days for each one-way journey in 1858.

GROCER DOESN'T NEED A CLOCK, HER BLIND CAT TELLS TIME

BOGNOR REGIS, England (UPI)—Mrs. Elsie Grout doesn't need a clock; she's got a blind cat that tells time.

Mrs. Grout, wife of a local grocer, claims that her 11-year-old blind cat has developed an uncanny sense of time.

According to Mrs. Grout, Teeny the "cat clock" tells her when it is time to open the store, have meals and go to bed.

Teeny is a cross between a Siamese and an English blue.

The cat has been blind from kittenhood. At 9 a. m. each day, Mrs. Grout says, the cat paws at the door leading to the store in an "open-up" order. Promptly at 1 p. m. and 6 p. m., Teeny slinks in to indicate that meal times have come round.

The cat takes time off during the evening while Mrs. Grout sits comfortably in front of her television set. But at 10:30 p. m. it uncurls, stretches and jumps on to Mrs. Grout's lap: Bed time.

Mrs. Grout swears by her blind cat's accuracy.

"In the same way that blind people have their other senses of hearing, touch and smell highly developed, my cat, being blind, has developed its sense of time," she said.

88.13 Per Cent Of Californians Cast Ballots

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Californians went to the polls in record numbers in the Nov. 8 Presidential election.

In releasing the final, official returns, which gave the state to Vice President Richard M. Nixon by 35,623 votes, the secretary of state's office said 88.13 per cent of the voters cast their ballots.

Other high years were 1944, 86.13 per cent; 1952, 86.85 per cent, and 1956, 86.56 per cent.

Serious Crime Rose During Most Of '60

WASHINGTON (AP)—Serious crime in the United States jumped 11 per cent over last year's figures, for the first nine months of this year.

Federal Bureau of Investigation J. Edgar Hoover reported today what he called "this accelerated crime rate" on the basis of preliminary figures covering most cities and nearly half of the country's rural areas. He urged more citizen cooperation with law enforcement agencies to meet the problem.

Hoover noted that the first three months of this year witnessed a 7 per cent crime increase which grew to 9 per cent at the midyear mark and picked up another 2 per cent in the third quarter.

The nine-months crime data showed the sharpest increases in property crimes, with robbery up 16 per cent, burglary 15 per cent, larcencies involving $50 or more up 9 per cent, and auto theft 6 per cent.

Among crimes against the person, forcible rapes led off with an 8 per cent increase. Murders increased 4 per cent and aggravated assaults 3 per cent.

School Bus Toll May Rise To 20

LAMONT, Alta. Canada (UPI) —The death toll in the collision of a crowded school bus and a freight train at an unguarded crossing may reach 20, officials feared today.

Sixteen children—13 of them girls—were killed yesterday when a 30-car freight smashed into the school bus carrying 42 children to morning classes and scattered "books and bodies like popcorn" along a half-mile section of track.

Dr. M. A. Young, administrator of the 100-bed Archer Memorial Hospital here said last night that of the 25 injured at least 10 were in serious condition and several were in "very critical condition." He said he feared the death toll would go higher.

Only one occupant of the bus, 16-year-old Johnny Winnick escaped injury in the shattering crash that occurred just 300 yards from the safety of the school.

The crash was heard by many of the town's 652 inhabitants and brought them to the scene on the run.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Antonelli, Sam Jones, Blasingame, Bressoud, Landrith To Be Traded?

CONNOLLY

When my Uncle Mike gets the yen for prophesying, he starts blowing on the old Chinese saxaphone, inhaling the old opium in great drags, and sometimes blowing it out through his ears.

I can always tell when Uncle Mike is in that mood, for the first thing he does is start scratching the back of his wrists and getting out his cookstove so he can bake a poppy biscuit. When that happens I usually leave the joint and let him to his evil ways.

While Uncle Mike is taking on a load of celestial soup, I began scrambling about his desk for clues and I run across a lot of notes, which, may, or may not, mean anything.

But they strike me as very significant.

One of the important notes mentions the name of pitcher Johnny Antonelli; the other, pitcher Sam Jones; the other, Hobby Landrith, catcher; the other, Eddie Bressoud, shortstop and second baseman Don Blasingame. Then I go a little deeper into the files and come up with two names, Willie Kirkland and Felipe Alou, both outfielders.

WELL IT is not every day Uncle Mike and I agree on players the San Francisco Giants can dispose of, but by jimminy, these names and these players are exactly the names I figured might be mentioned in the trade winds that are soon to begin blowing in the National and American league swap season.

I'll admit Uncle Mike is not much good to humanity when he is hitting up the old mojo, but when he hits the jackpot on names, I begin to wonder.

"Why," says one of Uncle Mike's notes, "the only way the Giants can get rid of the old creaking joint pitchers is to trade them before they got too old.

"Now Jones and Antonelli could help the Yankees and, by crickety, why couldn't the Yankees give the Giants a whale of a deal in younger player talent for such timber?

"I FEEL," said one other note of Uncle Mike's, "is that shortstop Eddie Bressoud and Don Blasingame are of no real asset to the club, but either one of them might help another club struggling without a shortstop or second baseman.

"Stoneham should trade those guys and take his chances on replacements," Uncle Mike notes, the more logic I could detect.

"Happy Horace," Uncle wrote himself, "should trade either Willie Kirkland or Felipe Alou. They are both strictly gambles."

And do you know that by the time I got through thumbing through Uncle Mike's notes, I wondered if he hadn't been rifling my own desk.

THE MORE I think of the players the Giants have on the block, the more convinced I am that they should make four or five trades to bolster a club that is somewhat lopsided.

The only flaw in my notes, and those of Uncle Mike, seems to be Alvin Dark, the new Giant manager.

Alvin is a guy who has to be convinced. And he isn't yet sure that any of the above mentioned players with the Giants should be sent away.

But here is one old codger, who, with his Uncle Mike, can't help but believe that the above mentioned players are the ones needed to be used in trades that might help the Giants.

But Uncle Mike, when he sobered up, agreed that he will quit smoking for 10 days, at least, and by that time we'll all know what the Giants intend to do about talent for 1961.

Yankee Davis Cuppers Bow To Italians

MELBOURNE (AP) — Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola jarred America's Davis Cup hopes today by beating the teen-age pair, Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley, in the doubles semi-finals of the Victorian tennis championships 5-7, 11-9, 15-13, 6-2.

In the other semi-final, Australia's Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson, crushed America's Barry MacKay and Earl Buchholz 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

The first match was a preview of the Davis Cup interzone finals at Perth, Dec. 9-11.

The turning point apparently came in the second set when Ralston's powerful service failed him in the 20th game. After losing only 9 points on 7 previous services, he dropped service without winning a point. The Bakersfield, Calif., lad never was the same after that.

The U.S. Davis Cup captain, David Freed, said he was disappointed over the result, but was not ready at this time to make a decision on the probable Davis Cup pair in the Perth matches.

Oregon State '11' Receives Bid To Bowl Game, But . . .

NEW YORK (AP)—It appeared today that the Gotham Bowl mousetrapped itself into believing there were enough good and willing schools to fill out a growing list of post-season bowl games and, with only 10 days until its scheduled game, is out of prospects.

Because of such a scarcity it looks as if the inaugural game scheduled for Dec. 10 at Yankee Stadium will never come off. Colorado apparently declined to participate and the committee pulled the props out from under Holy Cross' hopes of getting into the game.

The closest thing it had to a team—Oregon State, whose players voted to accept such a bid—still did not have the sanction of the school authorities.

Chairman Bob Ready of the selection committee was unavailable for comment.

Holy Cross Athletic Director Gene Flynn said Ready had offered, then withdrawn an invitation "to fulfill other commitments" only 10 minutes before the Crusaders' football team was to vote on the bid.

Then in Boulder, Colo., Colorado Coach Sonny Grandelius admitted talking with Ready by phone several times yesterday but added: "We're not going to any bowl game this year."

Giants-Cleveland Trade Winds Blowing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, thwarted in their efforts to trade Johnny Antonelli, their one-time pitching ace, to the New York Yankees for catcher Johnny Blanchard, appeared to be close to a deal that would send the veteran left-hander to the Cleveland Indians for infielder Johnny Temple and pitcher Dick Stigman.

Holding up the deal, which would be the first made at the annual meetings, is Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane, widening the scope of the transaction to include Giant outfielder Willie Kirkland or Felipe Alou and Indian outfielder Tito Francona.

Lane acknowledged these names were discussed but declined to reveal the exact nature of the deal. He did say that another talk was scheduled for today and hoped an agreement could be reached.

Along with everybody else, Lane blamed the rule which forbids the trading of 120 American League players who were thrown into the hopper earlier this month to stock the new teams for the lack of deals.

This rule will be in effect until Dec. 13, when the new team, or teams, will select seven players from each established major league club at $75,000 per player.

The inter-league trading period, currently in effect, expires Dec. 15. A movement is on foot to extend the trading period.

The clubs most actively engaged in trade talk, besides the Giants and Indians, include the St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati Reds, Baltimore Orioles, Philadelphia Phillies, and Milwaukee Braves.

A Yankee official said his club had rejected a Cardinal offer of pitchers Larry Jackson and Ronnie Kline, and catcher Hal Smith for southpaw Whitey Ford, righthander Ryne Duren and catcher Elston Howard.

The Yankees also said no to a Milwaukee offer of pitcher Juan Pizarro for third baseman Cletis Boyer.

"We would like to trade for a starting pitcher, such as Antonelli," said New York general manager Roy Hamey, "but everyone asks for one of our catchers or one of our infielders. We're just not going to give those fellows up."

The Braves, trying desperately to make a deal for an established second baseman, reportedly have offered first baseman Joe Adcock and outfielder Wes Covington to the Phillies for second baseman Tony Taylor and relief pitcher Jack Farrell. The Giants and Yankees also have made overtures for Farrell.

Baltimore, seeking a hard-hitting outfielder, is said to have offered a pitcher, either Hector "Skinny" Brown or West Stock, to the Reds for either Gus Bell or Wally Post.

On the managerial front, the hottest rumor is that Elvin Tappe, Chicago's third-string catcher and one-time coach, will soon be named manager of the Cubs. Tappe, 32, batted .233 in 51 games last year.

The only positive action taken yesterday was the naming of Jim Turner as pitching coach by the Reds and the signing of veteran infielder Danny O'Connell by the Washington team.

Marin Catholic Nips Faculty In Thriller

By GREG HOBBS

Even though they outdribbled, out shot, out yelled and even out tackled the young whippersnappers, the faculty of Marin Catholic High School went down to defeat last night in the school's annual faculty basketball contest with the school's student squads.

The 10 teachers huffed and puffed their way through the game and lost by only a slim 27-30 margin. The closeness, plus the faculty's antics, proved enjoyable to the overflow crowd.

The faculty had the first chance at a score when Doug Damaschino leaped high to grab Reverend Bernard Cummins' tip from center. However, Marin's varsity, which played the first quarter, racked up the first score when Jim Soden cashed in on two foul shots after actually being tackled by Father Cummins on what looked like a "down and out" pattern because Soden was down and out.

The faculty retaliated when Damaschino clicked on a layup shot after some fancy ball handling by Mr. James Walsh and Rev. Edward Dullea.

The varsity maintained a 10-6 lead to the end of the quarter and Marin's Class B team took over in the second stanza and kept the pace by forging ahead to 16-10 at the half.

A fresh faculty lineup took over in the third period, including Bernard Schneider, Harry Moore, Al Scott, Rev. Mark Hurley and Rev. James DeGroot, but the school's Class C team kept up the pressure to score a 22-17 lead in the quarter.

The varsity was put back in the game in the fourth period, but so was the faculty's first string and the educators made a spirited bid for an upset. Scoring by Rev. Don Kholes and Damaschino gave the teachers a brief 23-22 lead, but the varsity rallied and led 29-27 with five seconds to play. That's when Jerry Smith made a foul shot to ice the game for the students.

Father Dullea explained the faculty's loss: "Well, you know, this being the advent season, we decided to exercise a little charity. Next year we'll show 'em."

Raiders, Chargers Meet Again Sunday

OAKLAND (AP)—The Oakland Raiders, pretty glum since their 52-27 clobbering by the Los Angeles Chargers, are feeling better today.

An optimist pointed out that the Raiders have come back and beaten every team that's beaten them in American Football League play.

The Raiders get a chance to see if they can do it again in a hurry. They meet the Chargers at Candlestick Park in San Francisco Sunday.

New Formations Indicate 'T' On Way Out In Pro Football

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The defense has caught up with the T-formation—and coaches are looking around for something new in professional football.

That would have to be the conclusion after talking to coaches Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers and George Halas of the Chicago Bears.

Both men used a variation of the wing formation in scoring triumphs over Baltimore and Dallas on Sunday.

Hickey called his operation the "shotgun offense." Halas referred to his as the "twin right."

"It would be just speculation to say that the T-formation is on the way out," said Hickey. "But over-all, the defense is catching up with the T-formation offense.

"We plan to make our 'shotgun offense' an important part of our offense for the rest of the season. I think the game was getting a bit dull with the T-formation in every game.

CHANGE DEFENSE

"We went into that thing against the Colts knowing we were not strong enough to beat them head-on. So we had to come up with something to change their defense. And we did it."

Some referred to his formation as a double-wing. It called for the quarterback to line up right behind the center, as in the T-formation. But before the ball is snapped, the quarterback drops back to the same position the tailback on a single wing might occupy. Meanwhile, the backs and ends were spreading out like a mushroom.

Halas used a little something different. It is a variation of the short punt. This one put one man in a tailback slot—presumably a man who can both pass and run.

John Brodie, who quarterbacked most of the way for San Francisco in its 30-22 upset of Baltimore, liked the new 49er formation.

"It seemed I got more protection than I ever did before," he recalled. "But the boys up front had a lot to do with that."

One thing about playing the winged formation: it takes a nimble quarterback to handle the job. He must be a man who can run around, or fake a run, while waiting for his receivers to get down field.

This means that Y. A. Tittle, the San Francisco veteran, will be on the sidelines for the Los Angeles Rams tilt in the southland on Sunday.

"Y. A.'s groin injury doesn't seem to get any better," said Hickey. "And I expect that we'll start Brodie. But I won't be afraid to send Bobby Waters in there at any time."

Waters, playing in his first pro signal-calling job last week, tossed the two passes that gave San Francisco its go-ahead touchdown in the closing minutes of the game against Baltimore.

"I guess you could say that 'Muddy' did everything that could be asked of him," grinned Red as he made the understatement of the week.

Sugar Confident He'll Beat Fullmer Saturday

GILMAN HOT SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson stretched on the bed of a bungalow at this training camp and seemed perfectly relaxed.

"I am a personified ham. I believe I can whip Fullmer."

Robinson was talking about Gene Fullmer, who holds the National Boxing Assn. world title, and their 15-round championship fight Saturday night at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

At 39, New York's Sugar Man admittedly is tired of the training routine. He has been fighting for more than 20 years. But he reiterated he has personal pride and he firmly believes he can regain the middleweight title for the sixth time.

Will he retire if he wins?

"I have a return match contract with Fullmer and then I'd like to fix things with Mr. (Paul) Pender."

Pender is recognized in New York and Massachusetts as the champion. He beat Robinson twice this year by decisions in Boston.

"It takes two guys to make a fight," Robinson said, "and Pender keeps running."

Robinson was asked if he would retire if he lost to Fullmer.

"The word 'defeat' you don't like to think of. We don't think of it in this camp. But if I do, we'll cross that bridge when I reach it."

Robinson, who knocked out Fullmer for the title in 1957, described Gene as a hard man to fight.

"Fullmer is so awkward and unorthodox you can't plan what he'll do next. He doesn't know himself what he'll do," said Robinson.

Sugar's manager, George Gainsford, chimed in: "He hits low, he hits high, he doesn't mean anything wrong—he just hits."

"Fullmer is a hard man to fight or plan against," Robinson said.

Navy's Bellino Tops UPI All-America; Far West Only Area To Be Shut Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — United Press International today presents the finest 11 collegiate football players in the land, its 1960 All-America team.

Chosen by the ballots of a record number of 402 sports writers and broadcasters from all parts of the nation, these are the players selected as the best at their positions this seasons:

Ends — Mike Ditka, Pittsburgh, and Dan Larose, Missouri; Tackles—Bob Lilly, Texas Christian, and Ken Rice, Auburn; Guards — Tom Brown, Minnesota, and Joe Romig, Colorado; Center—E. J. Holub, Texas Tech; Quarterback — Jake Gibbs, Mississippi; Halfbacks—Joe Bellino, Navy and Ernie Davis, Syracuse; Fullback —Bob Ferguson, Ohio State.

Bellino and Brown are the big guns on the mythical eleven, the answer to any football coach's dream. The Navy halfback received a total of 4,010 votes to lead the balloting in the annual UPI poll, which this year set a record for the number of participants. The previous highest number of voters was 354 last year.

Bellino was named on all but 27 of the ballots, receiving 352 first team votes and 23 for second. Brown rolled up a total of 3,263 to lead the linemen by a wide margin. Eleven points are awarded for a first-place vote and six for a second.

For the first time since World War II seasons, when Army was the national gridiron power, the East dominates this All-Star team with three players—Davis and Ditka in addition to Bellino.

The Midwest, Southwest and South are represented by two players each while one player each was chosen from the Rockies and the Midlands. Only the Far West of the seven geographical sections of the nation was shut out.

It's a well-balanced team, not only with brawn, but brains as well. The team averages 214½ pounds per man, the line averages 223½ pounds and the backfield 198 pounds. It is a tall team, too, averaging over 6 feet in height per player.

On the basis of players named to the first three teams, the South dominated the all-star selections with a total of eight players. There are six each from the Midwest and Southwest, five from the East, four from the Far West, three from the Rockies and one from the Midlands.

The players making up the second team:

Ends—Marlin McKeever, Southern California, and Tee Moorman, Duke; Tackles — Jerry Beabout, Purdue, and Kurt Gegner, Washington; Guards — Al Vanderbush, Army, and Pat Dye, Georgia; Center—Wayne Harris, Arkansas; Backs — Bill Kilmer, UCLA; Ed Dyas, Auburn; Ron Bull, Baylor; and Roman Gabriel, North Caroline State.

The third team:

Ends — Fred Mautino, Syracuse, and Johnny Brewer, Mississippi; Tackles—Joe Rutgens, Illinois, and Merlin Olsen, Utah State; Guards —Mark Manders, Iowa, and Monte Lee, Texas; Center — Roy McKasson, Washington; Backs — Tom Matte, Ohio State; Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State; Wilburn Hollis, Iowa, and Tom Mason, Tulane.

HERE! THE TRUCKS THAT RIDE SMOOTHER, WORK HARDER, LAST LONGER!

ORDINARY I-BEAM FRONT AXLE transmits road shock and vibration between wheels and to chassis and cab.

CHEVY'S INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION. Each wheel flexes independently, minimizes stress and strain on chassis and cab.

Just a year ago, Chevy came up with independent front suspension and has already put some 300,000 Chevrolet trucks with it out on jobs.

The ride that results from Chevy's suspension design is making life a lot easier for drivers. (Just ask them.) It's taking better care of loads, the fragile kind that cost somebody money if they are bounced around. Chevy's ride also enables truck owners to revise their buying habits and work their trucks longer before they trade. This follows naturally. The trucks take less of a beating. There's less stress on sheet metal. Less abuse to tires. Less pounding that wears out parts before their time. The upshot of it is, you either save money or earn more of it or both. And you couldn't ask a truck to do more than that. See your dealer.

Oregon, Washington Land Three Players Each On All-Coast Team

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press

Washington and Oregon, both headed for post-season bowl games, landed three players each today on the 1960 Associated Press All-West Coast football team.

The Rose Bowl bound Huskies landed guard Chuck Allen, one of two repeaters from 1959, center Roy McKassen and halfback Don McWKeta.

Oregon, which plays in the Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia, had tackle Steve Barnett, one of three sophomores on the all-star team, guard Dave Urell and all purpose quarterback Dave Grosz.

Southern California's 230-pound Marlin McKeever repeats at an end position with Washington State's sophomore pass catching phenom Hugh Campbell getting the nod at the other terminal.

A pair of Steves won the tackle positions — Barnett of Oregon and Bauwens of UCLA.

No less than three triple threat backs were named in the vote of the AP West Coast Board. Grosz can run, pass and punt plus operating Oregon's T formation.

KILMER DOES SAME

Bill Kilmer of UCLA and sophomore Terry Baker of Oregon State can do the same but they both opearte as tailbacks in single wing offenses.

McKeta's selection could surprise many, since in headlines he's been overshadowed by teammates. But as one opposing coach declared, "He's the guy that gets the yardage on those crucial third down situations. He'd run right through a tree if it were in his way."

Injuries kept two members of the 1959 team from repeating. All America quarterback Bob Schloredt of Washington suffered a broken collar bone in midseason, and ankle injuries kept Keith Lincoln of Washington State from showing his true ability.

MAJOR TEAMS

The 1960 squad chosen from teams rated major by the NCAA, includes three sophomores, one junior and seven seniors. From end to end the average weight is 209 with McKeever the heaviest and Campbell at 183 the lightest. But the WSU end set two NCAA records this season with 66 receptions for 881 yards.

Thus multi-talented backfield averages 191 pounds with quarterback Grosz the heaviest at 200 and McKeta the lightest at slightly over 180.

In most cases the voting was close with only two unanimous choices—McKassen and Baker. Kilmer was named to the first team on all but one ballot.

The FISHIN' FOOL

My Wife And I Visited A Mecca For The Privileged Hunter Sunday

STEVENS

Pardon me a moment while I wash my hands again. You see—I just finished cleaning a brace of pheasants; one cock and one hen, and therein hangs a tale.

I mentioned in former columns the establishment of a game bird club called the Dublin Canyon Game Bird Club, not far from Sunol (Alameda County), but it was all heresay. I hadn't personally visited it until Sunday.

Now I can talk positively about this mecca for the lover of privileged hunting. I am happy to do so.

The good wife and I drove out to the club today. It was easy to find. We went to the small town of Sunol and took the Kilkare road to its end, a distance, I imagine of about four or five miles, but we didn't clock it. The scenery on that country road was so fascinating and so nearly a primval jaunt that we just enjoyed every foot of it.

We arrived at the end of Kilkare Road and the headquarters of the club about 12:30 P.M. We were greeted by genial George Sellers, owners and operater of the club. Most of the hunters had come and gone by then, but there were a few (four) hunters still in the field. We inspected the records and saw that several of those had shot the area 950 acres of perfect terrain for pheasants, quail, ducks and deer).

WE NOTED that Milton Nordstrom of Belmont had taken four birds on Wednesday, and Bill Loorz of Freemont had come in with two cocks and two hens on Saturday, and that the Deadeye-dicks of the medical profession, Doctors John O. Hanneson and McGian had done the usual before we had arrived (we passed them on the way out) by taking six birds each, half roosters and half hens.

While we were drinking coffee (which is furnished club members free of charge at all times) Sil Posner and John Way of Hayward come charging in. Sil, of the Penny-wise Market in Hayward insisted on telling about the two huge mallards he had shot recently. (They must have been big — the pair weighed a total of seven-and-a-half pounds.) And rather shamefacedly admitted downing only three pheasants that morning, but, at, that, he beat his pal, John Way who only had one bird to clean.

IF ONE CAN judge by the exuberance of the few members we met, to belong to the Dublin Canyon Game Gird Club is about tops to the gunning guy who likes a better than average chance to get game, before, during, and after the regular seasons. Sellers is a long time raiser of pheasants for private clubs. He sets free around 10 birds to each hunter a few hours before shooting begins, and these birds in addition to those released on previous days, make for a generous supply. Some of the members have their own dogs, and others use one of Sellers' hounds.

We talked to Bob Deponte, the local woodcutter and were told the area controlled by the club is almost over populated with deer. He figures next year will see an extremely high average kill.

THERE IS a pond on the property — actually several ponds—that seem to be on the direct duck flight. So it isn't only pheasants that are there for the hunting.

When I read over what I have already written about this subject, it appears that I have gone in for some commercial plugging. Well, believe me, that wasn't my intent. I am convinced this or a similar club is needed, not only to take the pressure off the public areas, but to furnish at least one spot where the busy business man can have his innings at some of the greatest of outdoors sports. We envy all who now belong, or will in the near future, before the membership ranks are closed. Such an area in such wonderful scenic space —where a guy can become a member at less cost than to belong to a good duck club—well, look! Why not drive out yourself and look it over?

CONTACT Sellers (George). Make a date. Bring along the fowling piece and give it a real trial. You'll pay for the day's hunt, sure—but the price will be deducted from your initiation fee if you decide to join. And, Allah, be praised, I have spoken. Be with you Thursday with the latest dope on fishing hither and yon. Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Junior Rifle Teams To Shoot Tomorrow

The Marin Rod and Gun Junior Rifle Club team No. 1 will meet the Marin Rod and Gun Junior Rifle Club team No. 2 at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the College of Marin rifle range as part of the Marin Junior Rifleman Winter League program.

The following day at the same time Marin Sheriff Junior Rifle Club will have a match with Marin Rod and Gun Junior Rifle team No. 1.

The winter session, according to Mrs. G. C. Gosser, is under the sponsorship of the National Rifle Assn. of America and firing will continue until mid-February, each team having two shoulder to shoulder matches with the opposing team. A match is 10 shots each, prone, sitting, kneeling and off hand, and timed fire.

Other participating teams include the Mill Valley De Molay Junior Rifle Club and the Marin De Molay Junior Rifle Club.

Results of previous matches are as follows: Marin Rod and Gun Junior Rifle Club team No. 2 won from Marin De Molay Junior Rifle Club Nov. 17 with a score of 1181 X15 to 1128 X12. Marin Sheriff Junior Rifle Club won Nov. 18 from Mill Valley De Molay Junior Rifle Club with a score of 1420 X28 to 1375 X19.

Sagging Fortunes In Football Campus Issue At Notre Dame

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Stamped far and wide as an "academic" question is whether Notre Dame is dead as a college football power, incapable of ever rising again to national championship stature.

In the wake of this season's disastrous campaign two wins and eight losses, which matched the record low of 1956 in Notre Dame's football history, this writer searched the campus for what promise may be held for the school's grid future under its tightening academic standards.

The school's president, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, said, "we're not pushing the panic button."

Coach Joe Kuharich, while suggesting modern football works in cycles, said he was weighing things in my mind," when questioned about continuing at the Irish helm. His four-year contract extends through 1962.

A segment of the student body demonstrated against the school's avowed policy of "academic excellence," which most of the uncounted Irish rooting legions blame for the decline and fall of Notre Dame football.

"We want football, we want football," a throng of about 800 chanted in front of Corby Hall, where Father Hesburgh and other faculty priests reside.

A few hours after this demonstration, Father Hesburgh spoke on the campus radio system.

He blamed the demonstration on 5 per cent of the student body of about 6,000. These 5 per cent could quit the school with his blessing, Father Hesburgh said.

"We don't want to be second to anybody in anything, including football," said Father Hesburgh.

Huskies Lead Big Five In League Statistics

Washington's Rose Bowl-bound Huskies completely dominated the Big Five in team stastistics this year, according to figures released today and including all but next Saturday's UCLA-Duke game.

The Huskies lead the team marks in standings, total offense, rushing offense, rushing defense.

Coach Jim Owens' club allowed only 112 yards per game rushing by its foes; and on offence rolled up 219 yards by the same method. The Huskies also have chalked up 219 yards per game in total offense.

UCLA leads in total defense with 268 yards to 269 for Washington. The Bruins also were second in total offense with 317 yards; in rushing offense with 191 and rushing defense with 159.

Stanford, which didn't win a game all year, led in passing yardage with 131 yards per game, and California had the best pass defense.

'Way To A Man's Heart' Title Of Church Guild's Cookbook

"May the blessing of the five loaves and two fishes which God divided amongst the five thousand men be ours; and may the King who made the division put luck on your food and on our portion. Amen."

This charming Gaelic blessing is one of the many "prayers before meals" which preface each chapter of a new and different cookbook published by the Blessed Sacrament Women's Guild.

Titled, "The Way To A Man's Heart," the book includes many taste-tempting favorites designed to please the "man of the house." Several original recipes are included in the book, along with Guild member's suggestions for new and appetite-appealing ways to fix old favorites. There is a section devoted to "Friday Night Specials" and for those looking for gift ideas —a chapter on "Christmas Goodies."

The collection of recipes, with clever cover design and illustrations by Mrs. Joseph Herrera, was compiled under the direction of Mesdames Bernard Whitehill and Herbert Mooney. It will go on sale at the Guild's annual Christmas Bazaar, to be held at Blessed Sacrament Parish Hall in Santa Venetia on Sunday, Dec. 4.

Holiday recipes from the book include.

BRANDIED BLACK BOTTOM CHIFFON PIE

1 ginger cookie pie crust
4 eggs, separated
½ cup dark brown sugar
1¼ Tbs. cornstarch
¾ tsp. salt
1½ cups scalded milk
5 Tbs. brandy
2 sq. melted unsweetened chocolate
1 tsp. vanilla
1 envelope gelatine, softened in 2 tbs. cold water and 1 Tbs. brandy
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
Whipped cream
Shaved sweet chocolate

Beat egg yolks in the top of a double boiler until light. Add brown sugar which has been sifted with cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in scalded milk and brandy. Cook over hot water until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Set aside 1½ cups of this custard and into it, stir melted unsweetened chocolate and vanilla. Cool chocolate custard and pour into shell. Add gelatine-water-brandy mixture to remainder of the custard. Cool mixture slightly. Beat egg whites stiff with cream of tartar. Beat in sugar. Fold into warm custard. Pour this over the chocolate pie filling. Chill several hours. Spread pie with whipped cream and sprinkle with shaved sweet chocolate. Cut into 6 or 8 wedges.

OLD WORLD CHRISTMAS HONEY CAKE

3 eggs
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
3 Tbs. melted butter
1 tsp. grated orange peel
1½ tsp. grated lemon peel
¾ cup honey
2½ cups flour
¾ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. soda
1 tsp salt
½ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. cloves
⅓ cup strong coffee
¼ cup orange juice or cider

Beat eggs until thick and frothy, gradually beat in brown sugar until mixture is creamy. Blend in butter, orange peel, lemon peel and honey. Sift flour, measure, then sift again with baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Add dry ingredients alternately with coffee and orange juice to the honey mixture. Blend until smooth. Line a 10" x 5" x 3" loaf pan with greased wax paper and pour in batter. Bake at 350° for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Cool for ½ hour before removing from pan. Remove waxed paper from cooled cake. Sift powdered sugar on top or spread with:

ALMOND BRITTLE TOPPING

3 Tbs. honey
½ cup toasted almonds
⅓ cup sugar
3 Tbs. butter
⅛ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. vanilla

Chop almonds. Blend with honey, sugar, butter, salt, cinnamon and vanilla in a saucepan. Heat until mixture begins to boil. Remove from heat and cool before spreading. Mixture may be re-heated slightly if too hard.

ECON-O-WISE WITH THIS BOOKLET

Are American homemakers getting the most out of their food dollar? Frances Cook, nutritionist in the University of California's Agricultural Extension Service at Berkeley, believes that many homemakers could serve more nutritious and attractive meals for less money.

She points out that the average family spends one-third of its net income for food.

To insure being "econ-o-wise" with these food dollars, Miss Cook urges homemakers to plan their menus and shop carefully.

She offers many helpful suggestions on meal development and food purchasing in two booklets, "Balance Food Values and Cents" and "Saving Ways in Food Buying."

The publications can be obtained by writing Mrs. Virginia Porter, Home Advisor for the Agricultural Extension Service in Marin County, P.O. Box 457, San Rafael, or call at the office at 738 "A" Street.

Saigon Salad

NEW YORK (UPI) — Saigon salad is a fruit-filled dish suitable for dessert. Rinse, halve and seed 1½ cups of Tokay grapes. Pare core and dice 1 fresh pear. Cut 1 banana in wedges. Pare and section 1 large orange. Toss fruit lightly with a mixture of ½ cup of commercial sour cream, 3 tablespoons of muscatel wine, 1 teaspoon of sugar, ¼ to ½ teaspoon of ginger and a dash of salt. Chill. Serve on salad greens topped with ¼ cup of toasted coconut. Serves 5 to 6.

Molasses Fruit Cake Good Gift

Here's a Christmas gift suggestion which rates a place of distinction on the holiday table. It's a rich molasses fruit cake all done up in its Yuletide finery. Better have enough ingredients on hand for two cakes.

INGREDIENTS

1 cup butter (½ pound)
2 cups brown sugar, packed
2¼ cups sifted flour
⅓ tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. each mace & cloves
½ tsp. salt
5 eggs
½ pound dates, cut up
1 pound raisins
1 cup moist mincemeat
3 pounds mixed chopped glace fruit
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1 cup chopped pecans (whole if small)
1 cup dark molasses
½ cup cider, brandy or fruit juice

METHOD: Cream butter and sugar. Sift together dry ingredients. Beat eggs until very light. Combine fruit and nuts and sift a few tablespoons of previously prepared dry ingredients over them. Toss and mix so pieces are lightly coated. Thoroughly blend creamed mixture with beaten eggs. Stir in fruit. Mix dark molasses with liquid, then alternately with dry ingredients to fruit mixture. Divide batter between 2 or more greased and paper lined loaf pans depending on number of cakes desired. Bake in slow oven (250-degree F.) about 3 hours, or until done and top is firm to touch. Makes approximately 5 pounds of cake, or 2 (9 x 5 x 3) loaves. FOR GIFTING: Bake fruit cakes in decorative pans and decorate to suit shape.

(To decorate after baking: brush top of cake with hot corn syrup or melted jelly).

A PERFECT GIFT for Christmas which rates a place of distinction on the holiday table is this rich molasses fruitcake. When the aroma wafts through the house your own family will be wanting one for themselves.

REVIEWING THE PROGRAM with Mrs. J. Parrish Pike are Adaline E. Kent students, Tom Soden and Lynn McFarland. The 1:30 p.m. program, directed by Mrs. Frances Brodie, will also feature as guest speaker Stanley Rutherford. Mr. Rutherford, a teacher at Brookside School, was a Fulbright exchange teacher in England last year. He will tell of Christmas in England. (Independent-Journal photos)

Rosarium Will Elect New Staff

Officers of Rosarium Institute 175 Young Ladies Institute will be elected at tomorrow night's meeting at St. Patrick's Parish Hall, Larkspur. The meeting begins at 8 o'clock.

The institute will have its annual Christmas party on Dec. 15 at the Corte Madera residence of Mrs. Lawrence Arntz.

At the recent meeting of Rosarium, Miss Rose Marie Gambini, grand president, made her official visit. She told of the progress of the institutes in the state and presented its charter to Rosarium. Miss Claire Skidmore reported on the institute's activities during the year and presented a book of newspaper clippings recording institute events, to the grand president.

Representatives of many institutes in the Bay Area were present to honor the grand president. Other distinguished guests were Miss Loretto O'Rourke, grand treasurer; Mrs. Iris Rued, grand director; Mrs. James Lopez, district deputy; and Mrs. James Hines, institute deputy.

Miss Skidmore was chairman for the evening. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Marin Women

Marin's History Outlined For El Marinero Chapter's Meet

Florence Donnelly, Women's editor of the Independent Journal, and a founder-director of the Marin County Historical Society, was the speaker at the luncheon meeting of El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the Greenbrae home of Mrs. Richard E. Mittelstaedt. Co-hostesses were Mesdames Roger P. Garety, Boswell F. King, Hilton J. Simon and Gustave Karl Zantow.

Mrs. Donnelly, whose topic was "Early Marin" was introduced by Mrs. Kenneth R. Gregory, chapter regent. The speaker said that a few centuries ago the only inhabitants in Marin were Indians, who lived near the water, wherever they could obtain their food. The Indians were Coast Miwoks. Some dug clams in Tomales Bay, hence the misnomer, Digger Indians. The Indians lived in rude shelters, wickiups, covered with brush and willow branches.

In 1817, the Franciscan fathers came to San Rafael, and chose the site for their mission on land facing San Francisco Bay. On December 14, 1817, the cross was raised on the site of the present replica. There was just one priest, and he with the help of the friendly Indians built the mission. He taught the natives how to make adobe bricks, also taught them various crafts. The mission land at that time extended as far as the present Greyhound bus depot, and was planted in vineyards, orchards and corn. The priest often had to travel to the hinterlands which were inhabited by hostile Indians.

When the missions were started California was under Spanish rule. There were 21 missions in all, San Rafael being the 20th and Sonoma the 21st. These missions had to provide food also for the military as the presidios and the missions were established together, and the missions were the educational centers.

When the Mexicans took over California in 1832, all the land was taken away from the missions, the priests had to flee and the Indians were sent on their way, and the missions became headquarters for Mexican Government officers.

El Marinero, from whom the local D.A.R. Chapter was named, through research done by Mrs. Donnelly, was adept with oars and his name means "The Sailor," as he made regular trips between Marin and San Francisco. He was captured by the Mexicans and taken to the mission.

In all, there were about 30 land grants in Marin County. The first white settler was Irish born, John Reed, whose grant included the now Belvedere-Kentfield, Ross area. The second white settler, Capt. William Richardson, who grant was the present Sausalito, built the first adobe building in San Francisco in the 1830s. A very colorful character, Don Timoteo Murphy came as a commissioner of the Indians. He had a grant of San Rafael on adjacent land, and built his two story adobe home in what is now the center of the city.

After 1846 and United States occupation, there was a period of transition and of anxiety for the people who owned ranches. The state grew rapidly from after 1848 and the gold rush, and when California became a state in 1850, Marin was one of the original counties.

Mrs. Gregory welcomed two members into the chapter, Mesdames William J. Brown and Edwin W. Thomas.

Guests were Mrs. Edward Ehmann, Mrs. Simon's mother and a member of Multonomah Chapter D.A.R. of Portland, Ore., Mrs. R. E. Green, mother of Mrs. Robert E. Munter, and a member of Crater Lake Chapter, D.A.R. of Medford, Ore., and Mesdames Persis A. Stanley,, Andrew Komora and Herbert G. Pratt.

Northern Council D.A.R. will meet on Friday, Dec. 2 at the Bellevue Hotel, in San Francisco.

White-Neff Vows Traded

Mrs. Elizabeth Neff of King's Beach, Lake Tahoe, and Clarence T. White of Mill Valley were married Sunday in a 5 o'clock ceremony performed in the Mill Valley home of the bridegroom. Members of the immediate families only were present.

Rev. Harold Johnson of Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley officiated at the single ring rites.

The bride wore a green brocade dress, matching cage veil and lavender orchid corsage.

Serving as her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Emmett Stout of Redding, Calif. She was attired in a tan dress embroidered in black and white and completed her costume with a black cage veil. Her corsage was a green orchid.

The bridegroom's only son, William A. White of Richmond, Calif., was his best man.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served.

White has his own business in San Francisco. The couple will live at his home on Cascade Drive.

Health Hint

NEW YORK (UPI) — When an injury requires a dressing, be sure you use sterile gauze pads. Otherwise, the wound might become infected while it is healing.

LEARN ABOUT ENGAGEMENT AT DINNER

At a recent family dinner party Mr. and Mrs. Ken Christie of Woodacre announced the engagement of their elder daughter, Claudia Jean, to Paul White. Both of the young people were graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, where their romance began, in June.

The bride-elect has one sister, Joanne. Paul, son of Mrs. Emma White of San Anselmo, has a brother, Dennis. A wedding next August is being planned by the engaged couple.

Psychiatrist Speaks To Nursery Group

Dr. J. M. Stubblebine was guest speaker at the recent meeting of the San Anselmo Cooperative Nursery School members at College of Marin's Olney Hall.

The topic "Sexual Awareness" in the pre-school child was briefly discussed by Dr. Stubblebine preceding a question and answer session dealing with individual situations.

Dr. Stubblebine who practices in San Rafael, is psychiatric consultant for Marin County Juvenile Hall. He is director of the psychiatric unit at Ross Hospital.

Church To Hold Family Dinner In Mill Valley

A family dinner will be held in the Mill Valley Community Church Parish Hall Friday starting with carol singing at 6:10 p.m. under the direction of Don Fleenor.

Each family is asked to bring a salad and favorite main dish. Dessert will be provided and included in the small charge per family.

After dinner families will make advent candle stands and each family is asked to bring a knife for carving the plastic candle holders. Candles and greens will be provided.

A short Christmas film will be shown for the children

Reservations should be made by noon Thursday with Mrs. Roger Lescohier or Mrs. Richard S. Beedle, both of Mill Valley.

Floor Polisher

A new line of floor polishers scrubs, waxes, polishes, shampoos. The polishers have been designed to make home care easier and more efficient.

Novato's Westlund Auxiliary Plans Party At Yountsville

Members of the Donald V. Westlund Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary No. 7816, of Novato, will go to the Yountville Veterans Home, at Yountville, Napa County, again on Dec. 4 to take part in the annual Christmas party put on by all the Veteran of Foreign Wars Posts and Auxiliaries of the 16th District.

Residents of the Home and the Holderman Hospital, of the home, will be visited, and each one will be presented with a gift. Cupcakes will be furnished by the auxiliary members, as a part of the dessert for the dinner.

Each auxiliary tries to contribute some entertainment for the program that is presented at the theater in the afternoon. For the ninth year, Donald V. Westlund will be represented by students from the Novato Accordion Studio, under the direction of Mrs. Grover Owen. They will leave the VFW Hall at 10 a.m., going as a caravan, and arriving in time to have dinner in the main dining room, with the veterans of the home.

Students taking part this year are: Hiram Steele, Kay Kallmayer; Dennis Fay; Sondra Williams; Edward Salmina; Eddie Sears; Sherrill Griffin; Barbara Lund; Sharon Jackson; Randy Turrini; Donna Charpier; Rosemary Gooch; Shirley Bomio; Sharon Bomio, and Jeanette Eccles. Vocal soloists are Lynne Walline and Lorraine Moberg. For the majority of these students it will be their first trip to the home.

At the last district meeting of the 16th district Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, Donald V. Westlund donated 50 wash cloths for the Yountville Veterans Home.

Donald V. Westlund, also adopted another veteran. Financially, many of the men have no income at all, to buy a cup of coffee, or bar of candy or other small items. It is pitiful on bank days, for those who have no bank accounts. The auxiliary will send a set amount to the commandant, to be credited to a veteran, and once a week, he will be allowed to draw a part of his account to last that week. His account will be replenished once a month.

If other organizations are interested in adopting a veteran in this way, contact Mrs. Louis Cavallero, president of the VFW Auxiliary for further information.

Wedding In The North

Mrs. Paul Strahm of Greenbae will take the train north to attend the marriage of her son, Robert Strahm, to Angelina MacPherson on Dec. 11 in Spokane, Wash. The bride-elect is a Boston girl. Mrs. Strahm will leave on Dec. 7.

ANTICIPATING FAIR SKIES FOR THE BOOK FAIR, Ross P-TA workers pause to enjoy refreshments at the sidewalk cafe which will be one of the features of the sale, to be held in the former Maryon Taylor Shop on Ross Common from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Dec. 1, 2 and 3. In addition to books and "Art Packs" from San Rafael shops, the "Sense-ational" fair will offer gourmet gifts, a wide selection of records, and gift wrapping service. Talking over their Christmas lists are, from left, Mesdames LeRoy Page, Victors Furst, William Zimmerman, Charles Doyle, and Joseph Guthrie. (Nan Jones photo)

Georgina Johnson, worthy matron of the Mill Valley Chapter of the Eastern Star, and Miss Karin Johnson will pour.

CAROL LONG will be installed as honored queen of Mill Valley's Bethel 119 of Job's Daughters on Saturday evening, Dec. 3, at the Masonic Temple. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Long of Mill Valley.

Dominican Winter Frolic Saturday

Time, talent and legal tender —these are the ingredients for a successful charity bazaar, and this is the recipe the Dominican Upper School students and their mothers are using for this coming Saturday's Winter Frolic to be held in the school gymnasium from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Fred Enemark, mothers of the students have been instructing girls in the art of making Christmas decorations, holiday aprons, stuffed animals, cookie trays (with cookies!) and a wide assortment of other holiday gift items.

To sustain shoppers, there will be a luncheon served from 11 o'clock until 3 p.m. And to make life simple for the woman of the house, salads, roast chickens and desserts for dinner that night will be hers for the legal tender.

Mrs. Enemark has been assisted by Mesdames Ray L. Hamilton, Joseph Hickingbotham, Richard Jackson, John Healy, W. S. Briscoe, J. E. Applebaum, C. H. Merrill Jr., C. W. Caletti, Noble Hamilton, Paul E. Nielson Jr., L. L. Olds, Thomas C. Plant Jr., Edward Vest, Arnold Bertolli, Joseph J. Bregante, Bert Broemmel, Paul Fasal, E. J. Ragghianti, A. F. Schmitz, R. W. Daly, W. H. Grace, W. T. Griswold, E. R. Rice and R L. Shirley.

ITS DECORATION TIME at Dominican for the Upper School students as they prepare for the annual Christmas Bazaar "Winter Frolic" to be held in the school gymnasium on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. From left are Frances Walker, Diane Randall, Judy Loizeaux, Sandy Ping, Virginia McKee and Pat Bishop.

Marin Scouts Participate In Thanksgiving Project

A Thanksgiving service project was one of the activities in which Marin Girl Scouts have participated in recently.

Table centerpieces were made by Troop 235 for use on Thanksgiving Day at Lucas Valley County Hospital and Farm. The seventh graders from Santa Venetia Junior High School used autumn leaves, cones, nuts and dried weeks, as well as miniature turkeys for the arrangement.

They carried out this service project with their leaders Mesdames Ned Hassan, William Loeber and John Vindigni. They recently completed a requirement of the Good Grooming badge by spending an afternoon at the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio, where the Scouts learned about skin care.

Second grade Bel Aire Troop hiked to Bootjack Camp on Mt. Tamalpais recently where they collected fir cones. The 12 Brownies made small turkeys from the cones at their following meeting. The cone "turkeys," as well as large cut-out paper turkeys they also made, were used as decorations at each Brownie's Thanksgiving dinner table. Their leader is Mrs. Paul Blair.

St. Anselm's seventh grade Troop 238 made use of the fine fall weather by fulfilling the requirements and earning their Swimmer Badge. Mrs. Per Rundberg, a Red Cross water safety instructor, gave the course at the Kent Woodlands home of Mrs. Vincent Sullivan. After completing their badge requirements, the Intermediate Scouts honored Mrs. Rundberg and Mrs. Sullivan at a party where Mrs. Rundberg presented each girl with the Girl Scout Swimmer's Badge Certificate. Leaders of Troop 238 are Mrs. Manuel Dos Reis and Mrs. Henry Laverty.

A first birthday party was celebrated by Brownie Scout Troop 64 at the home of Mrs. J. Murray Fox. The Bel Aire School third graders made nut cups for their party, which was highlighted by a cake, decorated with "Happy Birthday" Troop 64." Mrs. Richard Hart, their leader, was assisted by troop mothers.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"Well, you're all set in case you ever want to walk around the world!"

Temptation To Shoplift Is Greater

NEW YORK (UPI)—The temptation to shoplift becomes greater and greater.

So says Saul Nesbitt, director of a packaging and industrial design firm in New York.

A study by the research department of the firm shows that easy access to more and more kinds of merchandise in supermarkets and variety stores invites shopper theft.

The study consisted of interviews with managers of self-service stores, chain store executives and manufacturers.

"Our study indicates that today's larcenous shopper is a pretty ingenious person," Nesbett said, "and the unguarded array of displayed products gives him or her a marvelous opportunity to exercise that ingenuity."

He cited the following examples of resourcefulness among shoplifters:

—The supermarket customer who desires a large bottle — a 79 cent jug of salad dressing rather than the 41 cent size. Under pretense of reaching a decision, she loiters in front of the display and furtively switches the bottle caps upon which the prices are stamped. There's a good chance her switch of bottle caps will go undetected at the check-out counter.

—The light-fingered lady who doesn't hesitate to heist a small size item and slide it into a package already in her cart for tallying at the check-out counter. Result: she gains by carrying out one unpaid for article.

Generally, Nesbitt said, pilfering in self-service stores is becoming more difficult to control. Among other problems he cited are the huge tote-bag purses, fashionable, but also a boon to the female shoplifter.

"Few customers realize that the loss of goods pilfered in self-service stores runs into millions annually," said Nesbitt.

"Fewer than 20 per cent of those interviewed appreciated the fact that the consumer was the one who was ultimately out of pocket every time a shoplifter made a successful heist."

New Deodorant

A new aerosol deodorant destroys all types of odors and leaves no fragrance of its own. The deodorant kills odors by chemical means instead of simply masking them by loading the air with a perfume. It has long been known that odors in the air are caused by microscopic particles that are produced by cooking, smoking and other activities. The new odor-killing compound attacks these airborne particles neutralizing them.

Pretty Treat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coffee cake mix makes a party-pretty treat when you add 2 tablespoons of finely chopped maraschino cherries to the ingredients before mixing. Top batter with 2 tablespoons of slivered almonds and sprinkle with cinnamon topping that comes with the mix. Bake as directed.

Humane Society Auxiliaries Holiday Luncheon, Dec. 15

As Christmas comes merrily with the fun of shopping, the family gatherings, the many parties, the joy of giving . . . all the exciting whirl of the season now happily with us . . . to enhance your holiday mood, the Humane Society Auxiliaries, Senior and Junior groups, invite guests to a luncheon and style show at Bob's of Marin, Corte Madera at 12:30 o'clock on Thursday, Dec. 15.

As Merry as Christmas, will be the fashions from a San Rafael shop featuring festive party gowns from the houses of California designers, and brilliant, bold, beauteous accessories; also in the parade of fashions co-ordinated by Sara Campbell, will be daytime and playtime clothes for town and country living, styled to carry you well into spring.

Wishing all a joyous holiday and modeling fashions for your pleasure at the Human Society's Dec. 15 gala will be members from the recently formed Junior Auxiliary: Mesdames Peter Fitz-Hugh, George Coburn, William Deeths, and Boyd Lang. From the Mannequin League of Marin Mesdames Ted Schuster, E. J. Walters, Les Vogel Jr., and Norman Sanguinetti will also be in the fashion promenade.

The holiday benefit to aid the Marin Humane Society is under the general chairmanship of auxiliary members Mrs. George Rivers and Mrs. Lewis Denton, who will be assisted by Mrs. Simon Erlanger, special arrangements chairman, and general committee members Mesdames Jack Bataiff, Raymond Hawley, Gustave Burgren and Louis C. Roth.

Reservations for the Dec. 15 luncheon-fashion event may be made with Bob's of Marin or with auxiliary members Vera Rivers, San Rafael.

Dinner Parties For Kenya Students

Mrs. Harold Green of Belvedere-Tiburon and Mrs. Peter Behr of Mill Valley entertained students from Kenya Monday night at dinner parties in their homes.

The students are currently attending Bay Area colleges and were in Marin to hear Dr. Gikonyo Kiano, Kenya's minister of commerce and finance, speak on "Africa, the World and the West" at the College of Marin Monday night.

San Rafael P-TA Council Sets Meet

San Rafael Parent-Teacher Assn. Council will meet on Friday at 9:30 a.m. to hear a member of the city's recreation department express his views on the probable effect on community recreation, should the proposed new city hall be near Albert Field. The meeting will be held in the offices of Frank Lucas, San Rafael superintendent of schools.

Other business at Friday's meeting will be formulation of plans for a Parliamentary Procedure class to be held in the spring under the leadership of Mrs. George Beanston of San Francisco. Mrs. Beanston has long been a parliamentarian in P-TA and other organizations. The decision of San Rafael P-TA Council to sponsor such a course is a result of the Parliamentarians' Conference held at the November P-TA Council meeting.

Church Women Set Date For Yule Luncheon

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Mill Valley Methodist Church will hold its Christmas luncheon and program Tuesday, Dec. 6.

President Mrs. Clyde Butterfield will open the business meeting at 11 a.m. in the youth room. At 12:15 p.m., a turkey luncheon will be served in the fellowship hall under the direction of Mrs. William D. Wood, assisted by Mesdames B. D. Johnson, A. G. Hughes and Paul Brown.

Mrs. Wood asks that reservations be made either at the church office or by calling Mrs. Albert Hughes. Mrs. Roy Driver is decorations chairman. Hand-made Christmas articles for sale will be displayed on a table.

Following devotions by Mrs. Matthew Parchuck the program will be turned over to co-chairmen Mesdames Charles Sutton and Earl Linman. It will consist of organ and piano music played by Mrs. Dale Danley and Mrs. Edgar Nelson, solos by Mrs. Charles Henson and community singing of carols.

Early Freezers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Egyptians, about the time the first pyramids were being built, pioneered a method of refrigeration whose principles, considerably refined, are used today.

They filled shallow earthen jars with boiling water and exposed them to the night air on the roofs of houses. Slaves kept the outsides of the jars moistened and the resulting evaporation cooled the water. Carried to them by fast slave messengers, the Egyptian nobles had civilization's first running cold water.

PATRICIA EILEEN HUGHES

PATRICIA HUGHES ENGAGED TO SAMUEL LOY OF PENNSYLVANIA

At a family dinner party last Sunday the engagement of Patricia Eileen Hughes of Mill Valley and Samuel Frank Loy, Jr., of Monroeville, Pa., was announced.

Patty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Hughes of Mill Valley. Her maternal grandmother is Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes of Half Moon Bay and her paternal grandfather is James P. Brown of Mill Valley. She attended Marin Catholic High School for one year and transferred to Tamalpais High School from which she graduated. She is employed at the Marin County Abstract and Title Company in San Rafael, and serves as a Pink Lady at Marin General Hospital.

Sam's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frank Loy of Monroeville. He has one brother George who also lives in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Mary Pike of Pennsylvania is his grandmother. Sam is a graduate of Brownsville, (Pa.) High School and, with his father, is in the real estate business. He spent four years in the United States Air Force.

A spring wedding is planned and the young couple will make their home in Pennsylvania.

JOHN RAITT TO BE GUEST AT LUNCHEON

John Raitt, handsome star of "Destry Rides Again" now playing in San Francisco, will be welcomed as a special guest at tomorrow's Fashions With A View" at the Ondine in Sausalito.

Raitt will arrive by boat and dock at the Ondine at noon along with prominent San Franciscans who will attend the luncheon.

Light Switch

The newest wall light switch plate gives off a soft emerald light when the switch is turned off so it can be easily located in the dark. When the light switch is turned on, the panel light goes out. Also new in the electro-luminescent field are signs for house numbers and names. When plugged in, these stay lighted all night.

Bridge Winners Are Announced

A large group met on the eve of Thanksgiving at the Jewish Community Center for bridge.

First place in North-South play went to Elsie Sigman and Edith Van Gutman. Hazel Strittmatter and Vera Batug, second; June Gunther and William Grueth, third.

East-West winners were Ed and Cathy Foehr, first; Cap and Lura Crossley, second; Orpha Farmer and George Baker, third.

Winners of the Tuesday Bridge Club were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fisher, first; Almina Hart, Dort Smickler, second, tie; Florence Sollom, Grace Kretchmer, third; Helen Donnan, Mrs. Fein La.

Seminary Group Has Installation

San Francisco Theological Seminary's Auxiliary in San Anselmo held a special meeting on Monday at the First Presbyterian Church in Hayward. New officers were installed at the luncheon.

Mrs. S. J. Hudson Ballard of Novato was welcomed as the organization's new president of the Northern Area by Dr. James Miller, director of the office of Seminary Development.

Mrs. V. Webner Wiedemann was elected as representative-at-large.

Outgoing officers are Mesdames Hazelle Baily, Robert Glaze, Grace Taylor and Helen Smith.

Unitarian Women Holding Bazaar

The Women's Alliance of the Unitarian Church of Marin is holding its Christmas bazaar on Saturday at Tamalpais Centre Women's Clubhouse in Kentfield. It will open at 11 a.m. and end at 4 p.m. Luncheon will be served at noon. Bridge will be played during the afternoon. Players are asked to bring their own cards. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Albert Williams of Corte Madera, general chairman, or Mrs. William O'Brien of Mill Valley, her assistant.

Mrs. John Robert, chairman of the bazaar, announces that on sale will be all kinds of holiday goodies and an assortment for gifts. A white elephant table will be another attraction.

GORDON COLLINS of Mill Valley, caller for the Cornhuskers of Marin, who will call for Novice Square Dance Jamboree Saturday night at Isabel Cook School.

Pomona College Alumni Day Planned Saturday

Several hundred alumni and friends of Pomona College will gather at the Canterbury Hotel in San Francisco Saturday for the college's first Alumni Day with the faculty in the Bay Area.

A team of four Pomona professors will lecture at two afternoon sessions. Registration will begin at noon.

Dr. John H. Kemble, professor of history, will lecture on "San Francisco's Changing Embarcadero" and Dr. Chen Shou-li, professor of Oriental affairs, will lecture on the subject "Whither East Asia" at the 2:30 p.m. sessions.

Dr. Chester G. Jaeger, professor of mathematics, will talk on "Mathematics the Queen of the Sciences" and Dr. Edward Sanders, dean of students and admissions, will speak on "American Prestige and Student Exchange Programs—Asset or Liability?" at 4 p.m. lectures. President E. Wilson Lyon will greet the alumni at a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. A social hour will be held following the lectures.

James Parker Wilson, head of the World Trade Department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, is general chairman of the Bay Area Alumni activities. Co-chairmen for the day are Albert E. Schawabacher Jr. of Schwabacher & Co., investment brokers, and Leland A. Doan of the Dow Chemical Co. The alumni clubs of the Bay Area are sponsoring the event.

Does Bridge District Need $12,000 Per Year Aide?

Appointment of an administrative assistant to the general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge must have been as much of a surprise to the directors of the bridge as it did to the toll payers.

Certainly it was not in the budget for this year. When that document was adopted only a few months ago, there was not even any discussion of such a position or of the need for it.

The big question is, why does General Manager James Adam, who gets $21,800 per year, need a $12,000 per year assistant at this time?

There isn't any clear answer to the question. Adam told the bridge directors that the new assistant, William H. Hendricks of San Rafael, would be mainly used to relieve Adam of administrative details, prepare special studies and make public contacts.

That sounds like a worthwhile job for an assistant if you answer one more question: Relieve Adam of these duties so he can do what?

Is there something coming up that hasn't existed in the last six years, since Adam became general manager in July, 1954? He hasn't needed or asked for an assistant in that time.

Will Adam be spending more of his time fighting the proposed Golden Gate Authority?

Will Adam become a more or less full time lobbyist in Sacramento when the session starts in January? Why? At the last general session the directors budgeted an additional $10,000 for a lobbyist, as they did this year, but never hired one. Adam was able to handle both his job at the bridge and legislation at Sacramento.

If this great activity, either in Sacramento or against the Golden Gate Authority idea, is necessary, didn't Adam know it when the budget was up for discussion so that the whole idea could be aired?

Perhaps we're all wrong in our analysis of what the new assistant's job will be. If so, this is our main point. No one seems to be quite sure.

It will take the toll from 78,000 commuter crossings to pay the new assistant's salary.

Is this expenditure necessary?

The Big Question

The big question we constantly run up against in writing these nature editorials is the universal—why?

Why do the birds fly south in winter?

How are the colors of the flowers determined?

Where did our universe come from?

Why do boyfrogs like girlfrogs?

What makes a sparrow sing?

Science has its theories. But much of Nature is still surrounded by deep mystery.

Frankly we enjoy a little mystery. If science could explain everything, life would be a mite dull.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

HE LEFT MORE THAN MONEY

When Gene Fowler, newspaper man and author died decently, he left an unusual will. In it he expressed the hope that his wife, to whom he left "more than $10,000," would approve "the fact that I have given such small attention to the material prizes of the world."

The nobility of the career which Mr. Fowler regarded as a holy vocation was reflected in this explanatory comment: "There comes a time in the life of every artist when he must decide between the objectives of moneyed ease and/or the sure prospect of lonely struggle and sacrifice and lack of recognition until he grows old or is dead. The latter choice was mine."

If your life is marked by an unselfish determination to inspire or better the lives of others, you'll probably never get rich or leave a fortune. But you'll certainly leave the world better than you found it and make an investment that will last for all eternity.

"Charge the rich of this world not to be proud or to trust in the uncertainty of riches, but in god."

(I Timothy 6:17)

Inspire me, O Holy Spirit, to put into life, not merely to take out.

Want Fur Coat For Christmas? Well, Here's A Way To Get One

YOURVILLE, U.S.A. (AP) — Trellis Mae Peeble, America's most average housewife, is getting a new fur coat for Christmas.

Listen to her tale, ladies—it may show you a way to get a fur coat, too.

One evening early last week Wilbur Peeble was lying on the sofa, dressed in his pajamas and robe, and drinking a can of beer as he watched a posse on the television screen riding to head off the rustlers at Eagle Pass.

The doorbell rang. Wilbur grunted, rose and opened the door.

There stood Miss Hortense Schlemp, the pretty blonde secretary who lives in the apartment overhead with her widowed mother. Hortense was clad only in a filmy pair of pajamas.

She stepped quickly into the room and asked, "Where's Trellis Mae?"

"Playing bridge with some of her biddy buddies," replied Wilbur. "But she should be back any moment. Why, what's up?"

"Well, silly me!" said Hortense. "I went out in the hall to put something in the incinerator, and the darned old door locked shut after me.

"My mother's asleep in the bedroom. I rang and rang the doorbell but I can't wake her up.

"I hate to go down in the elevator—dressed like this—to borrow a key from the superintendent. I wonder if you'd mind doing it for me."

"Sure thing," said Wilbur.

Soon as I toss on a few clothes. Here, let me fix you a beer while you're waiting."

He got Hortense the beer, then disappeared into the bedroom. Wilbur had time only to slip into his pants and one slipper when the bell rang again.

It was his wife, Trellis Mae.

"Well, aren't we cozy?" she said coldly.

Wilbur reddened to the ears.

"Hortense accidentally locked herself out," he said lamely. "I was just going down to get a key."

"You sure thought that one up fast, didn't you?" said his wife.

When Wilbur returned later after letting Hortense into her apartment, Trellis Mae was in bed her face turned to the wall.

For days she gave Wilbur the silent treatment. Then he crumbled.

"YOU KNOW that fur coat you been wanting for 15 years," he pleaded. "I'll give it to you for Christmas if you'll just tell me you believe me."

"Okay," said Trellis Mae, majestically. "I forgive you—this time."

AS SOON AS Wilbur left, Trellis Mae ran to the apartment above, where Hortense and her mother were having coffee.

"It worked!" she cried. "He's going to give me the fur coat."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Criminals Must Be Controlled

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have read with deep concern your report of the 23-year-old San Rafael resident who has been arrested for the 25th time in five years, has spent 38 months in the county jail, and is now under arrest.

It seems incredible that our authorities can sanction the treatment this case has received, the continuing challenge to life, security and decency with which the community has been and is faced.

I do not know where the responsibility rests. But I am clear that in the interests of the county an investigation is demanded and I venture to suggest that your paper, with its high standards and broad influence, is in a position to lead the public to insist on a more competent and effective administration of justice.

Marin County is receiving harsh criticism in many quarters for its failure to control its citizens. The case you report supports that criticism and it invites repetition.

The issue of adequate and proper control of proven criminals should be met head on. As a community we should clean house.

Editorial Writer Standing On Head

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Whoever wrote your incredible Nov. 21 editorial, "Ballot Recount Wouldn't Be Good If Nixon Wins," must have been standing on his head at the time.

If enough errors were found so that Nixon would be elected President, it wouldn't be good for the country, your editorial writer said. People, he felt, would look upon it as unAmerican, a sore loser administration.

This is like accusing a storekeeper who is held up and robbed of being a sore loser if he complains to the police!

Since when has it become un-American for the people to stand up for their rights, including the right to an honest count of their ballots? If the Democratic machines have voted wetback in Texas and tombstones in Chicago, are those Americans who voted for Republicans supposed to accept the rigged results for fear of offending people abroad? Incidentally, whom did your editorial writer have in mind—Khrushchev?

As for the comment in the editorial that "this is no time for our nation to be split," we will all be better off if we realize that the nation is split — on almost precisely a 50-50 basis. At least half of all American voters—and maybe more—want to part of Jack Kennedy's "New Frontier." If nothing else, the recount movement dramatizes the extreme closeness of the election and the fact that at least half of our people have no wish nor intention to be part of a howling mob following a young man on horseback.

Misses Column By Lippmann

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have missed Walter Lippman's column recently and hope that his absence will not be permanent.

His insight and clear expression are so rare in journalism today that it would be unfortunate to lose touch with his ideas.

RUTH AFIFI

(NOTE: Lippmann's absence is only temporary. He has taken a month off and will return to the I-J pages shortly.)

Understand Where Money Is To Go

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In your front page report headed "Tam Schools Bond Ballot Slated Again," the opening paragraph refers to "a three million dollar bond issue to expand Drake, Redwood and Tamalpais High Schools," and in the closing paragraph you report that the "bond issue would provide funds for new classrooms" etc. at the three schools.

In the interest of honest reporting, the whole truth, and the importance of an informed electorate, the I-J story should have stated that the three million dollar bond issue is also to provide funds for the acquisition of a fifth high school site.

If the voters approve the repeat proposal, let us do so fully understanding that the money is not only to be used for expansion but for additional land in a section not yet disclosed nor officially designated. In both features stories submitted by the citizen's committee and in the news stories of the press, the dual purpose of the bond proposal was virtually ignored prior to the October special election. There must be some good reasons why the trustees feel it is important to jeopardize the necessary expansion of the existing three schools by including site acquisition in the same proposal. The reading public and voters are entitled to know why.

Is there a gentlemen's agreement between the press, the trustees, and the citizen's committee to give the impression that the three million dollar bond issue is to be used only for development of Redwood, Drake, and Tamalpais high schools under the threat of double sessions?

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Dr. Richard Van Gelder of the Museum of Natural History in New York is authority for the pronouncement that skunks are just as unpopular with other skunks as they are with human beings. He bases his theory on three demonstrable points:

1. Skunks avoid splattering their distinctive scents on themselves.
2. They never use the weapon against each other.
3. They fire at an enemy only as a last resort.

The skunk's unfailing warning never fails to stop other animals in their tracks. "Even grizzly bears," asserts Dr. Van Gelder, "have been known to beat a precipitate retreat when that tail goes up."

A dachshund was waddling down the middle of a country road when a small foreign automobile scared it half to death. "What on earth are you?" gasped the dachshund. "An automobile," was the answer.

"Hmphh," barked the dachshund (try barking a "hmphh" yourself some time). "Then I'm a HORSE."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

TV Might Use Moon-Bound Mice, Whistling Pigeons Or Musical Dogs

My good neighbor Eloise Keeler of 171 Bolsa Avenue, Mill Valley, is hunting for mice.

As she is owner of a couple of fine cats this seems not too surprising.

Miss Keeler isn't, however, scrounging free provender. It would be against her personal union rules anyhow, since she is editor of Pet Life magazine freely circulated nationwide in pet shops, which look with favor on pet food (for sale in packages).

The only mice they favor are the rubber kind, to be had at a price.

BUT GETTING back to Eloise. It seems she has a TV program telling about the cute doings of animals. To keep this program going she needs animals.

Recently she got Herman, the terrible tomcat. He was "nice," she reports.

Forever searching high and low for animals (pets requiring paid-for food obtainable from pet stores), Miss Keeler as last resort looked in this column. And guess what, she read about, another neighbor who trains mice to fly to the moon.

He does this for the U.S. Navy. For all I know, he and his mice are very security conscious. I never got any details about what goes on. Maybe they class with the latest in rockets, kept very hush-hush (aside from such publicity media as this column, which is virtually secret).

They may be hush-hush until they've flown to the moon, then, of course, Miss Keeler and everybody could star them on TV, news magazines, scientific journals and so on. (But remember, you read about them first in this column, or did you?)

Anyway I have given Eloise mouse-trainer Ed's phone number and hope for the best.

MEANWHILE I have another project on the fire. It has to do with pigeons. Not eatin' pigeons—whistlin' ones.

Back in Peking when I was young and handsome, or anyhow young, I used to feel gay when a flight of pigeons took to the air and wheeled about whistling like mad.

They did this because their Chinese owners had tied tiny lightweight bamboo whistles to their tails. When they flew they gave off sound like a jet, except that jets weren't even dreamed of then. Also, jets propel where as pigeons furnished pigeon-power.

ANOTHER GUY named Jim Howe, son of Ol Ed Howe, the philosopher of Potato Hill, Kans., whose weekly newspaper of philosophy I used to take—well, as I was saying, Jim went to Peking for Associated Press. Not only did he hear the pigeons, but he bought a lot of their whistles.

Finally he retired. Now he is over in Walnut Creek, Contra Costa, flying whistling pigeons and wanting somebody to use them on TV. It looks like ideal supply and demand.

The only catch is get pigeons to fly in a TV studio. That's for Eloise to work out.

IF SHE CARES to import two poodle pals of mine from Sante Fe (this should interest her as she owns three poodles herself) I know two accomplished canine listeners. Writes their owner Helen Feldkamp:

"Today the Metropolitan Opera begins and poodles and I go back to the winter-time schedule of clipping in the kitchen to sounds of grand opera. Both dogs seem to appreciate good music."

In case Eloise wants to open correspondence with these cultured pups I can furnish their address. But remember, don't write in English. After all, these are FRENCH poodles.

Kennedy Must Be More Definite On What He Proposes On Red China

WASHINGTON — An early necessity of the Kennedy administration will be to develop a new policy on admitting Red China to the U.N. or a new strategy to keep Red China out.

Already delegates to the General Assembly are talking about adjourning the present session to reconvene after the President-elect takes office. This means that the China issue, though temporarily shelved again last month, may well come up for re-consideration soon.

There are two reasons why Jack Kennedy will have to take a new look at China policy. During the campaign he gave as his only reason for opposing Red China's admission the insistence of her leaders that war was an inevitable part of Communists struggle. But last week a high Chinese Communist spokesman in Moscow said that the Chinese Communists are not advocating this view.

DOES THIS MEAN, that, if Red China begins to use peaceful words, the new administration should alter U.S. policy?

Secondly, even if Kennedy concludes that his campaign statement did not reflect his full view, is it not imperative that the U.S. find a better means of defending its position?

I refer to the annual tactic of keeping Red China off the U.N. agenda. This tactic has worked for 14 years. But last month out of 99 members our don't-talk-about-it resolution got only 42 positive votes, 34 nays, and 22 abstentions. The anti-consideration proposal won only eight votes and I know of no informed correspondent at the U.N. who believes that the five votes needed to change the result will not be forthcoming soon.

THIS IS WHY we must dedevelop either a new policy or a new strategy. Ambassador Lodge, for example, has pointed out — and I think rightly—that there may well be a number of nations who will oppose Red China's admission, but who want to debate the issue.

Here are some of the substantative questions to be considered before deciding whether and how to admit Red China.

If the question is settled wholly on the basis of credentials — that is, accepting the credentials of mainland China as the country originally put on the Security Council and rejecting the credentials of the Nationalist China delegate —then the U.N. is automatically expelling Formosa.

But if expelling Formosa is not to be the automatic result of seating Red China, then the whole transaction of retaining Formosa in the General Assembly and admitting mainland China to the U.N., including the Security Council, will have to be negotiated in advance and carried out in one simultaneous action. It not, then the U.N. runs the risk of putting Red China on the Security Council and thus enabling Red China to veto Formosa's membership.

THERE ARE OTHER alternatives. The new African nations want to be permanently represented on the Security Council. So do the Latin American nations. Shouldn't India be on the Security Council in addition to or in place of Red China? Isn't it time to re-cast the Security Council?

Still another question is whether Red China will accept the independence of Formosa as a condition of U.N. membership. And do two-thirds of the members of the U.N. want to admit Red China by expelling Formosa which has a population large than some 33 present U.N. members?

To hold to the past tactic of trying to keep Red China off the United Nations' agenda is to invite defeat for our resolution because it permits many nations to appear to support Red China without facing up to the problems and consequences of admitting Red China.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHMOND BARBOUR, Ph. D.
Guidance Counsellor

Your Teen-Agers Should Be Taught That Money Doesn't Grow On Trees

Money doesn't grow on trees. Yet some children think it does.

Are you teaching your youngsters to appreciate money and use it wisely? It's a part of your job as a parent.

Their attitudes are important. They get them from you.

Does your girl honestly believe you're too poor to be happy? Then you've overdone things. She values money too much.

Does she think money has no importance whatever? Then you've gone too far in the opposite direction. Balance is needed.

Give your children allowances. Start when they enter school. Find out what the other yonngsters in their classes get. Give yours the average amount.

Have them save some, give some to church and spend the rest. If they blow their allowances foolishly let them suffer the consequences. They'll catch on.

When they're 11 or 12, bring them in on family finances. Let them know your income and your expenses. Get them to struggle with the problems you face the first of each month.

Some parents hide the financial facts of life from their offspring. They're unwise.

Help your teen-agers to get jobs—paper routes, work in stores, babysitting, gardening. They need to take orders. They need to work hard, get tired and keep on working.

Let them control their own paychecks. If you take the money away, they'll soon lose interest. When they're extravagant, don't come to the rescue. They'll learn from experience.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Our neighbor is starting an amateur rocketry club for teen-age boys. He plans to build a big rocket and shoot it off. Should my son join?" — S. P. D.

(A) No, he should not. Every day boys are hurt or killed in rocketry accidents. If your neighbor is an expert he should work with the defense authorities. If he is not, he shouldn't be fooling with rockets.

School Plan Discussed In Kentfield

Teachers must alternate desk work with active subjects for second grade pupils because children that age have a short attention span, Kentfield School District trustees were told Monday night.

Anthony Bacich, the district's administrative assistant for instruction, and five teachers explained the second grade program in the third of a series of nine discussions.

Mrs. Jean Larkin of Wolfe Grade School spoke on the reading program; Loretta Davalle of Kent, on language arts; Elizabeth Leng of Kent, on music, art and physical education; Mrs. Mary Jane Smith of Greenbrae, on arithmetic, and Mrs. Carol Auslen of Greenbrae, on social studies, science, safety and health.

Bacich also reported that rapid learner projects in mathematics and social studies are underway in fourth through eighth grades. Teachers are trying to get these students to ask "why" and not accept obvious answers, he said.

Principal Named

Principal Harold Allison of Sir Francis Drake High School has been named to a 27-man advisory committee on mathematics for a statewide study in California schools. The committee was formed by the state curriculum commission. An organization meeting will be held Dec. 13 in Los Angeles.

Government Urged To Boost Aid To Science Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report drafted by a panel of eminent scientists headed by Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley, says the federal government must expand its support substantially for higher education and basic scientific research.

Dr. Seaborg's science advisory committee made its recommendations in a 12,000 word report submitted recently to President Eisenhower.

The report, made at conclusion of a year's study, said American science must "double and redouble in size and strength" in the next generation or the nation will become a second-rate power with its freedom threatened.

"This means more scientists, better trained, with finer facilities," the committee said in a special report issued by the White House.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Hospital Plan Aids Families Of Mentally Ill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — For about a year now, Camarille State Hospital has been operating a volunteer project that helps about 150 families a month adjust to the anxiety caused by commitment of one of their number to the mental institution.

The idea is to enable the relatives to know what they can do and where they can turn to for help at the hospital.

Under director of state mental hygiene officials and both private and county health groups in Los Angeles, members of the Pasadena Junior League have been trained for the project.

The stress is not on having volunteers give specific answers to specific questions, but in training them to direct relatives to the proper source for the answers, and in some measure comforting them.

Volunteers operate in pairs, sitting in court while a judge is deciding whether to commit a patient to Camarille. If the patient is ordered committed, one volunteer will accompany often distraught relatives outside, while the other stays in the courtroom.

Outside, a volunteer gives the relatives a handbook entitled, "How to Help," which has the effect of focusing the relatives' attention on concrete steps that can be taken, and away from pure frustration.

After that, all relatives of the patient are assembled, given a handbook, told such things as visiting hours, how to contact the doctor, where to reach the social workers handling their case, and even are given photographs of points in the hospital they will be visiting.

State officials say results of the program have been good, in easing family anxiety and making them feel the community is interested in their problems, and in helping the state gather the facts it needs to treat patients.

Novato Must Toot Own Fire Sirens

Novato must toot its own horn without county help.

This was yesterday's decision by the Marin County Board of Supervisors on a request from Chief George Cavallero of the Novato Fire Protection District for county help in obtaining more fire sirens.

Cavallero said the area is "very large" and "there are reports that many of the subdivisions cannot hear the sirens."

The district lacks funds to buy more noise-makers, wrote Cavallero, so, "if the Marin County Civilian Defense can install extra sirens for the area it would be appreciated."

Administrator D. A. Jensen told the board no funds are budgeted for such purpose. The board turned down Cavallero's request.

New Railroad Dispute Doesn't Have Bullets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A bitter and historic battle is flaming up again in the west between two giant railroads—but this time it will be settled in dignified hearings instead of with wild stock speculations or six-guns.

Western Pacific directors want to turn control of their 1,189 miles of mainline over to the Santa Fe. But their plan was upset when WP's long-time competitor, Southern Pacific, announced it also wanted the prize and that it was ready to fight for it.

In the west's early days, railroaders were not unaccustomed to using bullets in their disputes with Indians, bandits and settlers as their iron horses puffed across the country.

The great race to complete the transcontinental railroad was marked by bombings and riots between rival Chinese and Irish crews.

And their employers struggled just as lustily on the stock market when they hardly blinked an eye-lash when their maneuvers caused crashes.

But times have changed. The current battle is being staged before the Interstate Commerce Commission, which must approve a purchase of control of WP. Both Santa Fe and SP have acquired some stock, but neither intends to buy more until the ICC acts.

Southern Pacific, the nation's biggest railroad moneymaker, says it wants Western Pacific so it can eliminate duplications in tracks and equipment in Northern California, Nevada and Utah. SP claims it could coordinate operations in the area so as to offer shippers faster and cheaper service.

But Santa Fe charges that if Southern Pacific wins, it will have the same monolopy on the area it had up to 1909 when George Gould completed the WP line from Ogden Utah, to the coast to break SP's stranglehold.

Besides, Santa Fe says, an SP victory might lead to elimination of Santa Fe's present north-south coastal business. The WP, which historically has cooperated with Santa Fe against SP, now is Santa Fe's link with Portland and Seattle via the Great Northern Railroad.

The WP board of directors has cooperated with the Santa Fe in its plan to acquire stock and complains that SP never consulted with them before it embarked on its plan.

WP directors believe their stockholders are being offered a better deal by Santa Fe, namely one and one-quarter shares of Santa Fe for one of WP.

To this the SP replies that the amounts of any offers are subject to modification by the ICC. SP has proposed a straight one-for-one stock exchange.

The SP denies it would have a monopoly if it controlled the Western Pacific. In the era of airplanes and trucks, trains now carry less than half the nation's freight and SP says no modern railroad can have anything resembling a monopoly.

As SP sees it, the question is not one of monopoly, but whether Santa Fe should be allowed to join WP end-to-end and extend its service into an area already "adequately served."

The main contention of SP will be that in the '60s it is too wasteful to operate two parallel and independent lines. Financial soundness, the SP says, requires some consolidation of facilities and systems.

With this, the WP agrees in part. In announcing itself for sale, the WP said it had prospered since it came out of receivership in 1944—but "the current movement toward desirable mergers and amalgamations will strengthen the whole railroad industry . . ."

Both bidders for the WP, however, plan to operate the company independently. Neither is seeking a merger, possibly because this would take more time than acquisition of stock control.

RESOLUTION NO. 2416
A RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DECLARING ITS INTENTION TO CALL A SPECIAL ANNEXATION ELECTION, AND FIXING A TIME AND PLACE FOR PROTESTS BY PROPERTY OWNERS.

BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of San Rafael:

1. That it is the intention of the City Council of the City of San Rafael to call a special election to be held in certain inhabited territory contiguous to said City, proposed to be annexed thereto, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors residing in said territory the question whether or not said territory shall be annexed to the City of San Rafael, and the property in the territory subjected to taxation after annexation equally with property within the City of San Rafael to pay the bonded indebtedness of the City of San Rafael outstanding or authorized, at the date of the first publication of the notice of election, for the acquisition, construction or completion of municipal improvements.

Said territory is described in the attached Exhibits "A" and "B" and made a part hereto.

2. That said territory hereby is designated and identified as "TERRA LINDA COMMUNITY".

3. Notice hereby is given that on the 19th day of December, 1960, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chamber of the City Hall of the City of San Rafael, any person owning real property within said territory so proposed to be annexed and having any objection to the proposed annexation may appear before said city council and show cause why such territory should not be annexed. Such protest must be in writing and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of the property affected by such annexation and the location and area of such property in general terms. If it be found that protest is not made by public and private owners equal to one-half of the value of the territory further proceedings shall be taken in accordance with the law for the holding of such special election.

4. The City Clerk shall cause this resolution to be published in the INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL once a week for the two weeks prior to the hearing.

I, W. L. MORGAN, Clerk of the City of San Rafael, hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly introduced and adopted at an adjourned regular meeting of the Council of said City held on Monday, the 21st day of November, 1960, by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: Councilmen Aby, Menary and Mayor McInnis.
NOES: Councilmen—None.
ABSENT: Councilmen Baar, Jensen.

$195
SALE

Any one of these cars can be purchased this week with only $195 down. The $195 can either be in cash or in the form of a used car trade-in worth that amount.

'57 Buick $1,195
Regularly priced at $1,395 but this week only we'll sell for $1,195. With $195 down that brings the monthly payment to $49.58 per month. The car is a 4-dr. Hardtop Special with Dynaflow, radio, heater, power steering, and many other Buick extras. Locally owned. Original owner turned-in on new Buick.

'56 Buick $895
We have two to choose from. Both are 4-drs. with Dynaflow, radio, heater, power steering, power brakes. One has power windows and power seats. Both are local cars and have had only one owner before we took in on new Buicks. Monthly payment—$34.71.

'55 Buick $695
Two to choose from again—both are hardtop Riviera coupes with power steering, Dynaflow, heater, w/w tires and the works. Both locally owned and in good shape. Monthly payment—$24.79.

'55 Ford $595
Regularly priced at $795, but this week we'll sell for $595. V-8, 4-door Fairlane with overdrive, radio, heater and w/w tires. Monthly payment—$19.83.

'54 Buick $595
Regular $795 seller—we'll sell this week for $595. Full power equipment on this Riviera hardtop coupe including power steering, brakes, windows and seat. Monthly payment—$19.83.

$2,750

Here's a real buy. It's one of our company cars that we've used here for almost a year. It's a LeSabre 4-dr. in Ivy League green with matching two tone green interior. There's not a scratch on the exterior nor a spot on the interior.
It has all the Buick luxury equipment including—power steering, power brakes, dynaflow, radio, heater, tinted glass, white wall tires and many other items.
We've put just over 8,000 miles on this car but you would never know it had more than one or two thousand. We've just put a brand new set of US Royal white walls on the car to bring it up as close as possible to new condition. We'll give the regular one-year Buick warranty on this car just like a brand new one off our showroom floor.

Board Shuts Door On Jr. Museum

Efforts of the Junior Museum of Marin to relocate at the civic center ran into a closed door yesterday when the civic center committee recommended against it to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The committee's finding was on the basis that the museum lacked two things it sought only last week.

What any qualifying activity should have for civic center location, said the committee, was that it be governmental or semi-governmental, and that "long-term financial responsibility be demonstrated."

The museum board wants the county to take over the junior museum, and has confessed itself considerably in the red.

The committee recommended that the architect be instructed to find a place in the civic center master plan for the veteran monument now in front of the courthouse, and that he be instructed to prepare bid calls for firsts tage landscaping.

County Administrator D. A. Jensen recommended that the board wait until County Auditor Leon A. deLisle figures on finances. The board agreed.

Hearings Slated On Land Takeover

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Under what circumstances should public agencies be able to take property from private individuals? How much should the owners be paid for their losses?

These are among questions to be explored tomorrow and Friday in hearings by the Assembly Interim Committee on Judiciary-Civil.

The committee plans to look into proposed changes in the law of eminent domain — the procedure which permits a public body to acquire private land if it shows necessity and pays just compensation.

Civil Defense Setup Causes Board Flareup

Civil defense "has degenerated into a proposition to keep people busy buying merchandise," County Supervisor William D. Fusselman declared yesterday in unsuccessfully opposing a move to give Marin County a fulltime civil defense worker with the U. S. paying half the cost.

Fusselman's explosion followed a letter from County Administrator D. A. Jensen and subsequent discussion revealing that the candidate, Mrs. Jean Smith of Jensen's office, is already spending 75 per cent of her time on what Jensen said is civil defense work.

"Helping people buy paper clips and screwdrivers isn't civil defense!" snorted Fusselman.

Jensen had just told how his office piled up an imposing file every two weeks by clearing purchases from civil defense "surplus" (actually "brand new stuff," Jensen said) for Marin official buyers.

Jensen's letter said that effective Jan. 1, the federal government will give $3,000 to $4,000 as half contribution to pay of a fulltime civil defense worker for the county.

This couldn't apply to salary of administrator for his part-time services as civil defense coordinator, he said. But as Mrs. Smith now spends 75 per cent of her time on such work, he suggested she be named deputy coordinator of civil defense, fulltime.

Fusselman demanded to know how three-quarters of her time could be going to civil defense. Jensen said it mostly went to helping purchase of "everything under the sun" for seven Marin cities and for fire, sanitary and water districts which "come to us daily" for lists of goods.

"It's almost like a supermarket," he said. "They load trucks."

The goods available include all manner of office supplies as well as such items as generators, refrigerators and trucks, Jensen disclosed.

"Those things are for sale here and our merchants are taxed locally and federally," objected Fusselman. "This is cockeyed."

A motion by Supervisor William Gnoss that Mrs. Smith try to qualify for the post passed 3-1, however, Fusselman dissenting and Mrs. Vera Schultz absent with a cold.

All four present voted unanimously to name Alan Bruce, who is replacing Jensen as administrator, as civil defense coordinator and county purchasing agent.

Two Near Finals For Scholarships

Two San Rafael High School students have been selected as semi-finalists in the Hertz Engineering Scholarship Foundation competion recently, according to Alfred N. Thompson, vice principal.

Michael Casselman, 5 Westwood Drive, and Peter Strachan, 148 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael, were chosen because of their "scholarship, financial need and interest." Both boys are straight-A students.

The competition for the scholarships is carried throughout Marin County. The semi-finalists are to be interviewed by a group of scientists from the Hertz Engineering Foundation to determine the scholarship winners.

Bolinas Club Plans Dinner Saturday

Members of the Bolinas Beach Improvement Club will vote at their meeting Saturday night on what new road to recommend for improvement of Shoreline Highway.

The meeting, opening with a potluck dinner at 7 p.m. at the Mesa Clubhouse, will also include showing of pictures of a trip around the world by Mrs. Cyril E. Holt, announced Frank A. Fuller, president.

AN ASSIST FOR SANTA CLAUS

Sgt. Ernie Cruz of the 14th Rifle Company, Marin Corps Reserve, accepts from Mrs. Robert Alan Glah of Mill Valley a soft doll for the "Toys for Tots" barrel at the Shell Oil Co. service station in Kent Woodlands. Marin reservists have placed the barrels at all Shell service stations in Marin to collect usable toys for giving unfortunate children for Christmas. Looking on with approval are Austin Minto, Shell dealer, and — in more-than-lifesize — Santa Claus. (Independent-Journal photo)

Elementary Schools Merger Is Discussed

Between 25 and 30 residents of Tomales Elementary School District attended a meeting Monday night to discuss merger of their district and the Marshall School District, but most of them appeared uncertain of what would be involved.

The meeting at Tomales School was called by the Tomales District board. Merle E. Lawson, board president, said at least one more public meeting will be necessary before the merger proposal can be put to a vote.

Petitions for the merger are being circulated in both Tomales and Marshall districts, Lawson said.

Nine Marshall children are attending fifth through eighth grades in Tomales this year under an inter-district agreement. If the districts are merged, it is proposed to continue having the upper grade children attend Tomales School and operate the Marshall School for the first four grades only.

Involved in the merger is the Tomales District's building program. First and second graders now attend classes in the Presbyterian Church because the school building is overcrowded.

Lawson said a bond issue will be necessary for more classrooms, whether or not the merger is carried out. If the districts are merged, Marshall residents would help pay the cost of the construction, he pointed out.

No further meeting on the proposal is planned before the regular meeting of the Tomales board on Dec. 21, Lawson said.

Stop Sign Due In Stinson Beach

Stop signs will be installed this week in Stinson Beach on Highway 1 at the town's main intersection by Airey's Store.

Installation of the signs to stop traffic on the Shoreline Highway will make a four-way stop at the intersection.

Jerry P. O'Shea, assistant traffic engineer for the California Division of Highways, wrote to Ellen Dawson of Stinson Beach that the decision to install the signs had been made after a study of the traffic situation there. Mrs. Dawson had been urging the signs to make the crossing safe for children boarding the school bus at that corner.

MAYOR DROPS IN FOR GREENRBAE CHAT

Edith Goulart poses between Niels Schultz, developer of Greenbrae, and Mayor Arthur Storhaug of Larkspur, who stopped by to discuss community problems over coffee in Mrs. Goulart's Greenbrae Bakery in the Bon Air Shopping Center.

Market Adds New Process Of Tendering

Jim Kilpatrick, owner and manager of the Bon Air Super Market, celebrated his eighth anniversary by announcing a new development in service and quality to his customers.

Straight from the Swift Research Laboratories in Chicago comes Swift's Premium Proten Tendered Beef, prepared by a new tendering process to assure easy eating in every bite.

The Proten tendering process climaxes a long-time meat industry search for a practical method to produce steaks, roasts and other cuts of beef with increased tenderness for all grades. This new patented process involves adding natural food enzymes to cattle just before processing. A specially processed form of papain from the papaya plant is fed into the animal's circulatory system. This supplements the enzymes naturally present in beef to produce desirable tenderness.

The research behind the development of the Proten process is a story in itself. Since the final proof has to be in the eating, human judgment was considered more important than any laboratory tools in evaluation. Trained taste panels, made up of Swift experts, played a vital role in directing research.

Wide consumer testing has also proven helpful in assuring buyer acceptance. More than 2,000 homemakers have used Proten beef for periods of up to two years, and over 250 stores have participated in the testing. The new beef is identified in the dealers' meat cases by foil inserts bearing the name Proten.

Traditionally, dry heat cooking methods have been used for "tender cuts" and moist heat for "less tender" ones. Dry heat cooking includes oven roasting, broiling and charcoal grilling. Pot roasts and stews are examples of moist heat cookery.

Now, the innovation of Proten tendered beef widens our choice of preparation methods. Thirteen beef cuts formerly considered "less tender" move into the "tender" category through the miracle of Proten and can now be cooked by both dry heat and moist heat.

SHOPPING FOR WIFE?

Dress Shop Slates 'Men Only' Night

Edith Goulart, proprietress and moving force behind the Greenbrae Dress Shop and Greenbrae Bakery at Bon Air Shopping Center, obviously enjoys her work.

With the Christmas shopping season upon us, Mrs. Goulart told yesterday of some of the trials and tribulations of men shoppers in her Dress Shop and Boutique. Many come armed only with a burning desire to please their wife and no knowledge of height, weight or vital measurements. Usually their problems can be solved.

Mrs. Goulart recalls one husband who didn't try hard enough. Phoning from an office party, the husband instructed Mrs. Goulart to select anything within a certain price range, gift wrap it and send it to his wife. She selected an alluring black negligee of lace and net and sent it on.

Two days after Christmas, a girl in her twenties leading a toddler, holding a baby and obviously anticipating another, came in to exchange an alluring black negligee for a flannel nightgown, a raincoat and a pair of galoshes.

To encourage husbands to select gifts closer to their wife's desires, Mrs. Goulart has announced a "For Men Only" evening for Dec. 8. Patterned after other successful events of this kind, cocktails and a buffet will be available and kindly and understanding assistance will be provided. A double door-prize of bourbon and scotch will be presented and all that is required is some vague idea of wife sizes.

The Greenbrae Dress Shop and Bakery are side by side at 124-136 Bon Air Shopping Center and have met with great acceptance in the Greenbrae area.

New Assistant At Pharmacy

Robert Cuneo of Daly City is the new registered pharmacist assisting owner Henry Brocco at Greenbrae Pharmacy.

Lorraine Brocco, who has been sharing the prescription work with her husband since the store opening three years ago, has retired to prepare for a new addition to the Brocco family.

Cuneo has been at Greenbrae two months and comes from Bowerman's Drug Store in San Francisco. He and Henry Brocco worked together there before Brocco opened the Greenbrae Pharmacy.

Throw Away Your Artificial Tenderizers . . . You Can Now Eat High On The Steer and Cut the Meat With Your Fork.

"It doesn't look any different," says Art Hecht, Bon Air butcher as he inspects the first delivery of Swift Premium "Proten" beef to Marin. It doesn't look any different but what a difference these quarters will mean to the home meat buyer, the cook and the diner. In the whole beef there are now 22 cuts that can be dry cooked as compared to approximately 8 before. Broil or pan fry and they'll come out just as tender as the more select cuts. Swift has unlocked the natural process that will "guarantee" tenderness. No more experimenting with artificial tenderizers to prepare meat "just right." No more tussles with freshly honed knives—this meat cuts with your fork. And it has every bit of the unexcelled flavor that is always evident in Swift Premium Beef. For more about "Proten" turn the page . . .

FRESH GROUND BEEF lb. 55c

Bon Air is proud of its wonderful fresh ground beef . . . it's as lean as any chuck ground.

Ed Borello, Bon Air meat department manager, checks Bon Air Super's first order of Swift Premium "Proten" Beef. "Wait until my customers find out how easy this new beef cooks," he said. "This is the best thing that ever happened. Now we can guarantee the cut they choose will be tender. Even the best meat expert gets fooled sometimes." The Bon Air meat department is especially pleased that they are the first in Marin—and one of the first markets in California to feature this new "Proten" Beef.

Tony Thomas can tell it's tender by the way it cuts. "This is the fulfilment of real economy in meat," was his remark. "Now the housewife will no longer need to buy the most expensive cuts to serve flavor filled tender beef." It's more than that. Meat men know that some of the top flavor cuts are not the cuts that are generally the tenderest — nor the easiest to prepare. Swift's Premium "Proten" Beef solves this problem. Seven years of research conducted by Swift Company under the observation of the Dept. of Agriculture now brings "guaranteed" tenderness to beef.

"This doesn't make prime cuts obsolete," says Elenore Brossier as she inserts the distinctive "Proten" label in self-service packages. "Cooking time for these cuts is reduced . . . and the eating is even more enjoyable." Nor will the art of pot roasts be lost — for those who prefer the dishes prepared in this manner it just means that preparation, cooking, serving and carving are much easier. "A real boon for the working girl," added Elenore. "No need to wait dinner for hours while the meat cooks . . . and it tastes twice as good when you don't have to work so hard getting it ready."

"I absolutely guarantee this meat to be tender," Bon Air Super owner, Jim Kilpatrick tells customer Mrs. Renz Mezzera. "If it isn't, I'll give your money back and you don't need to bring the meat back to show me." Kilpatrick is especially enthused about Swift Premium 'Proten' came through with their unqualified test Bon Air quality tests can give. "I know the Department of Agriculture gave this product every scientific test they know — and 'Proten' came through with their unqaulified endorsement . . . but, at Bon Air, we gave it the kind of test the housewife understands. We dry cooked the 'usually' toughest cuts of the beef . . . not only cut with a fork but enjoyed the fine flavor as never before. I don't gamble when I give a money-back guarantee on Swift Premium 'Proten' Beef."

Argentina Reports Three Peronist Revolts Crushed

Government Says Army Puts Down Rebellion By Ex-Dictator Group

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Peronist revolts flared today in the industrial city of Rosario and in two oil towns in northern Argentina, but the government declared all three were crushed.

Retired army officers who had served under ousted dictator Juan D. Peron and a band of armed civilians tried to storm an army barracks at Rosario, northwest of Buenos Aires. An army communique said they were replused after killing three of the Rosario garrison, and fled, leaving behind one of their dead, a retired colonel who served as aide to one of Peron's military chiefs. Other accounts put the casualties at 10 dead and 50 wounded.

The communique said 33 persons were arrested.

FOUR-HOUR FIGHT

Shortly after the four-hour skirmish at Rosario, supporters of Peron struck at the oil field towns of Tartagal and Vespucio, in remote Northern Argentina near the Bolivian frontier.

Government sources said the rebels took over the airport and a police station at Tartagal, but army troops had no trouble in recapturing the positions.

At Vespucio, 20 miles south of Tartagal, the rebels were said to have occupied oil installations and offices of the state oil monopoly, but government circles said the insurgents were put down and the situation was in hand throughout the country.

TOWNS ON RAILWAY

There were no reports of casualties in either of the northern towns. Both are on the railway leading north from Salta, capital of the province of the same name.

While the fighting was in progress, terrorist bombs damaged railway and communications systems around Buenos Aires.

The insurgents in the north also struck at communications, cutting the railway tracks to the south and severing telephone lines, reports from Salta said.

Try To Orbit 2 Satellites At Once Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An attempt to hoist two U.S. satellites into orbit with a single rocket failed today.

The double-headed Thor-Able-Star roared smoothly away from this missile test center at 2:50 p.m. Tucked in its nose were a 203-pound Transit III-A navigation satellite and a 40-pound radiation study satellite riding as a hitchhiker.

Forty minutes later the Department of Defense announced that "preliminary telemetry reports have indicated that the satellites failed to go into orbit. time."

"The exact reason for this failure is undetermined at this time."

The goal was to place the two satellites into a circular orbit 500 miles high. They were clamped together on launching, but were to separate if they achieved orbit.

The double header technique was pioneered last June 22 when a Thor-Able-Star lofted Transit II-A and another radiation study satellite into successful orbit. The idea is to utilize the maximum payload capacity of the booster vehicle.

BAY AREA'S FUTURE

Jobs, Economy Not Easy To Forecast

(This is the third of five stories digesting the voluminous report of the Army Corps of Engineers on the Bay Area's future, as it affects Marin.)

By RANDALL GOULD

Patterns of Marin County's future employment and economic growth are much less easy to project over the next 60 years than are such matters as an expected fivefold increase of population.

This is made clear by the newly published U.S. Department of Commerce volume "Future Development of the San Francisco Bay Area," through the experts' belief that South Marin in particular will increasingly be a residential suburb of San Francisco—a trend likely to extend.

"As the southern reaches of Marin County and the northern East Bay residential areas become more crowded," says the study, "the Bay Area's expanding population will find the lower portions of Sonoma and Napa Counties increasingly attractive for residential development."

Industries thus seem likely to center on real estate, tourism, and associated enterprises rather than factories, although there is one interesting hint.

San Rafael's recent acquisition of a plant of the Fairchild Semi-Conductor Corp. lends pertinence to the following:

"Many of the new industries which eventually will locate in the Bay Area are not yet even in existence. Completely new products will be developed within the next 50 years. . . . The Bay Area is in strong position to obtain a share of these new products and of new industries."

Marin County shares with such localities as Denver, Colo., the reputation of offering so much to its residents that makers of the newest precision scientific equipment seem increasingly likely to be drawn toward these favored areas as calculated to attract and stabilize the

Off-and-on rain may be expected through Saturday, according to forecasts today.

San Rafael rainfall to noon today registered .68 of an inch.

Marin Municipal Water District officials said the county is now so well soaked that at last the reservoirs will begin to gain.

Overnight rain at the new Nicasio dam was .75 inch. Other reservoirs reported as follows: Kent .78, Alpine .55, Bon Tempe .70, Lagunitas 1.20 and Phoenix 1.02.

Woodacre recorded .88 inch of rainfall from 5 p.m. yesterday to 9 a.m. today. Point Reyes Station reported .45; Kentfield .71, Larkspur .40, Chevy Chase in Larkspur .42, Muir Woods .30, Corte Madera .31, Novato .56 and Sausalito .28.

Gale warnings were out but slackening winds were expected late in the day.

Club Members Face Injunction In Loan Move

Officers of the Novato Community Club may find themselves slapped with another injunction if they attempt to borrow money on the property.

Club directors at a meeting Monday night agreed to ask member permission to borrow $6,500 to $7,500 on the property to finance renovation which would bring the club house up to fire safety standards.

MOVE BY BOWMAN

But San Rafael attorney William O. Weissich said today that club officers may face an injunction against such action. Weissich said that his client, club member Alfred Bowman, may request an injunction to prevent borrowing on club house or property.

Bowman has filed a suit asking that the club house be given to the City of Novato, as he says was promised on club incorporation in 1947. Other members say there was no promise to turn over the building on city incorporation, or say that bylaws have been changed or ask joint city-club use of the rambling building at 906 Machin Avenue.

LEND ON 'GAMBLE'

The suit normally would prevent borrowing on the property, Weissich contends, but some institution or person "may lend the money on a gamble." If so, an injunction may be asked.

If the suit turned out in the city's favor, the city would not be liable for the loan, Weissich and City Atty. Clark M. Palmer said.

Eleanor Lafranchi, acting club president, said directors expect to have contractors' bids by the Dec. 14 membership meeting so that a definite debt ceiling could be set for members to vote on. The present ceiling, in the bylaws, is $500.

Lumumba Reported In Friendly Area

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Fugitive ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba today was reported to have reached friendly territory some 400 miles east of the capital, well out of Col. Joseph Mobutu's reach.

Some sources said he abandoned his plan to go to Stanleyville, and was heading instead toward another of his political strongholds, Luluabourg.

Court Orders New Orleans To Integrate

Decision Sweeps Aside Barriers Raised By State

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Three federal judges—ignoring demonstrations for segregation—today swept aside every state-raised barrier to school integration and enjoined nearly all Louisiana officials from interfering.

"The conclusion," read the opinion, "is clear that interposition is not a constitutional doctrine."

Interposition is a theory by which a state puts its sovereignty between the federal government and the people of the state.

'PACKAGE' FAILS

The judges later added: "Without support of the interposition act, the rest of the segregation 'package' passed by the legislature falls of its own weight."

Further, the tribunal knocked out what it called "a series of measures which purport to abolish the Orleans Parish School Board."

State Rep. John Garrett of Claiborne Parish in the Louisiana Delta country in northeast Louisiana where segregation sentiment runs high, said the legislature would continue to fight despite the decision.

THRONG GATHERS

While the court made public its decision, angry housewives and mothers thronged outside the home of a white Methodist minister whose 5-year-old daughter continues to attend one of the city's two integrated schools, William Frantz Elementary.

The women jeered and yelled but Rev. Lloyd Foreman already had spirited his daughter into her kindergarten class by the back door.

Foreman was target of similar demonstrations yesterday when he took his daughter to school by the front door.

The three judges had been asked to rule on two motions. One by the Orleans Parish School Board asked suspension of integration until differences between state and federal government had been resolved.

Another by the state asked abandonment of all integration permanently.

China Grants Interest-Free Loan To Cuba

LONDON (UPI)—Communist China announced today it is granting Cuba a multi-million-dollar, interest-free loan between 1961 and 1965.

The Communist New China News Agency announcement used the figure 240 million rubles—60 million dollars at the current official exchange rate or about 240 million at Moscow's new official rate effective Jan. 1.

The agreement signed today in Peiping was new evidence of China's "friendship offensive" aimed at winning over Latin America and usurping Russian penetration of the Caribbean.

A joint communique issued by Communist Chinese Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien and Maj. Ernesto Guevara, one of Premier Fidel Castro's top advisers announced that the loan would be used to purchase equipment and to provide Cuba with technical aid and that Peiping had agreed to send a government mission to Cuba.

Teen-Age Gang Caught After Lagunitas Holdup

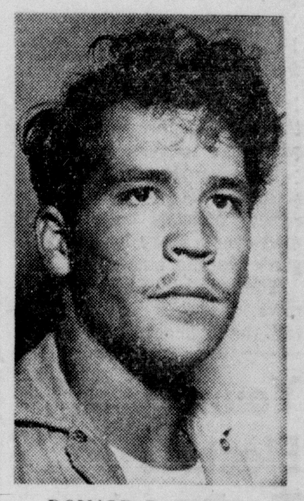
Got $177 At Gunpoint, Forgot Masks, Rope

By WAT TAKESHITA

A teen-age robber gang of five, whose leader said they planned a television-type holdup with masks and rope to tie their victims, badly bungled the job last night after hitting the Lagunitas Grocery Store for $177 at gunpoint.

Sheriff's inspectors said the boys had planned the holdup for a week, but in the last minute excitement they forgot their masks and rope.

An hour after the 5:30 p.m. holdup, Deputy Sheriff Robert di Grazia and Highway Patrolman Thomas Foley captured all five with an arsenal of weapons in their getaway car in Novato.



DONALD R. TEMPLE
'Wanted fast money'

Ringleader was Donald R. Temple, 19, an unemployed hod carrier living at San Quentin Village. In Marin County Jail today, Temple said he has a wife and two children.

"I just got tired of foolin' around," he told an Independent-Journal reporter. "I just wanted some fast money."

ANOTHER ON PAROLE

Caught in the car with Temple were a 16-year-old San Francisco boy, who is on parole from Washington state; two San Anselmo youths, 17 and 15, and a 15-year-old from Larkspur. All four were being held in Marin Juvenile Hall.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos commended Deputy di Grazia for a "fine job of police work."

Inspector Bowen Bridges, who questioned the boys, said they planned to "pull two more jobs," then head for Mexico. The youths had "cased" Lagunitas Grocery three times before holding it up last night.

Store owner Edward J. Lacy, 72, was shaken by the experience but unhurt. A neighbor boy, Johnny Tanzi, 12, who helps Lacy at the store, gave this account of the holdup to Deputy Kenneth Irving:

WALKED INTO STORE

Three youths walked into the store. The oldest youth pointed a .32-caliber automatic at Lacy and ordered, "Open the cash register and put all the money in a bag." Lacy stuffed a bag with all the paper money, which turned out to be $177, later recovered intact in the getaway car.

Another youth with a red beanie hat went behind the counter and filled another bag with cigarettes and three bottles of wine. The gunman told the store owner to open the safe, then seemed to get nervous and barked, "Let's get out of here." The leader wore a green corduory jacket.

The Tanzi boy said he saw only three of the holdup gang inside the store.

SEDAN SPOTTED

As they left the store, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Sipes of Lagunitas noticed it was a green sedan. Description of the green car and corduory coat was flashed over the air.

About an hour later, Deputy di Grazia, patrolling Novato, spotted a green De Soto on First Street near Grant. The driver wore a green corduory jacket. As di Grazia turned his car around to give chase, the De Soto stopped at the Associated service station at Grant and Highway 101

Pharmaceutical Assn. Denies Ad Ban Move

The California Pharmaceutical Assn. today denied that it is sponsoring legislation to prohibit the advertising of prescription drugs.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy on Monday displayed a copy of a letter written by Floyd N. Heffron, executive secretary of the California State Board of Pharmacy, which reported the Pharmaceutical Institute—for which Heffron also is spokesman—would back a bill in the 1961 Legislature providing a prescription drug "may not be advertised to the public by its trade name, generic name or its official name, or by reference to its therapeutic or physiological effect." This would leave virtually nothing that could be said about the drug in advertising.

However, the bill is not the idea of nor supported by the California Pharmaceutical Assn., declared Cecil Stewart, executive vice president, in Los Angeles.

"The California Pharmaceutical Assn. has not in the past, and does not in the future, contemplate advocating or sponsoring any law prohibiting the advertising of prescription drugs," said Stewart.

Stewart also declared the association has not seen a copy of the proposal.

He said that a proposal for such a law advanced at a public hearing of the State Board of Pharmacy in Fresno last May was put forward by 30 pharmacists from Northern California, acting on their own initiative. It was not, he asserted, sponsored by the California Pharmaceutical Assn.

The pharmaceutical association, went on Stewart, has endorsed only a section which would outlaw untrue or misleading advertising—which is already outlawed under Section 17500 of the Business and Professions Code.

Meanwhile, a federal grand jury in San Francisco today resumed its investigation of charges that some Northern California pharmacists are engaging in price-fixing in violation of anti-trust laws.

Llye L. Jones, anti-trust division chief here, said three Northern California pharmacists would be called as witnesses. Other witnesses will be heard in a special grand jury session tomorrow, he said.

Jones also announced that on Friday he would be meeting with Helen Nelson, state consumer counsel.

"Any information she may have that throws light on a price-fixing scheme in the drug field will be of interest to us," Jones said.

Distributors Of Milk Ask Price Increase

Marin County milk distributors, at hearting before the Bureau of Milk Stabilization today, asked for price increases which would run as high as four cents per quart for some consumers.

No one was present to protest the proposal at the hearing at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

Seven distributors in the county asked that the state permit a price increase of one cent per quart for home-delivered and one and one-half cents per quart for milk sold through stores.

Added to the home-delivered price, however, would be a minimum delivery charge of three cents. This would hike the price by four cents for a person having a single quart delivered.

The distributors, represented by L. A. Maes, economist, pleaded that increased employees' wages, a sharp rise in container costs, increased taxes and other cost hikes make the price rise necessary.

Home-delivered milk now costs 25 cents per quar in one-quart bottles. This would be raised to 26 cents. Half-gallon bottles, now 50 cents, would go up to 51½ cents, providing a slight saving by use of the larger containers.

Added to this, however, would be the delivery charge, something new for this area. The distributors asked that a minimum delivery charge of three cents per delivery be made. This would cover delivery of up to nine quarts at

'INSULTING' TO ROYALTY

Story Causes Heads To Shake In Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — The chrysanthemum throne was shaking with rage today.

Emperor Hirohito and his staid old imperial household agency officials were hopping mad over a story by one of Japan's leading authors.

The story by Shichiro Fukazawa, describes in graphic detail the beheading of the emperor, Crown Prince Akihito, Princess Michiko and other members of the imperial family during a fictitious "people's revolution."

"It's unbecoming," snapped household agency director Takeshi Usami.

"It's not only unbecoming, it's downright disgusting. It's unpardonable."

The story, entitled "A Story of a Fashionable Dream," appeared in Chuo Koron, one of Japan's leading magazines.

Briefly, it told of the author's dream of a "people's revolution" during which he joined mobs storming the imperial palace. It described in gory detail how the mobs chopped off the heads of the imperial family members with huge samurai swords because they lived in luxury while the people lived in destitution.

"I don't know what the story was written for," said Usami, "but it is derogatory. I have asked the justice ministry to study the possibility of indicting the author. We still do not know which law we can apply in the case. But I have no doubt that we can punish him."

Since the imperial household agency cannot enter into a court action, it was anticipated the emperor could ask Premier Hayato Ikeda to file a libel suit on his behalf.

The editor of the magazine in which the story appeared, Kiyoshi Takemori, said he saw nothing wrong with the story. He thought it was pretty good.

"It was just an artistic work and not aimed at the imperial family," Takemori said.

Careful reading of the story, he explained, would reveal it to be merely an attempt by the author "to emphasize his fear and denial of all revolutions in a unique way."

The author had nothing to say. He went into hiding for fear of possible physical attack by ultra-nationalists who also were angered.

Young GOP Elects 3 To Board

Election of three more members of the executive board of the Young Republicans of Marin was announced today by Gordon L. Ness, president, after the first meeting of the new officers.

Named to the executive board were Richard C. Callahan of Sausalito, Willis H. Carrier of Mill Valley and Charles Michaels of Kentfield.

Ness also announced permanent committee chairmen for 1961, as follows; Jack Carew of Greenbrae, Young Republican editor; Mrs. R. C. Callahan of Sausalito, social chairman; Mrs. E. W. Thomas of Terra Linda, special events coordinator; Gerald Tice of Santa Venetia, membership chairman; Pete Fishel of San Anselmo, college program, and Charles Michaels, government relations chairman.

The group's next activity will be a Christmas party Dec. 10 at the San Rafael Improvement Club. Refreshments will include Scandinavian glug and a light cocktail supper. Dancing will follow. Mrs. Thomas Moss of Mill Valley is chairman.

Winnie Fetes 86 With Big Brandy Cake

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill celebrated his 86th birthday today with a 100-pound cake soaked in his favorite brandy.

Habitually a late sleeper, he had the lights on early in his bedroom.

There was good reason—for a parade of well-wishers, postmen, messengers and delivery boys began ringing his doorbell as early at 6:30 a.m.

First to pull up before his London home was a uniformed postoffice messenger carrying a heavy load of birthday telegrams, many from the United States.

A member of his household said a greeting from President Eisenhower was among the thousands pouring in from all over the world.

Indications were that this would be a quiet birthday, for Sir Winston is still recuperating from a broken bone in his back suffered in a fall 15 days ago.

Around the huge and alcoholically fragrant cake, the mail, telegrams and presents piled up.

They included greetings from Queen Elizabeth II, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, the heads of foreign states and from the humblest in this and other lands.

Administrator Will Be Honored At Party Tonight

County Administrator D. A. Jensen, who left his job today to become executive officer of the California Motor Vehicle Air Pollution Control Board, will be honored at a no-host cocktail party and dinner on Dec. 7 at the Meadow Club in Fairfax.

Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m., followed by dinner at 8 o'clock. Those who plan to attend must make dinner reservations by calling the Marin County administrator's office by Friday.

Jensen will begin his new job Dec. 1. For the first month he will be working at Berkeley, then plans to move to Los Angeles next year.

New county administrator for Marin is Alan Bruce, who has been Jensen's assistant.

Safety Officer Ranks Decrease

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The annual Governor's Traffic Safety Conference, greatly reduced in size, met today in the state capitol.

Past conferences have had up to 2,000 delegates and have lasted for two or three days.

This year 200 local safety officials planned to attend a one-day session. State officials were briefing the local officers on ways to cut traffic accidents, which took 3,588 lives in California last year.

Lawyer Says Soble Never Tried Escape

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York psychiatrist arrested as a 20-year Soviet spy never tried to escape his shadowers during a long, "hot surveillance" by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, says his attorney.

On the contrary, the doctor even stopped his car so that trailing agents could catch up with him, the lawyer said.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Robert Soble, 60, was held in $75,000 bail for a federal court hearing Dec. 20. Soble, whose legal name is Soblen, is a brother of confessed Soviet spy Jack Soble, 57, serving a seven-year prison term for espionage.

SEPARATE RINGS

The government charged that the brothers were involved in separate espionage rings that sought national defense secrets for transmission to the Soviet Union. Both brothers were naturalized in 1947.

Dr. Soble, if convicted, could receive the death penalty. The doctor suffers from a serious illness, his attorney said.

Soble was arrested at noon yesterday at Rockland State Hospital, in suburban Orangeburg, where he has served as supervising psychiatrist.

The indictment by a federal grand jury also named 18 coconspirators, none of whom are defendants. They include several Soviet officials and four Americans.

THREE YEARS

It took the government three years to collect evidence for an indictment against Dr. Soble.

In arguing for low bail, his attorney, Richard C. Green, told the court that Soble would not flee.

"He has been under wide-open hot surveillance by federal agents and never tried to run away, to a point where he even stopped his car on highways if he lost the agents trailing him, so they could catch up to him."

Apparently, Soble made friends among FBI agents who arrested him. He asked Judge William B. Herlands if he could say goodby to "the FBI gentlemen."

Herlands smiled and gave his permission.

The government said the Soble brothers were born in Lithuania, and during the 1930s roamed Europe as Communist agents for the Soviet secret police.

MET BERIA

The indictment charged that in 1940 Jack Soble met the late Lavrenti P. Beria, head of the Soviet secret police under Stalin. In exchange for permitting nearly all the families of both brothers to go to the U.S., the brothers agreed to act as spies here.

Eventually, said the government, the entire family—about 15 persons—left Lithuania.

The indictment said that Dr. Soble received monthly reports during World War—from local headquarters in Rockefeller Plaza of the super-secret Office of Strategic Services.

Dr. Soble, the government said, also was said to have dealt in photographs of Sandia Base, a New Mexico military installation.

Rebels Still Sniping At U.N. Column

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—Rebel Baluba tribesmen armed with ancient rifles sniped at a column of U.N. Nigerian soldiers today in Katanga Province.

The Nigerians fought their way out of an ambush two days ago, killing at least 30 tribesmen and wounding many.

The tribesmen, their faith shattered in the protective powers of witch doctors' voodoo, stayed well hidden today in dense thickets along the Nigerians' march route.

The U.N. column of slow-moving trucks and heavy vehicles is traveling from Kamina in western Katanga to the tin mining town of Manono, 10 days ago the site of savage tribal killings.

The rebels have been slowing the column by digging trenches across the road.

The Nigerians will reinforce the U.N. garrison already in Manono.

Four Nigerians wounded in the ambush Monday near the tiny township of Kabondo-Dianda have been evacuated to a hospital in Kamina. None was seriously injured in the fight, about 300 miles north of Elisabethville.

The Nigerians, who had been in the Congo just three days, were attacked with spears, arrows and ancient rifles.

Storm Tapers Off

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stormy weather that lashed the Midwest abated today but the season's coldest spell gripped wide areas from the Rockies into the Northeast and southward to the Central Gulf.

Strong winds and snow flurries were reported from the Great Lakes eastward. Snow of one inch or more fell in some areas of Pennsylvania and New York.

May Drop Eichmann

BONN, Germany (UPI)—German attorney Robert Servatius said today he may drop the defense of Adolf Eichmann if he determines that the memoirs printed in a U.S. magazine are genuinely those of the ex-Nazi.

Servatius recently returned to West Germany from Israel where he conferred with Eichmann, who is being held for trial in connection with the mass execution of six million Jews by the Nazis in World War II. In the memoirs, currently appearing in Life magazine, Eichmann said he had no regret for what he did.

Steel Pay Hikes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pay increases ranging from seven to 13 cents an hour go into effect tomorrow for basic steelworkers. But there is no indication steel price increases will follow—at least for the present.

Some 50,000 members of the United Steelworkers Union will be entitled to wage raises. But the union estimates about 40,000 of these are currently unemployed and thousands more are working less than 40 hours a week.

SEC Member Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Harold C. Patterson, 63, a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission, died in Hollywood Hospital last night after a heart attack.

Patterson, of Arlington, Va., was attending the convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America which began on Sunday. He was named to the commission in 1955 to replace Democrat Paul R. Rowen of Boston.

Blizzard Hits Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A freak blizzard, hurried by gale-force winds that piled snow up to three and one-half feet, virtually halted traffic in and around Buffalo today.

Snowplows sent out last night to cope with the season's first snowstorm were hampered by stalled automobiles, trucks and buses.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau's San Francisco office last night transmitted this advisory note on its teleprinter network: "Forecast delayed by bad weather."

Inventories Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manufacturers' inventories declined another 400 million dollars during October, and sales and new orders also dropped off, the Commerce Department said.

The report showed that during October manufacturers increased their inventories of goods ready for sale to buyers, but cut back on stocks of raw materials and partly finished goods. Manufacturers' sales dropped 700 million dollars during October and new orders declined 1.1 billion from the previous month's figures as adjusted to take seasonal factors into account.

Accused By Army

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —The U.S. Army today lodged charges of negligent homicide against two officers and one enlisted man for the deaths of 16 soldiers in an artillery training accident.

An army spokesman said investigation into the incident at Grafenwoehr Sept. 2 resulted in charges against First Lt. George I. O'Grady Jr. of Arlington, Va., Second Lt. Mark F. Kempf of San Antonio, Tex., and Pfc. Raymond R. Riggs of New Iberia, La. They are accused of firing an artillery shell which overshot a firing range and landed in a menauver area, killing the 16 men.

Kennedy Still Holds Margin Over Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Republicans were challenging the Nov. 8 election results in some areas, President-elect John F. Kennedy held a margin of 180,180 votes today over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Only 181 precincts, scattered among six states, remained unreported in those figures, based on official returns from 31 states and unofficial tabulations in the other 19.

TOTALS NOW

The totals at this point gave Kennedy 34,120,496 votes and Nixon 33,940,316. The total for the two already surpassed 68 million votes, to set a new record.

Republicans were charging that in some precincts in Texas and Illinois, more votes were tabulated than the number of registered voters.

A formal contest notice filed in Texas charged among other things that "in many boxes the returns show more votes counted for president and vice president than there were voters listed on the actual voter list."

JURY PROBE

In Chicago, both a grand jury investigation of alleged election fraud and a recount of the vote in some precincts were under way. The recount officially concerns only a Cook County race, but an unofficial check of presidential ballots in the first precinct completed gave Nixon 10 more votes than he had received in the official canvass.

Another Chicago precinct counted 84 votes cast although only 28 registered voters lived in the precinct.

Meade Alcorn, general counsel for the Republican National Committee, said only three votes in the disputed precinct were counted for Nixon, who ran far behind Kennedy in the Chicago area but lost Illinois' 27 electoral votes by a margin of only 8,849 in the statewide totals.

NEW APARTMENTS FOR GREENBRAE—This design by architect R. R. Zahm has been approved for a new apartment house south of Via Casitas on Bon Air Hill in Greenbrae. This will add 12 units to the total of 280 apartments already in the area. Another 12-unit apartment is being built.

24 New Apartments To Be Added To 280 Already In Bon Air Group

The approval, under architectural supervision by the Larkspur Planning Commission, of a second apartment house in a new development area south of Via Casitas on Bon Air Hill in Greenbrae marks the steady progress in growth of the Bon Air Apartment group. Now containing over 280 units, the new apartment under construction and the second just approved add 24 new units to the total.

Classified by developer Niels Schultz as semi-luxury apartments, the new building and the proposed building will each contain 12 units on 3 floors.

The new areas being developed are 15 acres containing 35 lots and 20 acres containing 32 lots. Lot sizes will vary but all building will conform to the City of Larkspur ordinance requiring 2000 square feet of ground area per living unit.

The Schultz Development Co. intends to build less than half of the proposed structures, with the balance to be built by private investors. The difference in ownership will vary the size and number of units to be built but the area restrictions of the Bon Air Apartment group will restrict the height to a "reasonable" limit. The building now under construction shows the genal conception of planning for the entire area.

Designed by R. R. Zahm, A.I.A. and built by the Schultz Building Co., the structure will contain no courts but will take full advantage of the spectacular view afforded by San Francisco Bay, Mt. Tamalpais and the rolling, wooded Marin hills. Situated as it is above Corte Madera Creek, the development will have a grandstand seat to view the increasing water sports on the Ross Valley Waterway. The proposed Larkspur small craft harbor is closely adjacent.

The new building will offer a choice of two and three bedroom apartments with two baths. The third bedroom is so designed that folding doors allow access to the living room and suggest its use as a study. Wide balconies, reached by sliding glass doors, provide the sunning advantages familiar to Bon Air Apartment dwellers.

A building entrance bridgeway, finished in imported Italian Terrazzo, makes each unit a maximum of a flight of stairs away.

Within the apartments are soundproofed and wool carpeted, with color coordinated General Electric kitchens. Finished in ash and plastics, the kitchens are a light, airy delight to the homemaker. Colored vinyl floor covering and washable canvas walls will assist in maintaining a minimum upkeep.

Stress has been laid by the architect to incorporate into the plans and details all the charm and comfort possible, at the some time keeping the rental reasonable. A record of more than 98% occupancy in the present Bon Air group indicates the wide acceptance of Bon Air living costs.

The builders have tried to create a home for those who want the comforts, but not the cares of a home of their own.

HOME TAKES ADVANTAGE OF HEIGHTS

This Greenbrae home was designed by Architect R. R. Zahm to take full advantage of the heights and site—graded to make living on one level the rule. Built by the Schultz Building Co., it features Arizona sunburst stone on both the exterior and interior. The home is located on Upper Eliseo Drive.

Lots Selling At Steady Clip In Greenbrae

George Bogel, manager of The Greenbrae Co., reports the growth of Greenbrae with lots selling at a steady pace throughout 1960. Early this year a new area was opened that climbed high into the Greenbrae uplands and joined San Rafael at Bret Hart Heights.

This group, site graded to allow level home sites, had the advantage of spectacular views of both the San Rafael-Richmond and Bay Bridges and great stretches of Marin hills leading up to Mt. Tamalpais. Since the presentation of this area for home builders, 40 per cent of the sites have been sold and most of these have completed homes on them.

Part of this group was built by Schultz Building Co. Other sites were purchased by individuals who arranged their own building.

One of the problems in this program has been the model homes. These are homes designed by R. R. Zahm, AIA and built by the Schultz Building Co. to be used for display purposes. They are decorated by Casa Marin of San Rafael so that the potential buyer is able to have a preview of a completed home. The problem has been that these homes have been purchased as soon as they were completed and The Greenbrae Co. has then had to build another model.

There are still many choice lots in this and other areas of Greenbrae. They range in size from 7500 square feet to ½ acre. Some are in sheltered areas. Most of them have native oaks and all of them are on skillfully graded sites with street work in and paid for.

Bogel says that the only way Greenbrae can be really appreciated is for a prospective home buyer to ride through and look at it.

Scientific Fitting Of Bowling Balls Offered

One of the many services to bowlers offered by Greenbrae Lanes is the scientific fitting of bowling balls.

Hands are as individual as faces and even beginner bowlers must select a ball with the correct weight, finger size and span from the many racks of bowling balls provided for use at the Lanes. Correct delivery of the ball demands complete control and a loose or tight grip can spoil an otherwise rhythmic delivery.

The balls provided for use at Greenbrae are drilled to fit a variety of average sizes but, as a bowler progresses, further refinement of fitting is desirable.

Frank Arbo of San Anselmo is the Brunswick-trained expert in ball fitting at Greenbrae Lanes. Specially designed ball-fitting equipment makes perfect fitting possible. Arbo, a trained machinist used to working with minimum tolerances, uses 31 different drillings and ball weights to fit his clients.

A bowling ball weighs from 10 to 16 pounds.

Buys Model Homes

Floyd H. White, San Rafael veterinarian, purchaser of the Greenbrae Co. model home on upper Eliseo Drive, is a connoisseur of model homes, according to George Bogel, Greenbrae Co. manager. This is the third model home that Dr. White has purchased.

Museum In Office

Neils Schultz, developer of Greenbrae and world traveler, has created a small museum in his office in the Bon Air Shopping Center. In it he has objects that he has collected from four continents. Japanese water colors, Chinese and African carved figures and boxes are among the many selections.

Fortner Youth Sent Back To S.F. Clinic

Clifford E. Fortner, 16, who stabbed 12-year-old Lorna Lax to death in Kentfield last year, was back today at Langley Porter Clinic in San Francisco, which he escaped on Nov. 22.

After a hearing before Superior Court Judge N. Charles Brusatori last evening, the youth was ordered back to the clinic to continue treatments he has been getting there since last April.

Judge Brusatori continued the case until next March 3 for another review. He asked that clinic officials have a full written report on progress made by the boy at that time.

Chief Probation Officer Walter Busher took young Fortner from Marin Juvenile Hall to the clinic last night after the hearing.

Those who met with the judge to discuss the future of the young slayer included Busher; Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety; Thomas P. Boyd, attorney for Fortner; Dr. Morris Peltz, supervising psychiatrist at the clinic and Miss Merle Updike, supervising social worker at the clinic.

The youth's parents, who now live in Novato, are taking on extra jobs to help pay for the boy's treatment at Langley-Porter.

Clifford and Michael Miller, 16, Mill Valley, walked out of the San Francisco clinic and drove into Mill Valley where they were caught when they ran a stop sign. Probation Officer Busher said Miller had asked for Thanksgiving leave but was turned down. Fortner had never asked for Thanksgiving leave, but had "sounded out" his superiors for Christmas leave.

When Miller decided to break out, Fortner probably just went along on the spur of the moment, said Busher.

School Site Purchase Set In Novato

Trustees of the Novato Unified School District last night passed a resolution of intent to purchase about three acres of land adjacent to the Novato High School site for a future elementary school.

Two appraisers now are checking the area, southwest of the high school grounds, Supt. W. J. J. Smith reported. An additional five acres would be added from the high school site to make room for an elementary school housing 450 youngsters, to be constructed within five years, the resolution said.

Estimated growth figures for the district show 3,005 students are expected in kindergarten through eighth grade next year, compared to the present 2,754. High school enrollment is expected to climb from the 823 of today to 926.

The additional students can be taught without double sessions, Smith said, as the Rancho School housing 300 pupils is expected to be completed by fall.

Schools Issue Due On KTIM

"Should county superintendents of schools be appointed or elected?" will be discussed on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow.

At present, both county superintendents and county boards of education are elective. A bill to make the county superintendent an appointive office is to be introduced at the 1961 session of the California Legislature.

Panel members for the KTIM discussion, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent; James W. Kirchanski, director of the 3-R Schools; Robert W. Corlett, San Anselmo Elementary School District trustee, and Mrs. Adele S. Alpers, member of the Marin County Board of Education.

trolman Foley, who had his patrol car parked behind the service station, walked up from the other side, and the boys were trapped. As Foley kept his eyes on the boys, di Grazia searched the car and came up with the bottles of wine and a .410 shotgun under the front seat.

Deputy Sheriff Edward McKamey drove up to help take the boys to the sheriff's office. Later search of the car turned up these items:

A .32-caliber automatic under the hood next to the engine block, a .303 rifle in the trunk, two hunting knives, a jack knife in the pocket of one of the boys, $177 in currency in a paper bag under the back seat, pieces of chain, cigarettes, three bottles of wine, and a hatchet.

The only ammunition found were for the .410 shotgun. Investigators said Donald Temple admitted using the automatic in the holdup but denied it was loaded at any time.

According to Inspector Bridges, Temple may have been involved in a strong-arm robbery in Sacramento last year, and a safe burglary in Iowa. "They were going to tie up the victims, pull down the shades, and then run off to Mexico," said Bridges. But from the outset, they forgot their rope and masks.

The ringleader was to be arraigned today for robbery, illegal liquor possession and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The other four will be turned over to juvenile authorities for robbery, illegal liquor possession, and delinquency.

a time. For more than that number, the charge would be one-third cent per quart.

Those who purchase milk in stores would escape the delivery charge, but the price would go up from 24 cents to 25½ cents for one-quart containers, and from 48 cents to 50½ cents for two-quart containers.

About half of the milk in Marin is sold in stores, Maes testified.

The seven distributors asking the increases are Borden's Dairy Delivery Co., Foremost Golden State Co., Lucas Valley Dairy, Marin-Dell Milk Co., Arden Farms, Spreckels-Russell Dairy Co. and Green Glen Dairy.

Donald A. Weinland, chief of the bureau, who presided at the hearing, said the bureau will study the submission and report to the State Department of Agriculture within 45 days.

Dystrophy Drive Starts Tomorrow Night In Novato

The Novato Volunteer Firemen's Assn. will launch its muscular dystrophy drive tomorrow night.

On Sunday afternoon, a group of 4-H Club members led by Joan Marzell will continue the house-to-house canvass.

Envelopes will be left at unoccupied houses for delivery to either of Novato's fire houses, drive chairman George Gnoss said.

The Novato volunteer firemen have annually sponsored the drive to fight muscular dystrophy, a chronic disease which destroys muscle tissue.

There are 11 cases in Marin County. Twenty-five per cent of the contributions stay in Marin for purchase of drugs, chairlifts and therapy. The remainder goes to the national organization for other uses, including research, said Gnoss.

Novato Delays License Law Discussion

Discussion of a proposed business license ordinance for Novato was postponed last night for city councilmen to consider four changes proposed by the chamber of commerce.

The business license ordinance, as proposed after discussion session of a council-chamber committee, would set a $25 flat yearly license fee for most city businesses, plus $2 for each employee after the first. It would set up other categories and requirements for special businesses and out-of-town operators in the city.

The suggested chamber changes, proposed in a letter to the council last night, were requests only for clarification of words in various sections and a request that the date of which employees be counted be changed.

Councilmen, who got their first formal look at the proposed ordinance at a late hour during last night's council meeting, continue discussion to the Dec. 6 meeting.

Airmen Chase Cows From Base

Airmen turned cowboys yesterday morning at Hamilton Air Force Base.

About 35 cows from the Manuel G. Pimental Ranch adjoining the north boundary of the base wandered through a fence and started eating their way toward the runways.

They were chased back by four or five airmen, on foot.

West Marin Stays Same In Projection

sort of skilled labor which is essential.

But this sort of thing is hard to project ahead to the year 2020.

Directly applicable to Marin County is this from the new volume:

"The natural beauty of the Bay Area and its cultural heritage and entertainment facilities have proven to be prime tourist attractions.

"When these assets are considered in the national context of rising disposable incomes and increased leisure time, the outlook favors an appreciable increase in the important tourist business."

Considering the area as a whole, the study lays stress on the status as major ocean port and an established position as financial, communications and distribution center. Thus future growth is expected as regional supply center and also increasing trade with the Pacific Basin and South America.

Marin's role seems calculated largely to be that of home and recreation spot, the first for San Franciscans working at a multitude of economic tasks and the second for these and also for visitors.

Study of a series of map projections supports this interpretation.

A map showing land use in 1960 has a few red patches to show present industrial areas of this county. There aren't many and they aren't big.

The Sausalito waterfront has a couple of small industrial streaks and Tiburon is marked. San Rafael is the major area, with a little coloration out at Point San Pedro, evidently for the quarry. The Fairchild plant makes a tiny mark on Highway 101 north of San Rafael and there are two or three more on the same road north and south of but not in Novato.

Off in West Marin the Radio Corp. of America transmitting and station areas are marked. (The Marin County Planning Commission points out that this map doesn't show land zoned for industry, but actual use.)

There's not much use in studying the charts of 10-year progress.

Skip all the way ahead to the experts' idea of how things will be in the year 2020 and while there's plenty of industrial "color" on the map areas south, all around San Francisco Bay to the southwest and east, as well as many inland areas, Marin shows relatively little change.

The cautious map-makers have left West Marin precisely the same as before. The whole Sausalito waterfront is now included, San Rafael is bigger, and there are new patches at two points: On San Pablo Bay at the mouth of Gallinas Creek, and at the Highway 101-Black Point intersection, where a considerable area appears east of 101, north of the Black Point road. The industrial patch north of Novato is bigger.

It would appear that caution had been the ruling factor, as nobody can be sure what might develop in such fields as electronics, or perhaps industries based on the broad Pacific — seashore chemical processes, say.

It's obvious that the soothsayers stand pat on their general prediction that Marin County for the next half-century and more will be predominatly a place for living, well but progressively scrunched up a little closer to your neighbor.

(Tomorrow: Land for urban needs.)

Asst. Police Chief Of Ross Hurt In Wreck

Leslie E. Flowers, assistant police chief of Ross, suffered neck and shoulder injuries when his patrol car skidded off the road and slid 30 feet down a ravine bank on Chestnut Avenue near Hillside Avenue in Ross yesterday. Flowers lives at 7 Redwood Drive in Ross.

Flowers said he was driving up Chestnut Avenue and started to turn around when he reached the top of the hill. As she started to turn in the fog and rain, the car skidded on wet leaves on the road. It went sideways down the ravine but remained on all four wheels. When the auto stopped against some small trees, Flowers radioed the county communications center.

Flowers, who had freed himself from the car, was personally pulled up to the road by a cable of the tow-truck.

He was taken by ambulance to the Ross General Hospital where X-rays showed no fractures.

OBITUARIES

Retired Printer Found Dead

James Purcell Brown, a 92-year-old retired printer, was found dead of a gunshot wound in the workshop of his Mill Valley home early today.

Police Chief James McGowan said Brown was believed to have accidentally shot himself while cleaning his grandson's rifle.

Brown's son, Horace Brown, found his father slumped over his workbench when he arrived home about 5 a.m. from working as a printer on a night shift at the San Francisco Examiner.

He told police he noticed a light burning in the small workshop, attached to the house at 36 Portola Lane. Entering, he found his father dying.

Police said the accident appeared to have happened between 8 and 10 p.m. The .22-caliber rifle, checked by police officer William Walsh, had one shell in it. The bullet had entered the right side of Brown's chest.

The rifle had been loaned to Brown by his grandson, Roger Brown, of Oakland, a few days ago.

Brown and his son Horace were the only occupants of the house.

Born in England, the elder Brown had lived in Mill Valley about 20 years. He retired about 10 years ago from his own printing business, J. P. Brown and Sons in San Francisco. A son, Ernest, now runs the business.

Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Services Held For Mrs. Kreil

Private funeral services were held Monday for Mrs. Ethel Agnes Kreil, a resident of Lagunitas for 15 years, who died Nov. 24 in a Martinez hospital. She was 71.

Inurnment was at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Mrs. Kreil had lived with her son, Edward F. Barbano, at Camp Lagunitas since 1945. She had been ill for the past two months and was visiting in Martinez when she was stricken.

Survivors are her son; a daughter, Mrs. Josephine Vale of San Francisco; two brothers, W. E. Wheeler of Stockton and George Orchard of San Francisco, and one grandchild.

A native of Salem, Ore., Mrs. Kreil lived for many years in San Francisco before moving to Marin County.

The family request contributions be made to the American Cancer Society.

Our 90th Anniversary of outstanding service to Californians

A lot of candles, a lot of years, for Crocker-Anglo is California's oldest national bank. Our roots date back to the days of the Gold Rush when the early pioneers came by oxcart and prairie schooner to stake out futures in California — El Dorado of the West. As the westward migration grew, overland stagecoaches replaced carts and wagons and then made way for the first railroad. Today, California is even more El Dorado of the West—rich with golden opportunities for you, your family and your business. And on this, our 90th Anniversary as a national bank, we offer the strength and stability of our time-tested banking services to help Californians continue to grow and prosper.

America's first transcontinental railroad was completed on May 10, 1869, when a spike of California gold was driven home in the pioneer railroad town of Promontory, Utah. Charles Crocker, along with his associates Leland Stanford, C.P. Huntington and Mark Hopkins, founded and built the historic railroad. The following year, on November 30, the institution that is now Crocker-Anglo was chartered as a national bank—the first in California. Today, W. W. Crocker, Charles Crocker's grandson, serves as Chairman of the Board.

Committees Plan Goes To Council

Ten committees which would study the present and help plan the future of Novato were proposed to Novato city councilmen last night.

The committees, long in the planning stage, would have members appointed on Jan. 20, the first anniversary of the city's incorporation.

A council committee studying the plan recommended last night that each committee consist of not more than seven members from "the greater Novato area," not just within the city limits.

Committees would be required to submit reports on their studies by next May 1, with City Administrator J. Julien Baget acting as coordinator.

Volunteers for the committees may place their names in nomination at the city hall, councilmen noted as they referred action on the committee program.

Committees proposed:

1. Central Business District —To submit a report for development of the area, including specific recommendations for off-street parking.

2. Industrial Development—To study ways to encourage business coming to Novato and review available areas to be planned for industrial development.

3. Recreation—To study existing and potential recreational facilities, report on specific recreational activities, indicate alternate means of financing and check possible co operative recreational facilities with other agencies.

4. Parks — Check potential park areas, check governmental reports on parks, report on alternate means of financing or acquisition of park areas.

5. Parkways and Trees — Prepare tree plan and alternate means of financing, study ways of encouraging community participation in tree planting.

6. Freeway Relocation — To use existing Novato Chamber of Commerce city committee.

7. Housing and Redevelopment—To review existing housing and redevelopment codes with view to possible local adoption; study possibility of using federal funds.

8. Local Government — To study potential of city hall fa cilities; examine administrative, finance and accounting and legal functions.

9. Agriculture — To study ways of cooperation between local government and agriculture.

10. Public Works—To study existing flood control and "street deficiencies reports"; report on needed immediate and long-term capital improvements.

Novato Plans New Survey Of Traffic

A house-to-house traffic survey is expected to begin next week in Novato.

The survey would dovetail with a recent State Division of Highways Survey which stopped cars briefly in the Novato area to find origin and destination.

The goal is an agreement between county planners, city officials and the state highway division on Novato road needs, particularly for the best location for an expanded Highway 101.

State engineers propose widening to an eight-lane freeway on the present route through the city; many Novato residents prefer an out-of-city route.

In a letter to the city read at last night's city council meeting, the highways division agreed to pay half, up to $500, for the survey. The city would pay the other half. The funds will pay for 10 census takers who will make a 25 per cent survey of homes to attempt to pinpoint highway use.

In other business, the Novato council:

1. Reversed the city planning commission to allow Mrs. Marie Hewitson to remodel a former garage-apartment at 1032 Sixth Street to a full apartment use. Neighbor George Speak wrote that he did not object.

2. Continued to Dec. 13 an appeal from a planning commission turndown of construction of a doughnut shop at Second Street and Industrial Way. Petitioner is Jack Caristi.

3. Continued discussion of an ordinance delineating "normal" subdivision requirements to Jan. 3.

4. Agreed to consider a taxicab franchise ordinance, at the suggestion of Louis Worden of the Novato Yellow Cab Co.

5. Approved a resolution to reconsider the county agreement with Paul I. Trousdale interests on the construction of San Jose Boulevard, now within the city limits.

7. Agreed not to meet on Dec. 20 or 27.

Novato Council Rejects Plea For Yule Decorations

Novato city councilmen last night reluctantly turned down a request from the city's chamber of commerce for $1,175 for city Christmas decorations.

The chamber asked that $350 be allotted for permanent plywood "tree-candle" cutouts for use on Grant Avenue utility poles. Brackets would cost another $625; labor for putting them up, $200.

But councilmen reminded the chamber of the tight budget for the city's first year, noted that an outright donation for decorations might be illegal, and wondered why no attempt had been made to solicit merchant donations.

Councilman Everett Pozzi called the cost of the plywood decorations "vastly inflated." They would be cut from four-by-eight-foot plywood pieces, chamber manager Robert Merritt told councilmen.

"Hit the merchants" for $700 or $800, suggested Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva, then come back to the council.

Councilmen voted 4-1 to turn down the request. Dissenter was Mayor Wayne Womack.

Marinship Plan Hearing Slated

The first public hearing on the Marinship report by planning consultant Frederick H. Allen will be held at 8 p.m. today before the Sausalito Planning Commission at the city hall.

The plan was submitted after Allen's one-month study of the area in which he made proposals regarding types of industry, waterfront uses, zoning and street patterns for Marinship.

Reed Trustees Plan Classrooms Meeting

Reed Union School District trustees will hold a special meeting tonight for adoption of a formal resolution applying for a state loan for the Del Mar Estates eight-classroom construction project, according to Supt. Paul R. Stouffer.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. in the district office, 605 Tiburon Boulevard. Nothing else is on the agenda, Stouffer said.

Equipment Accepted

Kentfield Fire District commissioners last night officially accepted their newest piece of equipment, a $35,816 pumper-ladder combination. The vehicle was designed specifically for the area and terrain of the district, and is the shortest of its type ever built in the United States, according to Fire Chief John McLeran.

Brown Hints He'll Seek Re-Election

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund Brown came close today to saying he'll be a candidate for re-election in 1962.

The Democratic governor volunteered the statement at a news conference on his return from a 15-day trip to South America.

"This is the toughest job I ever had," he said. "I like it. I enjoy it."

Falling just short of declaring his candidacy for another four-year term, the governor said he won't announce his plans for the 1962 campaign until after the 1961 session of the legislature.

He offered the statement, he said, to counter any impression of indecision on his part.

Brown, who had predicted President-elect John F. Kennedy would carry California by one million votes, reserved comment on why the state went to Vice President Richard M. Nixon by 35,000.

On other subjects, the governor:

Reiterated he intends to ask the legislature to exempt prescription drugs from the state sales tax even though state revenues are falling. But he said no new taxes will be proposed by the administration.

Declared he would seek some modification in the present law which makes relatives responsible for needy aged.

Parents' Math Course Slated

A course designed to save parents from mathematical idiocy in the eyes of their children will start at Marin County Day School at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Instructor will be Munzer Afifi of the school's faculty.

"During my time at the school," he said, "I discovered that parents might need some attention. I hope these classes will be accepted as an invitation to intellectual fun. There will be no homework, no roll call, no demand upon previous mathematical knowledge."

Elementary and junior high school teachers may attend without fee, said Costa J. Leodas, director of the school.

Burglar Gets $200 From Coin Changer

A burglar activitated a coin changer machine at the Village Launderette, 1135 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, and walked off with $200 in coins during the night, Police Chief Howard Clark reported.

Owner Morton A. Escher of 17 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, discovered the theft a little after 7 a.m. The automatic laundry is open 24 hours a day. Escher now plans to connect a burglar alarm to the coin changer, Clark said.

Mill Valley Postmaster McSweeney To Retire

John E. McSweeney, Mill Valley postmaster for 14 years, is working on his 37th and last Christmas season with the post office. He announced today he plans to retire Feb. 18.

"I'm very happy to know this Christmas will be the last one I have to fight the strain of handling heavy mails," he said.

Fifty-five in February, McSweeney said he plans to retire the day after he is eligible, but has not made application to retire as yet. He plans to go to work doing on-the-job training in real estate work for Kramer Associates of Mill Valley.

McSweeney said two men from the post office are attempting to get civic and political backing to be considered as his replacement. They are George Parker, assistant postmaster, and Edward D. Clark.

Parker, who lives at 124 Lovell Avenue, has been with the Mill Valley Post Office 27 years. Clark, a senior clerk who lives at 82 Del Casa Drive, Mill Valley, has been in post office work 23 years. He began at Dubois, Pa., then resigned and later was reinstated in Mill Valley in 1949.

McSweeney, a resident of Mill Valley since 1938, lives at 240 Buena Vista Avenue.

He began his postal career in 1924 in his native Benecia, and transferred to the Berkeley Post Office in 1931. He joined the Post Office Inspection Service in San Francisco in 1935. In 1943 he became an officer in the Navy and was assigned to establish fleet post offices in the Pacific area. "The day we landed in Japan, we were setting up post offices at Yokohama and Yokusaka," he said.

He retired as lieutenant commander in 1946 and received appointment as postmaster of Mill Valley while still in uniform.

McSweeney and his wife, Viola, have a son, Jack, who works for United Airlines in San Francisco, where he also lives.

Notary Commission

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a notary public commission to Selwyn H. Graham Jr., 21 Convent Court, San Rafael.

Novato Valley 4-H Sets Potluck Dinner

The Christmas potluck dinner and regular meeting of the Novato Valley 4-H Club will be held on Saturday at Marion School.

Dinner will start at 6 o'clock and the main course will be turkey. Entertainment will be a "high society" fashion show presented by the members.

Discussion Set On Park Site For Glenwood

Selection of a park site for Glenwood will be discussed by the San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission at its meeting 8 o'clock tonight in the city hall.

Commissioners are studying two six-acre parcels in the subdivision.

They originally recommended a park site on Robinhood Drive, but city councilmen said it included too much expensive street frontage. The estimated cost for the land and street improvement was $75,000.

Now being considered is a site with only two frontage lots on Knight Drive. Most of this park would be located off the street, behind the houses. Its price tag is estimated at $42,500.

Commissioners will also consider an application by the National Baseball Congress to hold the 26th state semi-pro tournament at Albert Field for the second year in a row. The tournament would start July 21, 1961.

Also before the commission is the resignation of Mrs. Faye L. Williams, supervisor of special activities, who is leaving San Rafael on Dec. 15 and moving to El Cerrito. Mrs. Williams had been with the department for eight months.

Memorial Dedicated To Pacific War Dead

A stone figure of Columbia, in front of a granite wall bearing the names of 412 members of United States armed forces who died in Pacific Coastal waters during World War II, was dedicated yesterday at the Presidio of San Francisco.

The monument was erected by the American Battle Monument Commission on a high ridge with a view of the Pacific Ocean. Sculptor of the statue was Jean de Marco of New York.

Civilian and military dignitaries were on hand for the dedication, including retired Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who commanded U. S. Navy forces in the Pacific during the war, and retired Gen. John L. DeWitt, who headed the Western Defense Command and the Fourth Army.

Also among the invited guests were five Gold Star Mothers from Marin: Mrs. Victor W. Jones of San Rafael, Mrs. John Jordan of San Anselmo, Mrs. Henry R. Sanborn of Fairfax, and Mrs. George T. Carpenter and Mrs. Louis Scroll of Novato.

Italian Painter Dies

ROVERETO, Italy (AP)—Fortunato Depero, 68, Italian painter who was a leader of the futurist school a half century ago, died yesterday of a heart attack. His futurist paintings, exhibited in New York and in many European cities between 1910 and 1930, are in many private collections.

MUSIC WHILE HE WALKS

Alexis (Ollie) Ross of Vallejo, walking from his hometown to the San Francisco City Hall, via Marin, to pay off an election bet, tootled a harmonica as he trudged down San Rafael's Lincoln Avenue yesterday afternoon. "The doctor told me the harmonica would keep my mind off my feet," he said, "but it hasn't." Ross, complaining of sore feet but determined to stick it out to the end of the trail, spent the night in a San Rafael hotel and started walking again in the rain this morning. He left Vallejo at 10 a.m. Monday. (Independent-Journal photo)

Committee Vetoes 12-Month School

The Mill Valley School District's nine-member finance study committee has turned thumbs down on the idea of a 12-month school.

Operating the district's schools on a four-quarter system would not be a satisfactory solution to the problem of classroom space, the committee held in a report submitted to district trustees this week.

The committee endorsed the idea of a summer session—but not as a part of the regular school year.

The board will review the report at a meeting Dec. 12 at Park School.

In the 22-page report, covering a six-month study, the committee found disadvantages outweigh advantages of the 12-month school plan.

It noted that Aliquippa, Pa., tried the plan for 10 years and abandoned it. The report said the committee had learned of no other school district that uses the plan in the United States.

Sole advantage to the plan, the report said, is that the disbursement of students would be favorable in that class sizes would be reduced.

Disadvantages were listed as:

1. The plan does not solve the problem of insufficient classrooms.

2. The plan requires 18 classrooms per school and only Edna Maguire has that many.

3. The four-quarter plan, which would theoretically increase classroom capacity up to 33 per cent, would cost more. There would be little saving in operating cost and instruction costs would be increased to pay teachers during the summer.

4. It was suggested that there would be "a major impact on maintaining a high caliber teaching staff with high morale."

5. Integrating schools with with Tamalpais High School would be difficult because there would be eighth grade graduations four times a year.

6. Vacations would be a problem.

7. Education would be adversely affected by increased shifting of students from school to school and from teacher to teacher.

8. Classroom organiztion four times yearly require more clerical help.

In favoring the summer program, the committee cited very little additional cost to the district. The program would assist students who need additional help in academic subjects, particularly reading, writing and arithmetic an would enrich with such courses as music and physical Education.

Members of the committee, who were highly complimented for their work by board chairman Robert H. Andresen, are Steve Cook, chairman, Mrs. Arne Anderson, Archer Forsyth, Robert Gordon, Edward Kemp, Colin Menzies Jr., Robert Petersen, Glenn Skelton and Willard Tribble.

Civic Center Vault, Alarm System Voted

Marin County's new civic center will have a spanking new vault and burglar alarm system, the board of supervisors decided yesterday.

The price tag will be $8,103, the only bid submitted by Diebold, Inc., of San Francisco, manufacturers of safes, chests, vaults and alarms.

If the 2-year-old safe now in the auditor's office in the courthouse were used, a saving of $841 could have been effected. The majority of the supervisors decided, however, that the present safe could not be used. Supervisor William D. Fusselman voted against purchasing the new equipment.

The supervisors also awarded a contract for folding doors in the new building to Fire Production Products Co. of San Francisco. The single bid submitted for the doors was $15,978.

Board Rejects Probation Chief Raise

Any raise in salary for Walter Busher, Marin County probation officer, will have to wait until next year's budget discussions, the county board of supervisors decided yesterday.

Appealing to the board for a raise for Busher was Roy A. Ibach, chairman of the Marin County Probation Committee.

"His pay is not commensurate with the responsibilities of the job," Ibach told the board, adding that Marin paid its probation officer far less than any of seven neighboring Bay Area counties.

Busher's salary is $770 a month. Ibach said his committee recommended a raise to $846, still less than the $998 paid in Alameda County and $950 in Contra Costa County.

"Our 'competition' is with the State of California and the Bay Area counties," Ibach said, expressing fear that unless Busher's salary were raised he would be hired away from Marin. Busher is "looked up to all over the state," he said.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman suggested a study of counties of size corresponding to Marin, such as Sonoma. "If you are going to compare salaries, you should also compare the actual operation of the job," Fusselman said. "The same title does not always carry the same work load."

Ibach was asked to bring in such a comparative report for reference when the raise comes up during the budget sessions.

The board also told Ibach that any reorganization of the probation department would be impossible until after the first of the year.

Ibach had requested the board to raise a deputy probation officer to a supervisory position.

Any reorganization would have to wait until a scheduled conference with the sheriff's department to determine possible overlapping of work by the two departments, the board ruled.

OPEN DOOR POLICY? NOT AT THIS HOUSE

ONTARIO, San Bernardino County (UPI)—Mrs. Bernard Pennino opened the door to her home and was astounded to see the man standing outside turn pale, spin around and dash out the yard by vaulting a three-foot fence.

It took the housewife several minutes before she realized what caused the man's apparent terror, she explained to police yesterday.

When the doorbell rang, said Mrs. Pennino, she tripped over the toy gun of her son, Jimmie, 15, and carried it with her to the door.

She discovered she had the gun in her hand while the man, apparently a salesman, must have been reading a sign her son had tacked up on the front door. The sign read:

"We shoot every third salesman and the second one just left."

Mill Valley Trustees Won't Oppose Bar

Construction of a restaurant and bar adjacent to Strawberry Point school will not be further opposed by the Mill Valley School Board.

The board had objected to plans for development of Greenwood Lagoon because of the bar's proximity to the school. After hearing that the board's letter of protest had failed to impress the Marin County Planning Commission, trustees voted 3-2 Monday night, with Trustees Kenneth N. Nelson and George M. Wood dissenting, to abandon protest.

The board voted unanimously to notify the board of supervisors that it does not favor the extension of Harbor Cove Way along the school's southern boundary.

Bond issues were again suggested to trustees as the answer to how to house expanding enrollment in schools.

Mrs. James Behr, president of the Edna Maguire School Parent-Teacher Assn., by letter, said "another bond election will have to be held."

Another letter was read asking that a new bond issue be sought in April. The letter was signed by 28 people.

The board put the matter over for discussion and debate until Dec. 12 at Park School and urged all interested citizens to be present and continue to send in suggestions.

Sen. McCarthy Spent $5,039 On Election

State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael spent $5,039 on his successful re-election campaign, according to figures filed with the secretary of state and announced in Sacramento.

The Marin County Republican defeated his Democratic opponent, Charles M. Geller, by approximately 30,000 votes.

Leftist Students Still Battling In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Leftist students fought a gun-battle with troops today in defiance of President Romulo Betancourt.

The stubborn challenge to the authority of the moderate Socialist president made the situation increasingly critical for his government.

Firing from high school buildings on Avenue Roosevelt has continued sporadically since Monday night. It is part of widespread rioting in the capital that has killed six persons and injured at least 105 in an attempt to touch off a revolution and establish a Castro-style government.

Tough military crackdowns, supported by a suspension of civil guarantees, have snuffed out most of the rioting which began last Friday. However, for a time last night it spread from the slum districts of western Caracas to the fashionable eastern end.

The main battle was centered at Miguel Caro High School in western Caracas. The school is adjacent to Caracas University, which officials said appeared to be the demonstrators' chief stronghold.

Police have not attempted to enter the university grounds, where Social Christian Party students backing Betancourt fought their way into classrooms to break a Communist student strike.

One leftist group attempted to storm the police station nearby but were driven back by tear gas and armored cars of the presidential guard.

Another gang of youths tried to burn a bus in the southern suburb of Chaguaramos, despite orders to the army to shoot such firebrands on sight. The bus was saved by firemen.

Troops took up positions in Puente Trinidad Street, where several newspapers are published. The papers have advocated a tough line in suppressing Communist activities. Betancourt has charged the Communists are behind the rioters.

National Guardsmen earlier occupied the press room of the Communist Tribuna Popular after the paper issued a call for revolution.

Freighter Grounded In Great Lakes

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) —A Liberian freighter lay grounded and leaking on a Lake Michigan island today, battered by gale winds and waves which hampered Coast Guard rescue efforts.

The Francisco Morazan ran aground off the shore of South Manitou Island during a gale Tuesday night. At that time the captain, Eduardo Trizizas, told the Coast Guard there were 15 men and a woman aboard. Later he told a reporter on ship-to-shore telephone there were only 14 persons aboard.

Trizizas first said "there is leakage in the double bottom," but later in the morning reported his condition worsening with water in all holds, three and a half feet deep in some places.

Visibility improved as the day wore on, but the wind and sea remained high.

The Coast Guard flew a plane over the scene and sent two helicopters to the island to stand by.

Completes Basic

Airman Gary E. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Johnson of 20 Edna Court, Kentfield, has completed Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., and been assigned to attend ground radio operator school at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

S.F. Man, 23, Found Guilty Of Burglary

William Wayne Keller, 23, of San Francisco, faces one to 15 years in prison for breaking into the West Marin Pharmacy and dentist Frederick J. Saam's office in Point Reyes Station last July 22.

A jury of eight women and four men heard the case before Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. in Marin Superior Court and found Keller guilty of second degree burglary after an hour and a half of deliberation.

Judge Sims will sentence Keller Friday morning. Keller has two prior felony convictions in San Francisco, for burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

Deputy Dist. Atty. P. Roy Vallarino, prosecutor, introduced evidence to show that Keller broke into the pharmacy but tripped a burglar alarm before he could get any loot. He drove away in a car, and later was caught in Sonoma County.

Group Proposes County Gas Tax

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A State Assembly committee says California counties should initiate a gasoline tax to help pay for new highway construction under their jurisdiction.

The Assembly Interim Committee on Revenue and Taxation expressed the majority opinion at a public hearing here yesterday.

The motion came from Assemblyman Jesse Unruh (D-Los Angeles), who said he hoped the State Legislature would not have to impose an additional gasoline tax.

Cello Program Planned Sunday

A program of sonatas for violincello by Bach, Boccherini and Brahms will be presented by Jean Mattos Maguire Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Outdoor Art Clubhouse, Mill Valley.

A cellist with the San Francisco Symphony and the Marin Arts Quartet, Mrs. Maguire is prinicipal 'cellist with the Marin Symphony Guild Orchestra.

She will be assisted at the piano by Robaline Meacham of Mill Valley. The concert will benefit the Mount Carmel Church building fund. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

NOW ENJOY 3-MINUTE OATS

The best of OATS, from the land of OATS

Yes, oats grow to their plump, wholesome, flavorful best in the fertile fields of the midwest. In this land of oats, sun, showers, and the rich, black soil gently nourish the grain right up to its final golden harvest.

To make 3-Minute Oats, the choicest grain from each crop is then carefully graded, cleaned, and Fireless Cooked — At The Mill — For 12 Hours. Like baking a potato, this exclusive, costly, slow-cure process seals in all the precious vitamins and minerals — brings out all the rich, nut-like flavor of the whole grain.

LESS FLOUR — BETTER FLAVOR! Another 3-Minute processing "exclusive" is the elimination of excess flour. When added to water, flour makes paste, you know. So — floury oats cook to an objectionable pasty, gummy flavor and texture. In contrast, flour-free 3-Minute Oats cook up fast, flaky and delicious every time. Help yourself to health and goodness — enjoy 3-Minute Oats — the very best of Oats — from the land of Oats!

Beef Stew and Dumplings

1-lb. can beef stew
¼ cup PET Evaporated Milk
1 egg
1 cup biscuit mix

Heat beef stew in 10-in. skillet until steaming hot. Put PET Milk into measuring cup. Add egg and beat well. Put biscuit mix into 1-qt. bowl. Add egg mixture, stirring just enough to moisten biscuit mix. With 2 tablespoons, drop dough on top of hot stew to make 8 small dumplings. Cover tightly. Cook over low heat 10 min., without lifting cover. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

New, Tenderized Beef Gets Try At Dinner In Marin County

A method of tenderizing beef as revolutionary in the food industry as nuclear fission was to the world of physical science has been developed by Swift and Co., nationally known meat packing firm, after 20 years of research by biological chemists, nutritionists, veterinarians and other food specialists.

Henceforth, brides with no knowledge of cooking beyond an ability to light the gas and open the oven door may oven-roast or barbecue everything from a standing rump, sirloin tip and boneless chuck on down to rolled brisket, and fry or broil round steaks or flanks with perfect assurance that the outcome will be no less succulent than the highest quality rib roasts, T-bones, tenderloins and filets in a skillet. Stew meat may be impaled on skewers and turn out as mouth-melting as the finest brochettes.

The beef, of course, will have to be Swift's, and more particularly, Swift's Proten, pre-tenderized through an exclusive patented process developed by the introduction of natural vegetable proteins called enzymes into the circulatory system of steers about a half hour before slaughter — utilizing nature's most efficient pumping plant for uniformity.

Home economists and newspapermen were treated to an example of what can happen to a dry-cooked cross ribs roast from beef subjected to the Proten process at a dinner held at Bob's of Marin restaurant in Corte Madera last Monday night put on by Swift and Co. and Jim Kilpatrick of Bon Air Market, the only present retail outlet for the new Swift product in Marin.

The beef might well have been sliced from prime rib and was tender enough to be separated with a fork. Its distinctive qualities were made more dramatic by serving with it for contrast the same quality of meat unprocessed.

Impact of the new process on the price of meat and on the public's general buying habits is likely to be a gradual thing, since Swift's patents on the enzymes and method of application will no doubt see slow and strictly controlled licensing to other suppliers — perhaps supervised by government inspectors.

The enzymes are described as harmless, natural food elements, the same as those consumed by us daily in other foods we eat; they do not affect the flavor of the meat in any way, and remain dormant until a temperature of 120 degrees has been reached in the cooking. Beef so processed need not be aged before use but its keeping qualities are not impaired.

So far, only good quality steer beef is subjected to treatment by the packing firm. Future plans call for probable use with other meats, turkey and possibly chicken.

MODERN EVE SHOP'S cosmetic department head, Miss Margaret Williams of San Rafael, has recently returned from a visit and training program at Charles of the Ritz school and salon in New York City and the company's factory in Norwalk, Conn.

She was one of nine picked throughout the country to be sent to headquarters for instruction in the so-called "Gold Dust" look for the holiday season (a process of eye shadowing and makeup) and to be briefed on new makeup trends which will tie in with next year's spring styles.

Modern Eve Shop is the exclusive agent for Charles of the Ritz cosmetics in Marin County.

Stanford Report On Tam Needs Due Next Month

A report on needs of Tamalpais Union High School District by the Stanford School Planning Laboratory may be made to the board of trustees at a December meeting, Supt. Chester G. Carlisle said today.

The survey was authorized by the trustees as a followup to a similar one in 1956 to determine school capacity, projected growth and logical location of future school sites.

Carlisle said he had received a preliminary report from Stanford and the work was completed except for its refinement and reproduction. In general, he said, the conclusions and recommendations will not differ materially from those in the 1956 report. He has asked the Stanford personnel to report to the trustees at the regular Dec. 19 meeting or at a special meeting.

Mumps Leading Disease List

Mumps, after subsiding for one week, swelled again in Marin County last week.

Eighteen new cases were reported to the Marin County Health Department, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, said today. Eight of them were in San Rafael, six in San Anselmo, two in Mill Valley and one each in Kentfield and Novato.

Other communicable diseases reported included four cases of streptococcic infections, a case of measles and a case of tuberculosis.

Vandals Break Windows At Homes

Vandals knocked out 15 windows and two plate glass patio doors in new homes under construction at Marinwood Estates, the job foreman has complained to sheriff's deputies.

Roy A. Hill, foreman for H. Fred Anderson Construction Co., estimated damage at $350. He said he had chased juveniles from the work site the past two or three weekends, and the youngsters may have stoned the windows for revenge.

Hill said some of the interior doors of new homes had been scratched with a sharp instrument.

San Anselmo Bank Officer Will Retire

Ralph R. Emery of San Anselmo, vice president and cashier of Wells Fargo Bank American Trust Co., will retire from the bank tomorrow.

Joining the bank 40 years ago, he has been an officer for 38 years.

He was named assistant cashier at Santa Rosa in 1922 and, moving to the San Francisco head office in 1924, advanced to assistant vice president in 1934, vice president in 1949, and vice president and cashier in 1950.

His banking career started in 1917 when he became associated with a bank in his native city of Orange, Mass., immediately following high school.

He has held such posts as president of Group Six of the California Bankers Assn., and chairman or member of numerous association committees on bank operations.

He and his wife, Alice, have resided at 126 Crescent Road, San Anselmo, for many years.

A camera called an evaporograph can photograph a black cat sitting on a coal pile in a moonless night. The evaporograph gathers heat radiation which objects send out in varying degrees and wave lengths and focuses these radiations on a thin oil film.

PROMOTED — P. R. Ryason of 221 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollows, has been promoted to senior research chemist at the Richmond laboratory of California Research Corp., a Standard Oil subsidiary. He holds a Ph. D. degree in physical chemistry from Harvard University, and joined the research staff of Standard Oil Co. of California in 1953.

Fairfax Man Ends Air Force Training

Clifford D. Carrick, 19, son of Mrs. Ruth Carrick of 148 Domingo Avenue, Fairfax, this week completed basic Air Force training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

Carrick, now an airman third-class, is scheduled to report Dec. 7 for duty at Fairchild Air Force Base, Wash.

Six New Directors Elected To Chamber

Six new directors were elected to the board of the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Re-elected were Lawrence Biancalana, Pacific Gas and Electric Co.; Richard Cuthbert of Cuthbert's Blue Print; Paul R. Leahy, California Pacific Title Co., and Edward P. Morphy, Tamarin Realty Associates. Elected for the first time were Irving Chapman of Chapman's Shoes and Francis Fogarty, J. C. Penney Co.

The new directors will serve two-year terms beginning Jan. 1. They will be installed at the annual chamber membership meeting late in January.

Mailed ballots were received from 217 of the 350 chamber members, reported chamber manager Richard L. Shirley.

The 15-man board of directors will meet at 10 a.m. Friday in the chamber office to appoint three directors at large from the membership for one-year terms. Chamber president Burton R. Kirchner will appoint a nominating committee for new officers.

Nominations for a president, two vice presidents, a treasurer and manager will be submitted to the board at a noon meeting in Rickey's Rancho Rafael on Dec. 13. The officers are elected for one year terms beginning Jan. 1.

Firm Protests Action Of Sign

Coldwell, Banker and Co., real estate firm at 1242 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, this week appealed a use permit which reduced a proposed sign in front of its office from 20-by-4 feet to 16-by-3 feet.

San Rafael planning commissioners reduced the size of the sign in granting a use permit last week.

The protest will be heard by the San Rafael City Council on Monday night.

Three Hurt In Crashes Near HAFB

Three persons were injured in two rear-end crashes 15 minutes apart during the heavy traffic period near Hamilton Air Force Base main gate on Highway 101 Monday afternoon.

Un Obee, 23, of Vallejo was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for bruises on head and left knee, suffered when a car northbound driven by Russel Obee rammed a vehicle driven by John R. Drafton of Petaluma after being struck from behind by a sedan driven by Theodore L. DeCroft of Birmingham, Mich., at 5:15 p.m., just south of the Hamilton gate.

Fifteen minutes later and a few yards from the scene of the first mishap, Donald Davis, 18, of Santa Rosa also northbound, drove into a halted car driven by Gale Ann Foster, 17-year-old Novato High School student of 2030 Hatch Road, Novato.

Miss Foster's car was jammed into a truck just ahead. Both Miss Foster and a passenger, Susan Wilcox, 16, of 451 Leisure Lane, Novato, reported cuts and bruises but said they would see their own doctor.

Apartment Project Tossed To Planners

Visions of a 20-million-dollar community apartment project for the end of Strawberry Point caused the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday to refer back to the planning commission a Samuel R. Neider tidelands development it recently rejected.

Despite angry remonstrances from Strawberry residents, the board had already confirmed the planners' approval of two other Neider projects, allowing apartment development of 13 acres near Highway 101 and reducing lot sizes from 10,000 square feet to 7,500 on a man-made island east of Strawberry Point.

Not only did attorney Bryan R. McCarthy stage an unusually dramatic personal performance on behalf of the three Neider developments for which he has already staged several battles, but this time he brought in help.

The initial group on filled tideland east of the point should bring Marin County $250,000 in taxes annually, Flood estimated, with the whole peninsula under similar development returning at least 1.5 million dollars in "the most spectacular development in the world."

Against this and the other Neider proposals of the day was launched a tumult of objection ranging from the temperate presentations of Stephen Kauffman and Ralph Cole for the Strawberry Property Owners Assn., backed by protest petition with 274 signatures, to choleric flings from the audience of "carving the county up" and "building chicken coops"—which McCarthy disdained to answer.

Residents complained that they had bought under representation that single-family development was contemplated with minimum 10,000 square foot lots. Existing heavy traffic and school hazards on Strawberry Drive were cited but McCarthy countered that a new road would become the main artery.

Chairman Walter R. Castro, who finally moved that the Harbor Point project be referred back to the planners, said it was necessary that this "new information" be considered as put before the board by architect Lloyd Flood and his partner Ralph T. Walters, both of 419 Belvedere Avenue, Belvedere.

Flood said the two had "sought the most beautiful property in the San Francisco Bay area" and that Neider had at Strawberry Point the most fortunate possible locale for "tower apartments in a park-like setting."

"We want to preserve all the natural beauty," he said in showing colored drawings which he said have already brought New York guarantee of $2,250,000 for the first tower building, to be followed by four more plus 15 "patio town houses" along with yacht basin.

Flood said these would be "the most beautiful apartments in Marin County" with "extra low density" only one-third that of planning standard, involving little community expense but bringing high taxes.

SUPERVISORS ROUNDUP

Propriety Of Planner's Appearance Questioned

A question of the propriety of appearance of a county planning commission member before the Marin County Board of Supervisors to speak on a matter already heard by the planners was raised by a supervisor yesterday.

The planner was Felix M. Warburg, lone dissenter against approval by the commission Nov. 21 of a tentative map of William Kent Estate Co.'s 27-acre Seadrift Lagoon No. 2 at Stinson Beach.

Warburg had argued for leaving a number of lots vacant. He appeared before the supervisors yesterday to say that in his view the subdivider should consider the problem of open space.

"I question the propriety of your speaking here," said Supervisor William D. Fusselman. "You are a member of the planning commission and had a chance to express yourself there.

"I've been many times on the losing end of a vote myself."

Denys W. Behenna, a Stinson Beach resident, said the subdivision would mean "355 houses in a series of straight lines, 12 feet apart . . . a type of tract development not compatible with this area."

Attorney Bryan R. McCarthy took strong exception, saying that "the Kents have put in half a million to a million dollars—are they going to build junk?" Anyway, he said, an original map was approved in 1958 and "all we're trying to do is keep to the original plan."

Planning Director Mary Summers finally pointed out that the supervisors were merely considering four exceptions prescribed by the planners. These, relating to Dipsea Road, omission of map contours and sizes of two lots, hadn't been previously mentioned.

In haste and relief the supervisors voted approval.

The supervisors also:

1. Appointed: In public works department—Robert Lee Frederickson as maintenance man II at $401, Robert S. Norwood and Leslie S. Wong as junior civil engineers at $483; in data processing—Sam West as tabulating operator II at $483.

2. Approved paying $1,039.32 for overtime at the county hospital and farm since July after learning alternative procedure would cost $1,200 monthly for four extra employees.

3. Let Chairman Walter R. Castro volunteer as a committee of one to "stop the blatting of a bakery truck" in Santa Venetia.

4. Declined, as involving new policy, proposal by North Marin Water District manager Jerome Gilbert that Peach Street, Novato area, pipe relocation costing $826 be charged against a local assessment district rather than the water district.

5. Agreed to grapple soon, probably next Tuesday, with demands for final decision on Richardson Bay flood control and possible refunds to people in Tamalpais Valley Flood Control District if that project is abandoned.

6. Set for 2 p.m. Dec. 20 hearing Greenwood Lagoon master plan, involving 29 acres to be used for two projects near Tiburon Boulevard in Strawberry; and rezoning of last of five sections of Alto property affected by freeway.

7. Approved adjustment for new classrooms for Presbytery of the Redwoods, Adrian Way, Santa Venetia.

8. Bought for Public Works Department a $7,956 backhoe and loader, receiving credit for $3,120 spent on five months rent plus a $1,050 trade-in.

9. Referred to Supervisor Vera Schultz, absent due to illness, a problem of whether the county should object to the army engineers about George Kappas's application for three years' extension of his Richardson Bay dredge-and-fill permit.

Terra Linda High School Dedicated

Terra Linda High School—the $1,750,000 school plant on Nova Albion Way—was dedicated last night in a four-hour ceremony witnessed by 400 parents but not one student.

The school's 440 pupils had been instructed by school officials to stay home during the dedication in the gymnasium.

In use on the 29-acre site are a two story, L-shaped academic building housing classrooms, library and administrative offices; and four other buildings, a cafeteria, gymnasium, music building and shop. A $100,000 swimming pool is being constructed and should be ready for use in April.

The first officers of the newly formed Terra Linda Parent-Teacher Assn. were elected during the evening.

They are president Frank Parker of 8 Cushing Avenue, Santa Venetia; first vice president Jack C. West of 724 Butternut Drive, Terra Linda; second vice president, Principal Webster Wilson; secretary, Mrs. Mavis Lundmark of 330 Hyacinth Lane, Terra Linda, and Treasurer, Mrs. Eleanor Gaustad of 642 Blackberry Drive, Marinwood.

Dedication ceremonies were included in the open house comprising the school's second "Back to School Night" in which parents followed their children's schedules through six chopped-down 15-minute periods. They visited classrooms and talked briefly with the school's 24 teachers and administrators.

A rectangular bronze plaque proclaiming "this building dedicated to truth, liberty and toleration" was presented to Principal Wilson by Mount Tamalpais Parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West. The parlor also donated an American flag and California state to the school.

New Catholic Church Plans Told In Novato

Construction will begin in about a year on a new church for the congregation of Our Lady of Loretto Roman Catholic parish in Novato.

Rev. Charles Farrell, pastor of the parish, announced at Sunday masses that the archdiocese of San Francisco has approved construction of a new church on the grounds of Our Lady of Loretto School, a few blocks from the present church.

The size of the church will be dictated by the number of parking spaces possible on the property, Father Farrell said today. One parking space is required by city planning laws for each seat in the church. The style also will depend somewhat on the size, he said.

Architect J. Clarence Felciano, who designed the school and the convent for the teaching nuns in Novato, will design the church. The cost still is unknown, as preliminary plans for the church are just being drawn, Father Farrell said.

Construction on the six-acre school site is expected to begin in a year to 18 months. Plans still are indefinite on what other church facilities will be included.

The new church would replace the present one which can seat only 200 persons. An average of 1,900 persons attend the six masses each Sunday, Father Farrell reported.

The two early masses are held in the church; the others are held in the parish hall, which seats 400 persons.

Father Farrell and an assistant pastor have a parish with 1,100 member families extending from north of Hamilton Air Force Base to the Sonoma County line, and from the bay to Hicks Valley.

Stanford Club Meets Tomorrow

Marin County Stanford Club will meet at the Meadow Club in Fairfax at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow for its annual dinner meeting.

Stanford University alumni living in Marin will have a chance to hear and see what is happening at the various Stanford campuses—at the Farm in Palo Alto; at Tours, France; in Florence, Italy, and in Germany. Speaker will be Frederic O. Glover, executive assistant to the president of Stanford. Glover just returned from dedication ceremonies at the new campuses in France and Italy.

Those who plan to attend may make reservations with Mrs. Paul Kern of 584 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael.

Named To Demo Unit

Nancy Swadesh of Mill Valley, Marin Democratic party leader, has been named to the board of directors of the Northern California Chapter, Americans for Democratic Action. Paul Seabury, associate professor of political science at University of California at Berkeley, was named chairman.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Kidnapers of rich sportsman Anthony Alessio were bunglers who "left trails a mile wide," a police official says.

Five suspects have been arrested. Federal agents believe one or two more members of the gang may still be at large. About $83,000 of the $200,000 ransom paid for Alessio's release has been recovered.

Three persons were arraigned here yesterday on a state charge of kidnaping, which is punishable on conviction by life imprisonment with possible parole after seven and one-half years because the victim was unharmed. Arraigned were James Robert Gorman, 29, escaped convict; his wife, Ruby, 30, and Selma Marrone, 25. Each was held in lieu of $210,000 bail.

Two others were arrested yesterday. They are Richard Lee Hoffman, 24, named by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as one of the gunmen who abducted Alessio from his driveway, and Frank Marrone, 31, a convicted Alaska murderer awaiting appeal.

The principal industries of Surinam—formerly Dutch Guiana — are mining, agriculture and lumbering.

CHP To Patrol Near Oakland With 'Copters

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The California Highway Patrol will take to the air in helicopters starting Monday to patrol and help speed traffic on the heavily traveled Nimitz Freeway near Oakland.

Bradford N. Crittenden, patrol commissioner, announced the airborne traffic troubleshooting patrol today.

It will be the CHP's first test of aerial patrols for heavily traveled freeways. The only previous test was with a conventional airplane over desert roads in the Barstow area.

Crittenden said Sgt. P. B. Omelich, coordinator of the project and the man who will do the actual flying most of the time, will be primarily on the lookout for accidents and stalled vehicles, but also will watch for traffic violations. He'll be in touch with ground units by radio.

The helicopter patrol will continue through the month of December, including the holiday season.

Normal patrols will be during daylight peak traffic hours during the week and on one weekend day.

Ex-Cavalryman Ends 20-Year Army Career

A Sleepy Hollow Army officer, who began his military career with the horse cavalry in its twilight years, retired today at Fort Mason after 20 years of service.

He is Lt. Col. William E. Worrall of 21 Fawn Drive.

When Worrall enlisted in the Army in 1940 with the Third Cavalry, mounted troops were literally on their last four legs. Shortly after receiving his lieutenant's bars in 1942, Worrall became one of the Army's last instructors in military horsemanship at Fort Riley, Kan.

Cavalry units were being converted to armored vehicles when World War II broke out, but when the fighting shifted to the rugged terrain of China and Burma, the horse and his cousin, the old Army mule, gained a respite from oblivion. In 1943, accordingly, Colonel Worrall was ordered to activate the 252nd Pack Troop. As its commander he took the unit of 300-odd horses and mules—and men—to fight the lonely supply line battles in the high country of China and Burma.

After the end of World War II, Colonel Worrall was transferred to Army intelligence assignments in Alaska, Germany, the Pentagon and finally, in 1957, to Fort Mason. Until a few months ago he was chief of the intelligence division of the Pacific Transportation Terminal Command headquarters.

WILLIAM E. WORRALL
Last man on a horse

Most recently Colonel Worrall has presided as head of the Fort Mason Transient and Officers' Mess.

Colonel and Mrs. Worrall, the former Elizabeth Hubbard of Middleburg, Va., have three children: Virginia, 13; Elizabeth, 9, and William, 7.

The Worralls hope to stay in Marin

S.F. Officials Question Use Of Span Aide

San Francisco's city-county supervisors want to ask Golden Gate Bridge directors some questions about the hiring of an administrative assistant to bridge manager James Adam.

Supervisor James Leo Halley said yesterday he would invite the bridge directors, by letter, to a caucus with the supervisors some time next month to justify among other things the need for a $12,000-a-year assistant to the bridge manager.

William Hendricks, San Rafael advertising and publicity man, was hired last week for the job.

Halley said he wants to ask some questions about the financial condition of the bridge district, too.

Also, the San Francisco supervisors will discuss appointment of a member of the bridge board to succeed Maurice Moskovitz, who died Oct. 28.

They may also discuss reappointment of two San Francisco members of the board whose terms expire Dec. 23. The two are Dan London and William D. Hadeler.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 30th, the 335th day of the year with 31 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mars and Mercury:

The evening stars are Jupiter, Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1782, preliminary peace articles ending the Revolutionary War between the United States and Great Britain were signed in Paris.

In 1804, for the first time in U.S. history, a justice of the supreme court, Samuel Chase, went on trial in impeachment proceedings.

In 1835, Samuel Langhorne Clemens, better known as Mark Twain, was born.

In 1874, former British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill was born.

In 1922, Sarah Bernhardt made her final stage appearance in Turin, Italy.

In 1949, Chinese Communists captured Chungking, China.

A thought for today: English novelist and poet George Meredith said: "Kissing don't last; cookery do."

Marin Court Soon To Decide On Sanity In 1947 Slaying

ERWIN A. WALKER
Ready to die?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Within the next few weeks, a Marin court will decide if a former policeman convicted of killing a highway patrolman 14 years ago has been cured of his insanity and is now ready to die in the gas chamber.

Erwin W. Walker, 42, nephew of a superior court judge, son of a one-time Los Angeles county engineer and veteran of bloody combat in World War II, was found guilty in 1947 of killing Loren Roosevelt, a highway patrolman who suspected he was a burglar.

Less than three years earlier, Walker had been a typical, clean-cut American second lieutenant leading troops under blistering Japanese fire in the Philippines. And before that, he was a well-liked high school athlete who grew up to become a respected rookie on the Glendale Police Department.

Sentenced to death by a Los Angeles County judge, Walker was taken to San Quentin Prison's Death Row. On the day before his scheduled execution, he tried to commit suicide.

Clinton Duffy of San Anselmo, then warden of the prison, said the condemned man seemed to be suffering from hallucinations. A panel of doctors was hastily summoned and 30 minutes from the time set for the execution, he was declared insane. A jury agreed two weeks later. In effect, it was a reprieve—California law doesn't permit the execution of an insane man.

That was on April 15, 1949. Since then, Walker has lived in state institutions undergoing therapy.

Meanwhile, his lawyer, John C. Houlihan of Oakland, battled the conviction, contending Walker's mental condition—and crime career—were caused by his experiences in the Pacific war.

Two weeks ago, Walker's status changed and California's legal machinery began nudging him toward the gas chamber.

Dr. William C. Keating Jr., head of the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, where the convict is held, declared that therapy has been successful and Walker is sane.

His report will be forwarded to the Department of Mental Hygiene here. The department will make its own findings and send them to the Marin County Superior Court, which found Walker insane in 1949.

If the Marin court says Walker is sane, he will be brought to San Quentin and the Los Angeles superior court will set a new execution date. And, if the court finds he is still insane, he will be returned to a mental institution.

No matter what happens, Houlihan says he will ask Gov. Edmund G. Brown to commute the sentence to life imprisonment. Only once has a California governor refused to commute the death sentence of a man declared insane and later found sane.

The problem the courts face is an old one—what constitutes criminal insanity. Dr. Keating, after three months of study, made his ruling under a State Supreme Court decision which states a man is sane if he knew what he was doing when he committed the crime and realized he faced execution.

Some psychiatrists say the war made Walker mentally unbalanced. In high school, he was a brilliant student interested in technical subjects. After a year in college, he joined the police department as a radio operator. His record was spotless.

Walker enlisted in the Signal Corps when the war broke and before long was an officer. He was on Wake Island in 1944 when the Japanese aerial bombardment was so heavy that many of the troops had trouble eating or sleeping for a long time after.

He was with the men who swarmed ashore at Leyte in the Philippines and it was in this campaign that he began to show signs of a mental breakdown. While he was away on official duties, the Japanese attacked his men. His best friend and others were killed.

Walker blamed himself for the deaths and asked to be returned to the United States. While still on active duty in this country, he committed two burglaries — his first crimes.

After his discharge, he pulled two more burglaries. His family said he was a changed man, mentally and physically.

The police pursued him. Two Hollywood policemen cornered him and he shot and wounded both. After another burglary, officer Roosevelt stopped him and was shot to death.

Walker waived a jury trial, pleaded innocent by reason of insanity and told of his war experiences. The judge, finding him guilty, remarked that millions of boys had had the same experiences and returned home to lead normal lives.

Billion Dollars Help Needed For Schools

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, said yesterday the state must spend more than one billion dollars in the next four years to meet the four million annual student enrollment expected by 1964.

Simpson said his figures were based on estimates by school construction specialists in the State Department of Education.

To meet record enrollments, he said, local districts will have to build some 750 elementary schools and about 150 high schools. That means 15 elementary and three high schools must be built every month in the next four years, Simpson said.

To end double sessions and replace unsafe buildings would require another 600 new schools and an estimated cost of 474 million dollars, Simpson said. Double sessions in California public schools are expected to rise this year to a three-year high of 120,000 students.

Annual public school enrollments are expected to increase 739,000 by 1964 to more than four million. Present predictions are that annual enrollments will top five million by 1970, Simpson said.

Department specialists based their predictions on 600-pupil elementary schools costing $20 a square foot to build and equip ready for use. High schools would have 1,800 students and would cost $24 a square foot ready to use.

Handicapped Children Program Goes National

A project started among Tamalpais Union High School District students to provide specialized care for handicapped children has been adopted on a national scale by the American Legion.

The San Anselmo American Legion post backed the project begun two years ago by Robert Foster of Mill Valley at Tamalpais High. The following year, students from Redwood, Drake and San Rafael were included.

Foster offered an eight-week training course to provide teenage babysitters for handicapped children. More than 75 teen-agers turned out for the course and subsequently became a trained corps of specialists.

National interest was taken in the project after Ray Greenberg, chairman of the San Anselmo Legion's child welfare committee sent American Legion headquarters a copy of the Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine story on the teen-agers and their work.

Foster described the work to the Legion's national child welfare commission at a Miami convention.

The local project is now headed by Tamalpais High teacher Krieg Vezie. Foster is at Colorado State College studying for a doctorate.

The Butterfield Overland Mail coaches operated on a weekly schedule, averaging 23 days for each one-way journey in 1858.

GROCER DOESN'T NEED A CLOCK, HER BLIND CAT TELLS TIME

BOGNOR REGIS, England (UPI)—Mrs. Elsie Grout doesn't need a clock; she's got a blind cat that tells time.

Mrs. Grout, wife of a local grocer, claims that her 11-year-old blind cat has developed an uncanny sense of time.

According to Mrs. Grout, Teeny the "cat clock" tells her when it is time to open the store, have meals and go to bed.

Teeny is a cross between a Siamese and an English blue.

The cat has been blind from kittenhood. At 9 a. m. each day, Mrs. Grout says, the cat paws at the door leading to the store in an "open-up" order. Promptly at 1 p. m. and 6 p. m., Teeny slinks in to indicate that meal times have come round.

The cat takes time off during the evening while Mrs. Grout sits comfortably in front of her television set. But at 10:30 p. m. it uncurls, stretches and jumps on to Mrs. Grout's lap: Bed time.

Mrs. Grout swears by her blind cat's accuracy.

"In the same way that blind people have their other senses of hearing, touch and smell highly developed, my cat, being blind, has developed its sense of time," she said.

88.13 Per Cent Of Californians Cast Ballots

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Californians went to the polls in record numbers in the Nov. 8 Presidential election.

In releasing the final, official returns, which gave the state to Vice President Richard M. Nixon by 35,623 votes, the secretary of state's office said 88.13 per cent of the voters cast their ballots.

Other high years were 1944, 86.13 per cent; 1952, 86.85 per cent, and 1956, 86.56 per cent.

There are 5,000 species of the dragonfly scattered throughout the world wherever there is fresh water.

Serious Crime Rose During Most Of '60

WASHINGTON (AP)—Serious crime in the United States jumped 11 per cent over last year's figures, for the first nine months of this year.

Federal Bureau of Investigation J. Edgar Hoover reported today what he called "this accelerated crime rate" on the basis of preliminary figures covering most cities and nearly half of the country's rural areas. He urged more citizen cooperation with law enforcement agencies to meet the problem.

Hoover noted that the first three months of this year witnessed a 7 per cent crime increase which grew to 9 per cent at the midyear mark and picked up another 2 per cent in the third quarter.

The nine-months crime data showed the sharpest increases in property crimes, with robbery up 16 per cent, burglary 15 per cent, larcencies involving $50 or more up 9 per cent, and auto theft 6 per cent.

Among crimes against the person, forcible rapes led off with an 8 per cent increase. Murders increased 4 per cent and aggravated assaults 3 per cent.

Almost two-thirds of the revenue of the Republic of the Congo comes from Katanga Province, which is rich in mineral deposits.

AUDUBON SCREEN TOUR —William A. Anderson will present "Designs for Survival," a nature film, as the second Audubon Screen Tour offering of the current season at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall of College of Marin. Single admission tickets may be purchased at the door.

School Bus Toll May Rise To 20

LAMONT, Alta. Canada (UPI) —The death toll in the collision of a crowded school bus and a freight train at an unguarded crossing may reach 20, officials feared today.

Sixteen children—13 of them girls—were killed yesterday when a 30-car freight smashed into the school bus carrying 42 children to morning classes and scattered "books and bodies like popcorn" along a half-mile section of track.

Dr. M. A. Young, administrator of the 100-bed Archer Memorial Hospital here said last night that of the 25 injured at least 10 were in serious condition and several were in "very critical condition." He said he feared the death toll would go higher.

Only one occupant of the bus, 16-year-old Johnny Winnick escaped injury in the shattering crash that occurred just 300 yards from the safety of the school.

The crash was heard by many of the town's 652 inhabitants and brought them to the scene on the run.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Antonelli, Sam Jones, Blasingame, Bressoud, Landrith To Be Traded?

CONNOLLY

When my Uncle Mike gets the yen for prophesying, he starts blowing on the old Chinese saxaphone, inhaling the old opium in great drags, and sometimes blowing it out through his ears.

I can always tell when Uncle Mike is in that mood, for the first thing he does is start scratching the back of his wrists and getting out his cookstove so he can bake a poppy biscuit. When that happens I usually leave the joint and let him to his evil ways.

While Uncle Mike is taking on a load of celestial soup, I began scrambling about his desk for clues and I run across a lot of notes, which, may, or may not, mean anything.

But they strike me as very significant.

One of the important notes mentions the name of pitcher Johnny Antonelli; the other, pitcher Sam Jones; the other, Hobby Landrith, catcher; the other, Eddie Bressoud, shortstop and second baseman Don Blasingame. Then I go a little deeper into the files and come up with two names, Willie Kirkland and Felipe Alou, both outfielders.

WELL IT is not every day Uncle Mike and I agree on players the San Francisco Giants can dispose of, but by jimminy, these names and these players are exactly the names I figured might be mentioned in the trade winds that are soon to begin blowing in the National and American league swap season.

I'll admit Uncle Mike is not much good to humanity when he is hitting up the old mojo, but when he hits the jackpot on names, I begin to wonder.

"Why," says one of Uncle Mike's notes, "the only way the Giants can get rid of the old creaking joint pitchers is to trade them before they got too old.

"Now Jones and Antonelli could help the Yankees and, by crickety, why couldn't the Yankees give the Giants a whale of a deal in younger player talent for such timber?

"I FEEL," said one other note of Uncle Mike's, "is that shortstop Eddie Bressoud and Don Blasingame are of no real asset to the club, but either one of them might help another club struggling without a shortstop or second baseman.

"Stoneham should trade those guys and take his chances on replacements," Uncle Mike notes, the more logic I could detect.

"Happy Horace," Uncle wrote himself, "should trade either Willie Kirkland or Felipe Alou. They are both strictly gambles."

And do you know that by the time I got through thumbing through Uncle Mike's notes, I wondered if he hadn't been rifling my own desk.

THE MORE I think of the players the Giants have on the block, the more convinced I am that they should make four or five trades to bolster a club that is somewhat lopsided.

The only flaw in my notes, and those of Uncle Mike, seems to be Alvin Dark, the new Giant manager.

Alvin is a guy who has to be convinced. And he isn't yet sure that any of the above mentioned players with the Giants should be sent away.

But here is one old codger, who, with his Uncle Mike, can't help but believe that the above mentioned players are the ones needed to be used in trades that might help the Giants.

But Uncle Mike, when he sobered up, agreed that he will quit smoking for 10 days, at least, and by that time we'll all know what the Giants intend to do about talent for 1961.

Yankee Davis Cuppers Bow To Italians

MELBOURNE (AP) — Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola jarred America's Davis Cup hopes today by beating the teen-age pair, Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley, in the doubles semi-finals of the Victorian tennis championships 5-7, 11-9, 15-13, 6-2.

In the other semi-final, Australia's Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson, crushed America's Barry MacKay and Earl Buchholz 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

The first match was a preview of the Davis Cup interzone finals at Perth, Dec. 9-11.

The turning point apparently came in the second set when Ralston's powerful service failed him in the 20th game. After losing only 9 points on 7 previous services, he dropped service without winning a point. The Bakersfield, Calif., lad never was the same after that.

The U.S. Davis Cup captain, David Freed, said he was disappointed over the result, but was not ready at this time to make a decision on the probable Davis Cup pair in the Perth matches.

Oregon State '11' Receives Bid To Bowl Game, But . . .

NEW YORK (AP)—It appeared today that the Gotham Bowl mousetrapped itself into believing there were enough good and willing schools to fill out a growing list of post-season bowl games and, with only 10 days until its scheduled game, is out of prospects.

Because of such a scarcity it looks as if the inaugural game scheduled for Dec. 10 at Yankee Stadium will never come off. Colorado apparently declined to participate and the committee pulled the props out from under Holy Cross' hopes of getting into the game.

The closest thing it had to a team—Oregon State, whose players voted to accept such a bid—still did not have the sanction of the school authorities.

Chairman Bob Ready of the selection committee was unavailable for comment.

Holy Cross Athletic Director Gene Flynn said Ready had offered, then withdrawn an invitation "to fulfill other commitments" only 10 minutes before the Crusaders' football team was to vote on the bid.

Then in Boulder, Colo., Colorado Coach Sonny Grandelius admitted talking with Ready by phone several times yesterday but added: "We're not going to any bowl game this year."

Giants-Cleveland Trade Winds Blowing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, thwarted in their efforts to trade Johnny Antonelli, their one-time pitching ace, to the New York Yankees for catcher Johnny Blanchard, appeared to be close to a deal that would send the veteran left-hander to the Cleveland Indians for infielder Johnny Temple and pitcher Dick Stigman.

Holding up the deal, which would be the first made at the annual meetings, is Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane, widening the scope of the transaction to include Giant outfielder Willie Kirkland or Felipe Alou and Indian outfielder Tito Francona.

Lane acknowledged these names were discussed but declined to reveal the exact nature of the deal. He did say that another talk was scheduled for today and hoped an agreement could be reached.

Along with everybody else, Lane blamed the rule which forbids the trading of 120 American League players who were thrown into the hopper earlier this month to stock the new teams for the lack of deals.

This rule will be in effect until Dec. 13, when the new team, or teams, will select seven players from each established major league club at $75,000 per player.

The inter-league trading period, currently in effect, expires Dec. 15. A movement is on foot to extend the trading period.

The clubs most actively engaged in trade talk, besides the Giants and Indians, include the St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati Reds, Baltimore Orioles, Philadelphia Phillies, and Milwaukee Braves.

A Yankee official said his club had rejected a Cardinal offer of pitchers Larry Jackson and Ronnie Kline, and catcher Hal Smith for southpaw Whitey Ford, righthander Ryne Duren and catcher Elston Howard.

The Yankees also said no to a Milwaukee offer of pitcher Juan Pizarro for third baseman Cletis Boyer.

"We would like to trade for a starting pitcher, such as Antonelli," said New York general manager Roy Hamey, "but everyone asks for one of our catchers or one of our infielders. We're just not going to give those fellows up."

The Braves, trying desperately to make a deal for an established second baseman, reportedly have offered first baseman Joe Adcock and outfielder Wes Covington to the Phillies for second baseman Tony Taylor and relief pitcher Jack Farrell. The Giants and Yankees also have made overtures for Farrell.

Baltimore, seeking a hard-hitting outfielder, is said to have offered a pitcher, either Hector "Skinny" Brown or West Stock, to the Reds for either Gus Bell or Wally Post.

On the managerial front, the hottest rumor is that Elvin Tappe, Chicago's third-string catcher and one-time coach, will soon be named manager of the Cubs. Tappe, 32, batted .233 in 51 games last year.

The only positive action taken yesterday was the naming of Jim Turner as pitching coach by the Reds and the signing of veteran infielder Danny O'Connell by the Washington team.

Marin Catholic Nips Faculty In Thriller

By GREG HOBBS

Even though they outdribbled, out shot, out yelled and even out tackled the young whippersnappers, the faculty of Marin Catholic High School went down to defeat last night in the school's annual faculty basketball contest with the school's student squads.

The 10 teachers huffed and puffed their way through the game and lost by only a slim 27-30 margin. The closeness, plus the faculty's antics, proved enjoyable to the overflow crowd.

The faculty had the first chance at a score when Doug Damaschino leaped high to grab Reverend Bernard Cummins' tip from center. However, Marin's varsity, which played the first quarter, racked up the first score when Jim Soden cashed in on two foul shots after actually being tackled by Father Cummins on what looked like a "down and out" pattern because Soden was down and out.

The faculty retaliated when Damaschino clicked on a layup shot after some fancy ball handling by Mr. James Walsh and Rev. Edward Dullea.

The varsity maintained a 10-6 lead to the end of the quarter and Marin's Class B team took over in the second stanza and kept the pace by forging ahead to 16-10 at the half.

A fresh faculty lineup took over in the third period, including Bernard Schneider, Harry Moore, Al Scott, Rev. Mark Hurley and Rev. James DeGroot, but the school's Class C team kept up the pressure to score a 22-17 lead in the quarter.

The varsity was put back in the game in the fourth period, but so was the faculty's first string and the educators made a spirited bid for an upset. Scoring by Rev. Don Kholes and Damaschino gave the teachers a brief 23-22 lead, but the varsity rallied and led 29-27 with five seconds to play. That's when Jerry Smith made a foul shot to ice the game for the students.

Father Dullea explained the faculty's loss: "Well, you know, this being the advent season, we decided to exercise a little charity. Next year we'll show 'em."

The Raiders get a chance to see if they can do it again in a hurry. They meet the Chargers at Candlestick Park in San Francisco Sunday.

New Formations Indicate 'T' On Way Out In Pro Football

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The defense has caught up with the T-formation—and coaches are looking around for something new in professional football.

That would have to be the conclusion after talking to coaches Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers and George Halas of the Chicago Bears.

Both men used a variation of the wing formation in scoring triumphs over Baltimore and Dallas on Sunday.

Hickey called his operation the "shotgun offense." Halas referred to his as the "twin right."

"It would be just speculation to say that the T-formation is on the way out," said Hickey. "But over-all, the defense is catching up with the T-formation offense.

"We plan to make our 'shotgun offense' an important part of our offense for the rest of the season. I think the game was getting a bit dull with the T-formation in every game.

CHANGE DEFENSE

"We went into that thing against the Colts knowing we were not strong enough to beat them head-on. So we had to come up with something to change their defense. And we did it."

Some referred to his formation as a double-wing. It called for the quarterback to line up right behind the center, as in the T-formation. But before the ball is snapped, the quarterback drops back to the same position the tailback on a single wing might occupy. Meanwhile, the backs and ends were spreading out like a mushroom.

Halas used a little something different. It is a variation of the short punt. This one put one man in a tailback slot—presumably a man who can both pass and run.

John Brodie, who quarterbacked most of the way for San Francisco in its 30-22 upset of Baltimore, liked the new 49er formation.

"It seemed I got more protection than I ever did before," he recalled. "But the boys up front had a lot to do with that."

One thing about playing the winged formation: it takes a nimble quarterback to handle the job. He must be a man who can run around, or fake a run, while waiting for his receivers to get down field.

This means that Y. A. Tittle, the San Francisco veteran, will be on the sidelines for the Los Angeles Rams tilt in the southland on Sunday.

"Y. A.'s groin injury doesn't seem to get any better," said Hickey. "And I expect that we'll start Brodie. But I won't be afraid to send Bobby Waters in there at any time."

Waters, playing in his first pro signal-calling job last week, tossed the two passes that gave San Francisco its go-ahead touchdown in the closing minutes of the game against Baltimore.

"I guess you could say that 'Muddy' did everything that could be asked of him," grinned Red as he made the understatement of the week.

Sugar Confident He'll Beat Fullmer Saturday

GILMAN HOT SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson stretched on the bed of a bungalow at this training camp and seemed perfectly relaxed.

"I am a personified ham. I believe I can whip Fullmer."

Robinson was talking about Gene Fullmer, who holds the National Boxing Assn. world title, and their 15-round championship fight Saturday night at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

At 39, New York's Sugar Man admittedly is tired of the training routine. He has been fighting for more than 20 years. But he reiterated he has personal pride and he firmly believes he can regain the middleweight title for the sixth time.

Will he retire if he wins?

"I have a return match contract with Fullmer and then I'd like to fix things with Mr. (Paul) Pender."

Pender is recognized in New York and Massachusetts as the champion. He beat Robinson twice this year by decisions in Boston.

"It takes two guys to make a fight," Robinson said, "and Pender keeps running."

Robinson was asked if he would retire if he lost to Fullmer.

"The word 'defeat' you don't like to think of. We don't think of it in this camp. But if I do, we'll cross that bridge when I reach it."

Robinson, who knocked out Fullmer for the title in 1957, described Gene as a hard man to fight.

"Fullmer is so awkward and unorthodox you can't plan what he'll do next. He doesn't know himself what he'll do," said Robinson.

Sugar's manager, George Gainsford, chimed in: "He hits low, he hits high, he doesn't mean anything wrong—he just hits."

"Fullmer is a hard man to fight or plan against," Robinson said.

Navy's Bellino Tops UPI All-America; Far West Only Area To Be Shut Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — United Press International today presents the finest 11 collegiate football players in the land, its 1960 All-America team.

Chosen by the ballots of a record number of 402 sports writers and broadcasters from all parts of the nation, these are the players selected as the best at their positions this seasons:

Ends — Mike Ditka, Pittsburgh, and Dan Larose, Missouri; Tackles—Bob Lilly, Texas Christian, and Ken Rice, Auburn; Guards — Tom Brown, Minnesota, and Joe Romig, Colorado; Center—E. J. Holub, Texas Tech; Quarterback — Jake Gibbs, Mississippi; Halfbacks—Joe Bellino, Navy and Ernie Davis, Syracuse; Fullback—Bob Ferguson, Ohio State.

Bellino and Brown are the big guns on the mythical eleven, the answer to any football coach's dream. The Navy halfback received a total of 4,010 votes to lead the balloting in the annual UPI poll, which this year set a record for the number of participants. The previous highest number of voters was 354 last year.

Bellino was named on all but 27 of the ballots, receiving 352 first team votes and 23 for second. Brown rolled up a total of 3,263 to lead the linemen by a wide margin. Eleven points are awarded for a first-place vote and six for a second.

For the first time since World War II seasons, when Army was the national gridiron power, the East dominates this All-Star team with three players—Davis and Ditka in addition to Bellino.

The Midwest, Southwest and South are represented by two players each while one player each was chosen from the Rockies and the Midlands. Only the Far West of the seven geographical sections of the nation was shut out.

It's a well-balanced team, not only with brawn, but brains as well. The team averages 214½ pounds per man, the line averages 223½ pounds and the backfield 198 pounds. It is a tall team, too, averaging over 6 feet in height per player.

On the basis of players named to the first three teams, the South dominated the all-star selections with a total of eight players. There are six each from the Midwest and Southwest, five from the East, four from the Far West, three from the Rockies and one from the Midlands.

The players making up the second team:

Ends—Marlin McKeever, Southern California, and Tee Moorman, Duke; Tackles — Jerry Beabout, Purdue, and Kurt Gegner, Washington; Guards—Al Vanderbush, Army, and Pat Dye, Georgia; Center—Wayne Harris, Arkansas; Backs — Bill Kilmer, UCLA; Ed Dyas, Auburn; Ron Bull, Baylor; and Roman Gabriel, North Caroline State.

The third team:

Ends — Fred Mautino, Syracuse, and Johnny Brewer, Mississippi; Tackles—Joe Rutgens, Illinois, and Merlin Olsen, Utah State; Guards—Mark Manders, Iowa, and Monte Lee, Texas; Center—Roy McKasson, Washington; Backs — Tom Matte, Ohio State; Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State; Wilburn Hollis, Iowa, and Tom Mason, Tulane.

HERE! THE TRUCKS THAT RIDE SMOOTHER, WORK HARDER, LAST LONGER!

ORDINARY I-BEAM FRONT AXLE transmits road shock and vibration between wheels and to chassis and cab.

CHEVY'S INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION. Each wheel flexes independently, minimizes stress and strain on chassis and cab.

Just a year ago, Chevy came up with independent front suspension and has already put some 300,000 Chevrolet trucks with it out on jobs.

The ride that results from Chevy's suspension design is making life a lot easier for drivers. (Just ask them.) It's taking better care of loads, the fragile kind that cost somebody money if they are bounced around. Chevy's ride also enables truck owners to revise their buying habits and work their trucks longer before they trade. This follows naturally. The trucks take less of a beating. There's less stress on sheet metal. Less abuse to tires. Less pounding that wears out parts before their time. The upshot of it is, you either save money or earn more of it or both. And you couldn't ask a truck to do more than that. See your dealer.

Oregon, Washington Land Three Players Each On All-Coast Team

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press

Washington and Oregon, both headed for post-season bowl games, landed three players each today on the 1960 Associated Press All-West Coast football team.

The Rose Bowl bound Huskies landed guard Chuck Allen, one of two repeaters from 1959, center Roy McKassen and haflback Don McWKeta.

Oregon, which plays in the Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia, had tackle Steve Barnett, one of three sophomores on the all-star team, guard Dave Urell and all purpose quarterback Dave Grosz.

Southern California's 230-pound Marlin McKeever repeats at an end position with Washington State's sophomore pass catching phenom Hugh Campbell getting the nod at the other terminal.

A pair of Steves won the tackle positions — Barnett of Oregon and Bauwens of UCLA.

No less than three triple threat backs were named in the vote of the AP West Coast Board. Grosz can run, pass and punt plus operating Oregon's T formation.

KILMER DOES SAME

Bill Kilmer of UCLA and sophomore Terry Baker of Oregon State can do the same but they both opearte as tailbacks in single wing offenses.

McKeta's selection could surprise many, since in headlines he's been overshadowed by teammates. But as one opposing coach declared, "He's the guy that gets the yardage on those crucial third down situations. He'd run right through a tree if it were in his way."

Injuries kept two members of the 1959 team from repeating. All America quarterback Bob Schloredt of Washington suffered a broken collar bone in midseason, and ankle injuries kept Keith Lincoln of Washington State from showing his true ability.

MAJOR TEAMS

The 1960 squad chosen from teams rated major by the NCAA, includes three sophomores, one junior and seven seniors. From end to end the average weight is 209 with McKeever the heaviest and Campbell at 183 the lightest. But the WSU end set two NCAA records this season with 66 receptions for 831 yards.

Thus multi-talented backfield averages 191 pounds with quarterback Grosz the heaviest at 200 and McKeta the lightest at slightly over 180.

In most cases the voting was close with only two unanimous choices—McKassen and Baker. Kilmer was named to the first team on all but one ballot.

Sagging Fortunes In Football Campus Issue At Notre Dame

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Stamped far and wide as an "academic" question is whether Notre Dame is dead as a college football power, incapable of ever rising again to national championship stature.

In the wake of this season's disastrous campaign two wins and eight losses, which matched the record low of 1956 in Notre Dame's football history, this writer searched the campus for what promise may be held for the school's grid future under its tightening academic standards.

The school's president, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, said, "we're not pushing the panic button."

Coach Joe Kuharich, while suggesting modern football works in cycles, said he was weighing things in my mind," when questioned about continuing at the Irish helm. His four-year contract extends through 1962.

A segment of the student body demonstrated against the school's avowed policy of "academic excellence," which most of the uncounted Irish rooting legions blame for the decline and fall of Notre Dame football.

"We want football, we want football," a throng of about 800 chanted in front of Corby Hall, where Father Hesburgh and other faculty priests reside.

A few hours after this demonstration, Father Hesburgh spoke on the campus radio system.

He blamed the demonstration on 5 per cent of the student body of about 6,000. These 5 per cent could quit the school with his blessing, Father Hesburgh said.

"We don't want to be second to anybody in anything, including football," said Father Hesburgh.

Huskies Lead Big Five In League Statistics

Washington's Rose Bowl-bound Huskies completely dominated the Big Five in team stastistics this year, according to figures released today and including all but next Saturday's UCLA-Duke game.

The Huskies lead the team marks in standings, total offense, rushing offense, rushing defense.

Coach Jim Owens' club allowed only 112 yards per game rushing by its foes; and on offence rolled up 219 yards by the same method. The Huskies also have chalked up 219 yards per game in total offense.

UCLA leads in total defense with 268 yards to 269 for Washington. The Bruins also were second in total offense with 317 yards; in rushing offense with 191 and rushing defense with 159.

Stanford, which didn't win a game all year, led in passing yardage with 131 yards per game, and California had the best pass defense.

The FISHIN' FOOL

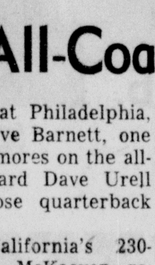
My Wife And I Visited A Mecca For The Privileged Hunter Sunday



STEVENS

Pardon me a moment while I wash my hands again. You see—I just finished cleaning a brace of pheasants; one cock and one hen, and therein hangs a tale.

I mentioned in former columns the establishment of a game bird club called the Dublin Canyon Game Bird Club, not far from Sunol (Alameda County), but it was all heresay. I hadn't personally visited it until Sunday.

Now I can talk positively about this mecca for the lover of privileged hunting. I am happy to do so.

The good wife and I drove out to the club today. It was easy to find. We went to the small town of Sunol and took the Kilkare road to its end, a distance, I imagine of about four or five miles, but we didn't clock it. The scenery on that country road was so fascinating and so nearly a primval jaunt that we just enjoyed every foot of it.

We arrived at the end of Kilkare Road and the headquarters of the club about 12:30 P.M. We were greeted by genial George Sellers, owners and operater of the club. Most of the hunters had come and gone by then, but there were a few (four) hunters still in the field. We inspected the records and saw that several of those had shot the area 950 acres of perfect terrain for pheasants, quail, ducks and deer).

WE NOTED that Milton Nordstrom of Belmont had taken four birds on Wednesday, and Bill Loorz of Freemont had come in with two cocks and two hens on Saturday, and that the Deadeye-dicks of the medical profession, Doctors John O. Hanneson and McGian had done the usual before we had arrived (we passed them on the way out) by taking six birds each, half roosters and half hens.

While we were drinking coffee (which is furnished club members free of charge at all times) Sil Posner and John Way of Hayward come charging in. Sil, of the Penny-wise Market in Hayward insisted on telling about the two huge mallards he had shot recently. (They must have been big — the pair weighed a total of seven-and-a-half pounds.) And rather shamefacedly admitted downing only three pheasants that morning, but, at, that, he beat his pal, John Way who only had one bird to clean.

IF ONE CAN judge by the exuberance of the few members we met, to belong to the Dublin Canyon Game Gird Club is about tops to the gunning guy who likes a better than average chance to get game, before, during, and after the regular seasons. Sellers is a long time raiser of pheasants for private clubs. He sets free around 10 birds to each hunter a few hours before shooting begins, and these birds in addition to those released on previous days, make for a generous supply. Some of the members have their own dogs, and others use one of Sellers' hounds.

We talked to Bob Deponte, the local woodcutter and were told the area controlled by the club is almost over populated with deer. He figures next year will see an extremely high average kill.

THERE IS a pond on the property — actually several ponds—that seem to be on the direct duck flight. So it isn't only pheasants that are there for the hunting.

When I read over what I have already written about this subject, it appears that I have gone in for some commercial plugging. Well, believe me, that wasn't my intent. I am convinced this or a similar club is needed, not only to take the pressure off the public areas, but to furnish at least one spot where the busy business man can have his innings at some of the greatest of outdoors sports. We envy all who now belong, or will in the near future, before the membership ranks are closed. Such an area in such wonderful scenic space —where a guy can become a member at less cost than to belong to a good duck club—well, look! Why not drive out yourself and look it over?

CONTACT Sellers (George). Make a date. Bring along the fowling piece and give it a real trial. You'll pay for the day's hunt, sure—but the price will be deducted from your initiation fee if you decide to join. And, Allah, be praised, I have spoken. Be with you Thursday with the latest dope on fishing hither and yon. Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Junior Rifle Teams To Shoot Tomorrow

The Marin Rod and Gun Junior Rifle Club team No. 1 will meet the Marin Rod and Gun Junior Rifle Club team No. 2 at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the College of Marin rifle range as part of the Marin Junior Rifleman Winter League program.

The following day at the same time Marin Sheriff Junior Rifle Club will have a match with Marin Rod and Gun Junior Rifle team No. 1.

The winter session, according to Mrs. G. C. Gosser, is under the sponsorship of the National Rifle Assn. of America and firing will continue until mid-February, each team having two shoulder to shoulder matches with the opposing team. A match is 10 shots each, prone, sitting, kneeling and off hand, and timed fire.

Other participating teams include the Mill Valley De Molay Junior Rifle Club and the Marin De Molay Junior Rifle Club.

'Way To A Man's Heart' Title Of Church Guild's Cookbook

"May the blessing of the five loaves and two fishes which God divided amongst the five thousand men be ours; and may the King who made the division put luck on your food and on our portion. Amen."

This charming Gaelic blessing is one of the many "prayers before meals" which preface each chapter of a new and different cookbook published by the Blessed Sacrament Women's Guild.

Titled, "The Way To A Man's Heart," the book includes many taste-tempting favorites designed to please the "man of the house." Several original recipes are included in the book, along with Guild member's suggestions for new and appetite-appealing ways to fix old favorites. There is a section devoted to "Friday Night Specials" and for those looking for gift ideas —a chapter on "Christmas Goodies."

The collection of recipes, with clever cover design and illustrations by Mrs. Joseph Herrera, was compiled under the direction of Mesdames Bernard Whitehill and Herbert Mooney. It will go on sale at the Guild's annual Christmas Bazaar, to be held at Blessed Sacrament Parish Hall in Santa Venetia on Sunday, Dec. 4.

Holiday recipes from the book include.

BRANDIED BLACK BOTTOM CHIFFON PIE

1 ginger cookie pie crust
4 eggs, separated
½ cup dark brown sugar
1¼ Tbs. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
1½ cups scalded milk
5 Tbs. brandy
2 sq. melted unsweetened chocolate
1 tsp. vanilla
1 envelope gelatine, softened in 2 tbs. cold water and 1 Tbs. brandy
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
Whipped cream
Shaved sweet chocolate

Beat egg yolks in the top of a double boiler until light. Add brown sugar which has been sifted with cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in scalded milk and brandy. Cook over hot water until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Set aside 1½ cups of this custard and into it, stir melted unsweetened chocolate and vanilla. Cool chocolate custard and pour into shell. Add gelatine-water-brandy mixture to remainder of the custard. Cool mixture slightly. Beat egg whites stiff with cream of tartar. Beat in sugar. Fold into warm custard. Pour this over the chocolate pie filling. Chill several hours. Spread pie with whipped cream and sprinkle with shaved sweet chocolate. Cut into 6 or 8 wedges.

OLD WORLD CHRISTMAS HONEY CAKE

3 eggs
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
3 Tbs. melted butter
1 tsp. grated orange peel
¼ tsp. grated lemon peel
¾ cup honey
2½ cups flour
¾ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. soda
1 tsp salt
½ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. cloves
⅓ cup strong coffee
¼ cup orange juice or cider

Beat eggs until thick and frothy, gradually beat in brown sugar until mixture is creamy. Blend in butter, orange peel, lemon peel and honey. Sift flour, measure, then sift again with baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Add dry ingredients alternately with coffee and orange juice to the honey mixture. Blend until smooth. Line a 10" x 5" x 3" loaf pan with greased wax paper and pour in batter. Bake at 350° for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Cool for ½ hour before removing from pan. Remove waxed paper from cooled cake. Sift powdered sugar on top or spread with:

ALMOND BRITTLE TOPPING

3 Tbs. honey
½ cup toasted almonds
⅓ cup sugar
3 Tbs. butter
⅛ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. vanilla

Chop almonds. Blend with honey, sugar, butter, salt, cinnamon and vanilla in a saucepan. Heat until mixture begins to boil. Remove from heat and cool before spreading. Mixture may be re-heated slightly if too hard.

ECON-O-WISE WITH THIS BOOKLET

Are American homemakers getting the most out of their food dollar? Frances Cook, nutritionist in the University of California's Agricultural Extension Service at Berkeley, believes that many homemakers could serve more nutritious and attractive meals for less money.

She points out that the average family spends one-third of its net income for food.

To insure being "econ-o-wise" with these food dollars, Miss Cook urges homemakers to plan their menus and shop carefully.

She offers many helpful suggestions on meal development and food purchasing in two booklets, "Balance Food Values and Cents" and "Saving Ways in Food Buying."

The publications can be obtained by writing Mrs. Virginia Porter, Home Advisor for the Agricultural Extension Service in Marin County, P.O. Box 457, San Rafael, or call at the office at 738 "A" Street.

Saigon Salad

NEW YORK (UPI) — Saigon salad is a fruit-filled dish suitable for dessert. Rinse, halve and seed 1½ cups of Tokay grapes. Pare core and dice 1 fresh pear. Cut 1 banana in wedges. Pare and section 1 large orange. Toss fruit lightly with a mixture of ½ cup of commercial sour cream, 3 tablespoons of muscatel wine, 1 teaspoon of sugar, ¼ to ½ teaspoon of ginger and a dash of salt. Chill. Serve on salad greens topped with ¼ cup of toasted coconut. Serves 5 to 6.

Molasses Fruit Cake Good Gift

Here's a Christmas gift suggestion which rates a place of distinction on the holiday table. It's a rich molasses fruit cake all done up in its Yuletide finery. Better have enough ingredients on hand for two cakes.

INGREDIENTS

1 cup butter (½ pound)
2 cups brown sugar, packed
2¼ cups sifted flour
⅓ tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. each mace & cloves
½ tsp. salt
5 eggs
½ pound dates, cut up
1 pound raisins
1 cup moist mincemeat
3 pounds mixed chopped glace fruit
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1 cup chopped pecans (whole if small)
1 cup dark molasses
½ cup cider, brandy or fruit juice

METHOD: Cream butter and sugar. Sift together dry ingredients. Beat eggs until very light. Combine fruit and nuts and sift a few tablespoons of previously prepared dry ingredients over them. Toss and mix so pieces are lightly coated. Thoroughly blend creamed mixture with beaten eggs. Stir in fruit. Mix dark molasses with liquid, then alternately with dry ingredients to fruit mixture. Divide batter between 2 or more greased and paper lined loaf pans depending on number of cakes desired. Bake in slow oven (250-degree F.) about 3 hours, or until done and top is firm to touch. Makes approximately 5 pounds of cake, or 2 (9 x 5 x 3) loaves. FOR GIFTING: Bake fruit cakes in decorative pans and decorate to suit shape.

(To decorate after baking: brush top of cake with hot corn syrup or melted jelly).

A PERFECT GIFT for Christmas which rates a place of distinction on the holiday table is this rich molasses fruitcake. When the aroma wafts through the house your own family will be wanting one for themselves.

REVIEWING THE PROGRAM with Mrs. J. Parrish Pike are Adaline E. Kent students, Tom Soden and Lynn McFarland. The 1:30 p.m. program, directed by Mrs. Frances Brodie, will also feature as guest speaker Stanley Rutherford. Mr. Rutherford, a teacher at Brookside School, was a Fulbright exchange teacher in England last year. He will tell of Christmas in England. (Independent-Journal photos)

Rosarium Will Elect New Staff

Officers of Rosarium Institute 175 Young Ladies Institute will be elected at tomorrow night's meeting at St. Patrick's Parish Hall, Larkspur. The meeting begins at 8 o'clock.

The institute will have its annual Christmas party on Dec. 15 at the Corte Madera residence of Mrs. Lawrence Arntz.

At the recent meeting of Rosarium, Miss Rose Marie Gambini, grand president, made her official visit. She told of the progress of the institutes in the state and presented its charter to Rosarium. Miss Claire Skidmore reported on the institute's activities during the year and presented a book of newspaper clippings recording institute events, to the grand president.

Representatives of many institutes in the Bay Area were present to honor the grand president. Other distinguished guests were Miss Loretto O'Rourke, grand treasurer; Mrs. Iris Rued, grand director; Mrs. James Lopez, district deputy; and Mrs. James Hines, institute deputy.

Miss Skidmore was chairman for the evening. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Marin Women

Marin's History Outlined For El Marinero Chapter's Meet

Florence Donnelly, Women's editor of the Independent Journal, and a founder-director of the Marin County Historical Society, was the speaker at the luncheon meeting of El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the Greenbrae home of Mrs. Richard E. Mittelstaedt. Co-hostesses were Mesdames Roger P. Garety, Boswell F. King, Hilton J. Simon and Gustave Karl Zantow.

Mrs. Donnelly, whose topic was "Early Marin" was introduced by Mrs. Kenneth R. Gregory, chapter regent. The speaker said that a few centuries ago the only inhabitants in Marin were Indians, who lived near the water, wherever they could obtain their food. The Indians were Coast Miwoks. Some dug clams in Tomales Bay, hence the misnomer, Digger Indians. The Indians lived in rude shelters, wickiups, covered with brush and willow branches.

In 1817, the Franciscan fathers came to San Rafael, and chose the site for their mission on land facing San Francisco Bay. On December 14, 1817, the cross was raised on the site of the present replica. There was just one priest, and he with the help of the friendly Indians built the mission. He taught the natives how to make adobe bricks, also taught them various crafts. The mission land at that time extended as far as the present Greyhound bus depot, and was planted in vineyards, orchards and corn. The priest often had to travel to the hinterlands which were inhabited by hostile Indians.

When the missions were started California was under Spanish rule. There were 21 missions in all, San Rafael being the 20th and Sonoma the 21st. These missions had to provide food also for the military as the presidios and the missions were established together, and the missions were the educational centers.

When the Mexicans took over California in 1832, all the land was taken away from the missions, the priests had to flee and the Indians were sent on their way, and the missions became headquarters for Mexican Government officers.

El Marinero, from whom the local D.A.R. Chapter was named, through research done by Mrs. Donnelly, was adept with oars, and his name means "The Sailor," as he made regular trips between Marin and San Francisco. He was captured by the Mexicans and taken to the mission.

In all, there were about 30 land grants in Marin County. The first white settler was Irish born, John Reed, whose grant included the now Belvedere-Kentfield, Ross area. The second white settler, Capt. William Richardson, who grant was the present Sausalito, built the first adobe building in San Francisco in the 1830s. A very colorful character, Don Timoteo Murphy came as a commissioner of the Indians. He had a grant of San Rafael on adjacent land, and built his two story adobe home in what is now the center of the city.

After 1846 and United States occupation, there was a period of transition and of anxiety for the people who owned ranches. The state grew rapidly from after 1848 and the gold rush, and when California became a state in 1850, Marin was one of the original counties.

Mrs. Gregory welcomed two members into the chapter, Mesdames William J. Brown and Edwin W. Thomas.

Guests were Mrs. Edward Ehmann, Mrs. Simon's mother and a member of Multonomah Chapter D.A.R. of Portland, Ore., Mrs. R. E. Green, mother of Mrs. Robert E. Munter, and a member of Crater Lake Chapter, D.A.R. of Medford, Ore., and Mesdames Persis A. Stanley., Andrew Komora and Herbert G. Pratt.

Northern Council D.A.R. will meet on Friday, Dec. 2 at the Bellevue Hotel, in San Francisco.

White-Neff Vows Traded

Mrs. Elizabeth Neff of King's Beach, Lake Tahoe, and Clarence T. White of Mill Valley were married Sunday in a 5 o'clock ceremony performed in the Mill Valley home of the bridegroom. Members of the immediate families only were present.

Rev. Harold Johnson of Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley officiated at the single ring rites.

The bride wore a green brocade dress, matching cage veil and lavender orchid corsage.

Serving as her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Emmett Stout of Redding, Calif. She was attired in a tan dress embroidered in black and white and completed her costume with a black cage veil. Her corsage was a green orchid.

The bridegroom's only son, William A. White of Richmond, Calif., was his best man.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served.

White has his own business in San Francisco. The couple will live at his home on Cascade Drive.

Health Hint

NEW YORK (UPI) — When an injury requires a dressing, be sure you use sterile gauze pads. Otherwise, the wound might become infected while it is healing.

LEARN ABOUT ENGAGEMENT AT DINNER

At a recent family dinner party Mr. and Mrs. Ken Christie of Woodacre announced the engagement of their elder daughter, Claudia Jean, to Paul White. Both of the young people were graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, where their romance began, in June.

The bride-elect has one sister, Joanne. Paul, son of Mrs. Emma White of San Anselmo, has a brother, Dennis. A wedding next August is being planned by the engaged couple.

Psychiatrist Speaks To Nursery Group

Dr. J. M. Stubblebine was guest speaker at the recent meeting of the San Anselmo Cooperative Nursery School members at College of Marin's Olney Hall.

The topic "Sexual Awareness" in the pre-school child was briefly discussed by Dr. Stubblebine preceding a question and answer session dealing with individual situations.

Dr. Stubblebine who practices in San Rafael, is psychiatric consultant for Marin County Juvenile Hall. He is director of the psychiatric unit at Ross Hospital.

Church To Hold Family Dinner In Mill Valley

A family dinner will be held in the Mill Valley Community Church Parish Hall Friday starting with carol singing at 6:10 p.m. under the direction of Don Fleenor.

Each family is asked to bring a salad and favorite main dish. Dessert will be provided and included in the small charge per family.

After dinner families will make advent candle stands and each family is asked to bring a knife for carving the plastic candle holders. Candles and greens will be provided.

A short Christmas film will be shown for the children

Reservations should be made by noon Thursday with Mrs. Roger Lescohier or Mrs. Richard S. Beedle, both of Mill Valley.

Floor Polisher

Novato's Westlund Auxiliary Plans Party At Yountsville

Members of the Donald V. Westlund Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary No. 7816, of Novato, will go to the Yountville Veterans Home, at Yountville, Napa County, again on Dec. 4 to take part in the annual Christmas party put on by all the Veteran of Foreign Wars Posts and Auxiliaries of the 16th District.

Residents of the Home and the Holderman Hospital, of the home, will be visited, and each one will be presented with a gift. Cupcakes will be furnished by the auxiliary members, as a part of the dessert for the dinner.

Each auxiliary tries to contribute some entertainment for the program that is presented at the theater in the afternoon. For the ninth year, Donald V. Westlund will be represented by students from the Novato Accordion Studio, under the direction of Mrs. Grover Owen. They will leave the VFW Hall at 10 a.m., going as a caravan, and arriving in time to have dinner in the main dining room, with the veterans of the home.

Students taking part this year are: Hiram Steele, Kay Kallmayer; Dennis Fay; Sondra Williams; Edward Salmina; Eddie Sears; Sherrill Griffin; Barbara Lund; Sharon Jackson; Randy Turrini; Donna Charpier; Rosemary Gooch; Shirley Bomio; Sharon Bomio, and Jeanette Eccles. Vocal soloists are Lynne Walline and Lorraine Moberg. For the majority of these students it will be their first trip to the home.

At the last district meeting of the 16th district Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, Donald V. Westlund donated 50 wash cloths for the Yountville Veterans Home.

Donald V. Westlund, also adopted another veteran. Financially, many of the men have no income at all, to buy a cup of coffee, or bar of candy or other small items. It is pitiful on bank days, for those who have no bank accounts. The auxiliary will send a set amount to the commandant, to be credited to a veteran, and once a week, he will be allowed to draw a part of his account to last that week. His account will be replenished once a month.

If other organizations are interested in adopting a veteran in this way, contact Mrs. Louis Cavallero, president of the VFW Auxiliary for further information.

Wedding In The North

Mrs. Paul Strahm of Greenbae will take the train north to attend the marriage of her son, Robert Strahm, to Angelina MacPherson on Dec. 11 in Spokane, Wash. The bride-elect is a Boston girl. Mrs. Strahm will leave on Dec. 7.

ANTICIPATING FAIR SKIES FOR THE BOOK FAIR, Ross P-TA workers pause to enjoy refreshments at the sidewalk cafe which will be one of the features of the sale, to be held in the former Maryon Taylor Shop on Ross Common from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Dec. 1, 2 and 3. In addition to books and "Art Packs" from San Rafael shops, the "Sense-ational" fair will offer gourmet gifts, a wide selection of records, and gift wrapping service. Talking over their Christmas lists are, from left, Mesdames LeRoy Page, Victors Furst, William Zimmerman, Charles Doyle, and Joseph Guthrie. (Nan Jones photo)

Dominican Winter Frolic Saturday

Time, talent and legal tender —these are the ingredients for a successful charity bazaar, and this is the recipe the Dominican Upper School students and their mothers are using for this coming Saturday's Winter Frolic to be held in the school gymnasium from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Fred Enemark, mothers of the students have been instructing girls in the art of making Christmas decorations, holiday aprons, stuffed animals, cookie trays (with cookies!) and a wide assortment of other holiday gift items.

To sustain shoppers, there will be a luncheon served from 11 o'clock until 3 p.m. And to make life simple for the woman of the house, salads, roast chickens and desserts for dinner that night will be hers for the legal tender.

Mrs. Enemark has been assisted by Mesdames Ray L. Hamilton, Joseph Hickingbotham, Richard Jackson, John Healy, W. S. Briscoe, J. E. Applebaum, C. H. Merrill Jr., C. W. Caletti, Noble Hamilton, Paul E. Nielson Jr., L. L. Olds, Thomas C. Plant Jr., Edward Vest, Arnold Bertolli, Joseph J. Bregante, Bert Broemmel, Paul Fasal, E. J. Ragghianti, A. F. Schmitz, R. W. Daly, W. H. Grace, W. T. Griswold, E. R. Rice and R L. Shirley.

Marin Scouts Participate In Thanksgiving Project

A Thanksgiving service project was one of the activities in which Marin Girl Scouts have participated in recently.

Table centerpieces were made by Troop 235 for use on Thanksgiving Day at Lucas Valley County Hospital and Farm. The seventh graders from Santa Venetia Junior High School used autumn leaves, cones, nuts and dried weeks, as well as miniature turkeys for the arrangement.

They carried out this service project with their leaders Mesdames Ned Hassan, William Loeber and John Vindigni. They recently completed a requirement of the Good Grooming badge by spending an afternoon at the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio, where the Scouts learned about skin care.

Second grade Bel Aire Troop hiked to Bootjack Camp on Mt. Tamalpais recently where they collected fir cones. The 12 Brownies made small turkeys from the cones at their following meeting. The cone "turkeys," as well as large cut-out paper turkeys they also made, were used as decorations at each Brownie's Thanksgiving dinner table. Their leader is Mrs. Paul Blair.

St. Anselm's seventh grade Troop 238 made use of the fine fall weather by fulfilling the requirements and earning their Swimmer Badge. Mrs. Per Rundberg, a Red Cross water safety instructor, gave the course at the Kent Woodlands home of Mrs. Vincent Sullivan. After completing their badge requirements, the Intermediate Scouts honored Mrs. Rundberg and Mrs. Sullivan at a party where Mrs. Rundberg presented each girl with the Girl Scout Swimmer's Badge Certificate. Leaders of Troop 238 are Mrs. Manuel Dos Reis and Mrs. Henry Laverty.

A first birthday party was celebrated by Brownie Scout Troop 64 at the home of Mrs. J. Murray Fox. The Bel Aire School third graders made nut cups for their party, which was highlighted by a cake, decorated with "Happy Birthday" Troop 64." Mrs. Richard Hart, their leader, was assisted by troop mothers.

Temptation To Shoplift Is Greater

NEW YORK (UPI)—The temptation to shoplift becomes greater and greater.

So says Saul Nesbitt, director of a packaging and industrial design firm in New York.

A study by the research department of the firm shows that easy access to more and more kinds of merchandise in supermarkets and variety stores invites shopper theft.

The study consisted of interviews with managers of self-service stores, chain store executives and manufacturers.

"Our study indicates that today's larcenous shopper is a pretty ingenious person," Nesbett said, "and the unguarded array of displayed products gives him or her a marvelous opportunity to exercise that ingenuity."

He cited the following examples of resourcefulness among shoplifters:

—The supermarket customer who desires a large bottle — a 79 cent jug of salad dressing rather than the 41 cent size. Under pretense of reaching a decision, she loiters in front of the display and furtively switches the bottle caps upon which the prices are stamped. There's a good chance her switch of bottle caps will go undetected at the check-out counter.

—The light-fingered lady who doesn't hesitate to heist a small size item and slide it into a package already in her cart for tallying at the check-out counter. Result: she gains by carrying out one unpaid for article.

Generally, Nesbitt said, pilfering in self-service stores is becoming more difficult to control. Among other problems he cited are the huge tote-bag purses, fashionable, but also a boon to the female shoplifter.

"Few customers realize that the loss of goods pilfered in self-service stores runs into millions annually," said Nesbitt.

"Fewer than 20 per cent of those interviewed appreciated the fact that the consumer was the one who was ultimately out of pocket every time a shoplifter made a successful heist."

Humane Society Auxiliaries Holiday Luncheon, Dec. 15

As Christmas comes merrily with the fun of shopping, the family gatherings, the many parties, the joy of giving . . . all the exciting whirl of the season now happily with us . . . to enhance your holiday mood, the Humane Society Auxiliaries, Senior and Junior groups, invite guests to a luncheon and style show at Bob's of Marin, Corte Madera at 12:30 o'clock on Thursday, Dec. 15.

As Merry as Christmas, will be the fashions from a San Rafael shop featuring festive party gowns from the houses of California designers, and brilliant, bold, beauteous accessories; also in the parade of fashions co-ordinated by Sara Campbell, will be daytime and playtime clothes for town and country living, styled to carry you well into spring.

Wishing all a joyous holiday and modeling fashions for your pleasure at the Human Society's Dec. 15 gala will be members from the recently formed Junior Auxiliary: Mesdames Peter Fitz-Hugh, George Coburn, William Deeths, and Boyd Lang. From the Mannequin League of Marin Mesdames Ted Schuster, E. J. Walters, Les Vogel Jr., and Norman Sanguinetti will also be in the fashion promenade.

The holiday benefit to aid the Marin Humane Society is under the general chairmanship of auxiliary members Mrs. George Rivers and Mrs. Lewis Denton, who will be assisted by Mrs. Simon Erlanger, special arrangements chairman, and general committee members Mesdames Jack Bataiff, Raymond Hawley, Gustave Burgren and Louis C. Roth.

Reservations for the Dec. 15 luncheon-fashion event may be made with Bob's of Marin or with auxiliary members Vera Rivers, San Rafael.

Optometric Auxiliary Meeting On Saturday

Mrs. Albert C. Stoltze of Kentfield, wife of the president of the San Francisco and Marin Counties Optometric Society, will be among those attending a Bay Area meeting of the Women's Auxiliaries of Optometric Societies at the Allied Arts in Menlo Park on Saturday.

The luncheon session will honor Mrs. Louise Lockner of Los Angeles, state president, and Mrs. William W. Anderson of Menlo Park, the national president.

Mrs. Harold A. Jacobson of San Francisco, president of the San Francisco and Marin Counties Women's Auxiliary, is in charge of the meeting.

New Toy

Making an artistic impression with a new toy, the budding artist rolls on different colors. The rollers are made of microporus plastic and have red, yellow, blue and green built in.

San Rafael P-TA Council Sets Meet

San Rafael Parent-Teacher Assn. Council will meet on Friday at 9:30 a.m. to hear a member of the city's recreation department express his views on the probable effect on community recreation, should the proposed new city hall be near Albert Field. The meeting will be held in the offices of Frank Lucas, San Rafael superintendent of schools.

Other business at Friday's meeting will be formulation of plans for a Parliamentary Procedure class to be held in the spring under the leadership of Mrs. George Beanston of San Francisco. Mrs. Beanston has long been a parliamentarian in P-TA and other organizations. The decision of San Rafael P-TA Council to sponsor such a course is a result of the Parliamentarians' Conference held at the November P-TA Council meeting.

New Deodorant

A new aerosol deodorant destroys all types of odors and leaves no fragrance of its own. The deodorant kills odors by chemical means instead of simply masking them by loading the air with a perfume. It has long been known that odors in the air are caused by microscopic particles that are produced by cooking, smoking and other activities. The new odor-killing compound attacks these airborne particles neutralizing them.

Dinner Parties For Kenya Students

Mrs. Harold Green of Belvedere-Tiburon and Mrs. Peter Behr of Mill Valley entertained students from Kenya Monday night at dinner parties in their homes.

The students are currently attending Bay Area colleges and were in Marin to hear Dr. Gikonyo Kiano, Kenya's minister of commerce and finance, speak on "Africa, the World and the West" at the College of Marin Monday night.

Pretty Treat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coffee cake mix makes a party-pretty treat when you add 2 tablespoons of finely chopped maraschino cherries to the ingredients before mixing. Top batter with 2 tablespoons of slivered almonds and sprinkle with cinnamon topping that comes with the mix. Bake as directed.

Church Women Set Date For Yule Luncheon

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Mill Valley Methodist Church will hold its Christmas luncheon and program Tuesday, Dec. 6.

President Mrs. Clyde Butterfield will open the business meeting at 11 a.m. in the youth room. At 12:15 p.m., a turkey luncheon will be served in the fellowship hall under the direction of Mrs. William D. Wood, assisted by Mesdames B. D. Johnson, A. G. Hughes and Paul Brown.

Mrs. Wood asks that reservations be made either at the church office or by calling Mrs. Albert Hughes. Mrs. Roy Driver is decorations chairman. Hand-made Christmas articles for sale will be displayed on a table.

Following devotions by Mrs. Matthew Parchuck the program will be turned over to co-chairmen Mesdames Charles Sutton and Earl Linman. It will consist of organ and piano music played by Mrs. Dale Danley and Mrs. Edgar Nelson, solos by Mrs. Charles Henson and community singing of carols.

Early Freezers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Egyptians, about the time the first pyramids were being built, pioneered a method of refrigeration whose principles, considerably refined, are used today.

They filled shallow earthen jars with boiling water and exposed them to the night air on the roofs of houses. Slaves kept the outsides of the jars moistened and the resulting evaporation cooled the water. Carried to them by fast slave messengers, the Egyptian nobles had civilization's first running cold water.

PATRICIA HUGHES ENGAGED TO SAMUEL LOY OF PENNSYLVANIA

At a family dinner party last Sunday the engagement of Patricia Eileen Hughes of Mill Valley and Samuel Frank Loy, Jr., of Monroeville, Pa., was announced.

Patty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Hughes of Mill Valley. Her maternal grandmother is Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes of Half Moon Bay and her paternal grandfather is James P. Brown of Mill Valley. She attended Marin Catholic High School for one year and transferred to Tamalpais High School from which she graduated. She is employed at the Marin County Abstract and Title Company in San Rafael, and serves as a Pink Lady at Marin General Hospital.

Sam's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frank Loy of Monroeville. He has one brother George who also lives in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Mary Pike of Pennsylvania is his grandmother. Sam is a graduate of Brownsville, (Pa.) High School and, with his father, is in the real estate business. He spent four years in the United States Air Force.

A spring wedding is planned and the young couple will make their home in Pennsylvania.

Does Bridge District Need $12,000 Per Year Aide?

Appointment of an administrative assistant to the general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge must have been as much of a surprise to the directors of the bridge as it did to the toll payers.

Certainly it was not in the budget for this year. When that document was adopted only a few months ago, there was not even any discussion of such a position or of the need for it.

The big question is, why does General Manager James Adam, who gets $21,800 per year, need a $12,000 per year assistant at this time?

There isn't any clear answer to the question. Adam told the bridge directors that the new assistant, William H. Hendricks of San Rafael, would be mainly used to relieve Adam of administrative details, prepare special studies and make public contacts.

That sounds like a worthwhile job for an assistant if you answer one more question: Relieve Adam of these duties so he can do what?

Will Adam be spending more of his time fighting the proposed Golden Gate Authority?

Will Adam become a more or less full time lobbyist in Sacramento when the session starts in January? Why? At the last general session the directors budgeted an additional $10,000 for a lobbyist, as they did this year, but never hired one. Adam was able to handle both his job at the bridge and legislation at Sacramento.

If this great activity, either in Sacramento or against the Golden Gate Authority idea, is necessary, didn't Adam know it when the budget was up for discussion so that the whole idea could be aired?

Perhaps we're all wrong in our analysis of what the new assistant's job will be. If so, this is our main point. No one seems to be quite sure.

It will take the toll from 78,000 commuter crossings to pay the new assistant's salary.

Is this expenditure necessary?

The Big Question

The big question we constantly run up against in writing these nature editorials is the universal—why?

Why do the birds fly south in winter?

How are the colors of the flowers determined?

Where did our universe come from?

Why do boyfrogs like girlfrogs?

What makes a sparrow sing?

Science has its theories. But much of Nature is still surrounded by deep mystery.

Frankly we enjoy a little mystery. If science could explain everything, life would be a mite dull.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

HE LEFT MORE THAN MONEY

When Gene Fowler, newspaper man and author died decently, he left an unusual will. In it he expressed the hope that his wife, to whom he left "more than $10,000," would approve "the fact that I have given such small attention to the material prizes of the world."

The nobility of the career which Mr. Fowler regarded as a holy vocation was reflected in this explanatory comment: "There comes a time in the life of every artist when he must decide between the objectives of moneyed ease and/or the sure prospect of lonely struggle and sacrifice and lack of recognition until he grows old or is dead. The latter choice was mine."

If your life is marked by an unselfish determination to inspire or better the lives of others, you'll probably never get rich or leave a fortune. But you'll certainly leave the world better than you found it and make an investment that will last for all eternity.

"Charge the rich of this world not to be proud or to trust in the uncertainty of riches, but in god."

(I Timothy 6:17)

Inspire me, O Holy Spirit, to put into life, not merely to take out.

Want Fur Coat For Christmas? Well, Here's A Way To Get One

YOURVILLE, U.S.A. (AP) — Trellis Mae Peeble, America's most average housewife, is getting a new fur coat for Christmas.

Listen to her tale, ladies—it may show you a way to get a fur coat, too.

One evening early last week Wilbur Peeble was lying on the sofa, dressed in his pajamas and robe, and drinking a can of beer as he watched a posse on the television screen riding to head off the rustlers at Eagle Pass.

The doorbell rang. Wilbur grunted, rose and opened the door.

There stood Miss Hortense Schlemp, the pretty blonde secretary who lives in the apartment overhead with her widowed mother. Hortense was clad only in a filmy pair of pajamas.

She stepped quickly into the room and asked, "Where's Trellis Mae?"

"Playing bridge with some of her biddy buddies," replied Wilbur. "But she should be back any moment. Why, what's up?"

"Well, silly me!" said Hortense. "I went out in the hall to put something in the incinerator, and the darned old door locked shut after me.

"My mother's asleep in the bedroom. I rang and rang the doorbell but I can't wake her up.

"I hate to go down in the elevator—dressed like this—to borrow a key from the superintendent. I wonder if you'd mind doing it for me."

"Sure thing," said Wilbur.

Soon as I toss on a few clothes. Here, let me fix you a beer while you're waiting."

He got Hortense the beer, then disappeared into the bedroom. Wilbur had time only to slip into his pants and one slipper when the bell rang again.

It was his wife, Trellis Mae.

"Well, aren't we cozy?" she said coldly.

Wilbur reddened to the ears.

"Hortense accidentally locked herself out," he said lamely. "I was just going down to get a key."

"You sure thought that one up fast, didn't you?" said his wife.

When Wilbur returned later after letting Hortense into her apartment, Trellis Mae was in bed her face turned to the wall.

For days she gave Wilbur the silent treatment. Then he crumbled.

"YOU KNOW that fur coat you been wanting for 15 years," he pleaded. "I'll give it to you for Christmas if you'll just tell me you believe me."

"Okay," said Trellis Mae, majestically. "I forgive you—this time."

AS SOON AS Wilbur left, Trellis Mae ran to the apartment above, where Hortense and her mother were having coffee.

"It worked!" she cried. "He's going to give me the fur coat."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Criminals Must Be Controlled

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have read with deep concern your report of the 23-year-old San Rafael resident who has been arrested for the 25th time in five years, has spent 38 months in the county jail, and is now under arrest.

It seems incredible that our authorities can sanction the treatment this case has received, the continuing challenge to life, security and decency with which the community has been and is faced.

I do not know where the responsibility rests. But I am clear that in the interests of the county an investigation is demanded and I venture to suggest that your paper, with its high standards and broad influence, is in a position to lead the public to insist on a more competent and effective administration of justice.

Marin County is receiving harsh criticism in many quarters for its failure to control its citizens. The case you report supports that criticism and it invites repetition.

The issue of adequate and proper control of proven criminals should be met head on. As a community we should clean house.

A. CRAWFORD GREENE
Ross.

Editorial Writer Standing On Head

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Whoever wrote your incredible Nov. 21 editorial, "Ballot Recount Wouldn't Be Good If Nixon Wins," must have been standing on his head at the time.

If enough errors were found so that Nixon would be elected President, it wouldn't be good for the country, your editorial writer said. People, he felt, would look upon it as unAmerican, a sore loser administration.

This is like accusing a storekeeper who is held up and robbed of being a sore loser if he complains to the police!

Since when has it become un-American for the people to stand up for their rights, including the right to an honest count of their ballots? If the Democratic machines have voted wetback in Texas and tombstones in Chicago, are those Americans who voted for Republicans supposed to accept the rigged results for fear of offending people abroad? Incidentally, whom did your editorial writer have in mind—Khrushchev?

As for the comment in the editorial that "this is no time for our nation to be split," we will all be better off if we realize that the nation is split — on almost precisely a 50-50 basis. At least half of all American voters—and maybe more—want to part of Jack Kennedy's "New Frontier." If nothing else, the recount movement dramatizes the extreme closeness of the election and the fact that at least half of our people have no wish nor intention to be part of a howling mob following a young man on horseback.

Misses Column By Lippmann

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have missed Walter Lippman's column recently and hope that his absence will not be permanent.

His insight and clear expression are so rare in journalism today that it would be unfortunate to lose touch with his ideas.

RUTH AFIFI
San Rafael.

(NOTE: Lippmann's absence is only temporary. He has taken a month off and will return to the I-J pages shortly.)

Understand Where Money Is To Go

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In your front page report headed "Tam Schools Bond Ballot Slated Again," the opening paragraph refers to "a three million dollar bond issue to expand Drake, Redwood and Tamalpais High Schools," and in the closing paragraph you report that the "bond issue would provide funds for new classrooms" etc. at the three schools.

In the interest of honest reporting, the whole truth, and the importance of an informed electorate, the I-J story should have stated that the three million dollar bond issue is also to provide funds for the acquisition of a fifth high school site.

If the voters approve the repeat proposal, let us do so fully understanding that the money is not only to be used for expansion but for additional land in a section not yet disclosed nor officially designated. In both features stories submitted by the citizen's committee and in the news stories of the press, the dual purpose of the bond proposal was virtually ignored prior to the October special election. There must be some good reasons why the trustees feel it is important to jeopardize the necessary expansion of the existing three schools by including site acquisition in the same proposal. The reading public and voters are entitled to know why.

Is there a gentlemen's agreement between the press, the trustees, and the citizen's committee to give the impression that the three million dollar bond issue is to be used only for development of Redwood, Drake, and Tamalpais high schools under the threat of double sessions?

BEVERLY BASTIAN
Belvedere.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Dr. Richard Van Gelder of the Museum of Natural History in New York is authority for the pronouncement that skunks are just as unpopular with other skunks as they are with human beings. He bases his theory on three demonstrable points:

1. Skunks avoid splattering their distinctive scents on themselves.

2. They never use the weapon against each other.

3. They fire at an enemy only as a last resort.

The skunk's unfailing warning never fails to stop other animals in their tracks. "Even grizzly bears," asserts Dr. Van Gelder, "have been known to beat a precipitate retreat when that tail goes up."

A dachshund was waddling down the middle of a country road when a small foreign automobile scared it half to death. "What on earth are you?" gasped the dachshund. "An automobile," was the answer.

"Hmphh," barked the dachshund (try barking a "hmphh" yourself some time). "Then I'm a HORSE."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

TV Might Use Moon-Bound Mice, Whistling Pigeons Or Musical Dogs

My good neighbor Eloise Keeler of 171 Bolsa Avenue, Mill Valley, is hunting for mice.

As she is owner of a couple of fine cats this seems not too surprising.

Miss Keeler isn't, however, scrounging free provender. It would be against her personal union rules anyhow, since she is editor of Pet Life magazine freely circulated nationwide in pet shops, which look with favor on pet food (for sale in packages).

The only mice they favor are the rubber kind, to be had at a price.

BUT GETTING back to Eloise. It seems she has a TV program telling about the cute doings of animals. To keep this program going she needs animals.

Recently she got Herman, the terrible tomcat. He was "nice," she reports.

Forever searching high and low for animals (pets requiring paid-for food obtainable from pet stores), Miss Keeler as last resort looked in this column. And guess what, she read about, another neighbor who trains mice to fly to the moon.

He does this for the U.S. Navy. For all I know, he and his mice are very security conscious. I never got any details about what goes on. Maybe they class with the latest in rockets, kept very hush-hush (aside from such publicity media as this column, which is virtually secret).

They may be hush-hush until they've flown to the moon, then, of course, Miss Keeler and everybody could star them on TV, news magazines, scientific journals and so on. (But remember, you read about them first in this column, or did you?)

Anyway I have given Eloise mouse-trainer Ed's phone number and hope for the best.

MEANWHILE I have another project on the fire. It has to do with pigeons. Not eatin' pigeons—whistlin' ones.

Back in Peking when I was young and handsome, or anyhow young, I used to feel gay when a flight of pigeons took to the air and wheeled about whistling like mad.

They did this because their Chinese owners had tied tiny lightweight bamboo whistles to their tails. When they flew they gave off sound like a jet, except that jets weren't even dreamed of then. Also, jets propel where as pigeons furnished pigeon-power.

ANOTHER GUY named Jim Howe, son of Ol Ed Howe, the philosopher of Potato Hill, Kans., whose weekly newspaper of philosophy I used to take—well, as I was saying, Jim went to Peking for Associated Press. Not only did he hear the pigeons, but he bought a lot of their whistles.

Finally he retired. Now he is over in Walnut Creek, Contra Costa, flying whistling pigeons and wanting somebody to use them on TV. It looks like ideal supply and demand.

The only catch is get pigeons to fly in a TV studio. That's for Eloise to work out.

IF SHE CARES to import two poodle pals of mine from Sante Fe (this should interest her as she owns three poodles herself) I know two accomplished canine listeners. Writes their owner Helen Feldkamp:

"Today the Metropolitan Opera begins and poodles and I go back to the winter-time schedule of clipping in the kitchen to sounds of grand opera. Both dogs seem to appreciate good music."

In case Eloise wants to open correspondence with these cultured pups I can furnish their address. But remember, don't write in English. After all, these are FRENCH poodles.

Kennedy Must Be More Definite On What He Proposes On Red China

WASHINGTON — An early necessity of the Kennedy administration will be to develop a new policy on admitting Red China to the U.N. or a new strategy to keep Red China out.

Already delegates to the General Assembly are talking about adjourning the present session to reconvene after the President-elect takes office. This means that the China issue, though temporarily shelved again last month, may well come up for re-consideration soon.

There are two reasons why Jack Kennedy will have to take a new look at China policy. During the campaign he gave as his only reason for opposing Red China's admission the insistence of her leaders that war was an inevitable part of Communists struggle. But last week a high Chinese Communist spokesman in Moscow said that the Chinese Communists are not advocating this view.

DOES THIS MEAN, that, if Red China begins to use peaceful words, the new administration should alter U.S. policy?

Secondly, even if Kennedy concludes that his campaign statement did not reflect his full view, is it not imperative that the U.S. find a better means of defending its position?

I refer to the annual tactic of keeping Red China off the U.N. agenda. This tactic has worked for 14 years. But last month out of 99 members our don't-talk-about-it resolution got only 42 positive votes, 34 nays, and 22 abstentions. The anti-consideration proposal won only eight votes and I know of no informed correspondent at the U.N. who believes that the five votes needed to change the result will not be forthcoming soon.

THIS IS WHY we must dedevelop either a new policy or a new strategy. Ambassador Lodge, for example, has pointed out — and I think rightly—that there may well be a number of nations who will oppose Red China's admission, but who want to debate the issue.

Here are some of the substantative questions to be considered before deciding whether and how to admit Red China.

If the question is settled wholly on the basis of credentials — that is, accepting the credentials of mainland China as the country originally put on the Security Council and rejecting the credentials of the Nationalist China delegate —then the U.N. is automatically expelling Formosa.

But if expelling Formosa is not to be the automatic result of seating Red China, then the whole transaction of retaining Formosa in the General Assembly and admitting mainland China to the U.N., including the Security Council, will have to be negotiated in advance and carried out in one simultaneous action. It not, then the U.N. runs the risk of putting Red China on the Security Council and thus enabling Red China to veto Formosa's membership.

THERE ARE OTHER alternatives. The new African nations want to be permanently represented on the Security Council. So do the Latin American nations. Shouldn't India be on the Security Council in addition to or in place of Red China? Isn't it time to re-cast the Security Council?

Still another question is whether Red China will accept the independence of Formosa as a condition of U.N. membership. And do two-thirds of the members of the U.N. want to admit Red China by expelling Formosa which has a population large than some 33 present U.N. members?

To hold to the past tactic of trying to keep Red China off the United Nations' agenda is to invite defeat for our resolution because it permits many nations to appear to support Red China without facing up to the problems and consequences of admitting Red China.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHMOND BARBOUR, Ph. D.
Guidance Counsellor

Your Teen-Agers Should Be Taught That Money Doesn't Grow On Trees

Money doesn't grow on trees. Yet some children think it does.

Are you teaching your youngsters to appreciate money and use it wisely? It's a part of your job as a parent.

Their attitudes are important. They get them from you.

Does your girl honestly believe you're too poor to be happy? Then you've overdone things. She values money too much.

Does she think money has no importance whatever? Then you've gone too far in the opposite direction. Balance is needed.

Give your children allowances. Start when they enter school. Find out what the other yonngsters in their classes get. Give yours the average amount.

Have them save some, give some to church and spend the rest. If they blow their allowances foolishly let them suffer the consequences. They'll catch on.

When they're 11 or 12, bring them in on family finances. Let them know your income and your expenses. Get them to struggle with the problems you face the first of each month.

Some parents hide the financial facts of life from their offspring. They're unwise.

Help your teen-agers to get jobs—paper routes, work in stores, babysitting, gardening. They need to take orders. They need to work hard, get tired and keep on working.

Let them control their own paychecks. If you take the money away, they'll soon lose interest. When they're extravagant, don't come to the rescue. They'll learn from experience.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Our neighbor is starting an amateur rocketry club for teen-age boys. He plans to build a big rocket and shoot it off. Should my son join?" — S. P. D.

(A) No, he should not. Every day boys are hurt or killed in rocketry accidents. If your neighbor is an expert he should work with the defense authorities. If he is not, he shouldn't be fooling with rockets.

School Plan Discussed In Kentfield

Teachers must alternate desk work with active subjects for second grade pupils because children that age have a short attention span, Kentfield School District trustees were told Monday night.

Anthony Bacich, the district's administrative assistant for instruction, and five teachers explained the second grade program in the third of a series of nine discussions.

Mrs. Jean Larkin of Wolfe Grade School spoke on the reading program; Loretta Davalle of Kent, on language arts; Elizabeth Leng of Kent, on music, art and physical education; Mrs. Mary Jane Smith of Greenbrae, on arithmetic, and Mrs. Carol Auslen of Greenbrae, on social studies, science, safety and health.

Bacich also reported that rapid learner projects in mathematics and social studies are underway in fourth through eighth grades. Teachers are trying to get these students to ask "why" and not accept obvious answers, he said.

Principal Named

Principal Harold Allison of Sir Francis Drake High School has been named to a 27-man advisory committee on mathematics for a statewide study in California schools. The committee was formed by the state curriculum commission. An organization meeting will be held Dec. 13 in Los Angeles.

Government Urged To Boost Aid To Science Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report drafted by a panel of eminent scientists headed by Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley, says the federal government must expand its support substantially for higher education and basic scientific research.

Dr. Seaborg's science advisory committee made its recommendations in a 12,000 word report submitted recently to President Eisenhower.

The report, made at conclusion of a year's study, said American science must "double and redouble in size and strength" in the next generation or the nation will become a second-rate power with its freedom threatened.

"This means more scientists, better trained, with finer facilities," the committee said in a special report issued by the White House.

Hospital Plan Aids Families Of Mentally Ill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — For about a year now, Camarille State Hospital has been operating a volunteer project that helps about 150 families a month adjust to the anxiety caused by commitment of one of their number to the mental institution.

The idea is to enable the relatives to know what they can do and where they can turn to for help at the hospital.

Under director of state mental hygiene officials and both private and county health groups in Los Angeles, members of the Pasadena Junior League have been trained for the project.

The stress is not on having volunteers give specific answers to specific questions, but in training them to direct relatives to the proper source for the answers, and in some measure comforting them.

Volunteers operate in pairs, sitting in court while a judge is deciding whether to commit a patient to Camarille. If the patient is ordered committed, one volunteer will accompany often distraught relatives outside, while the other stays in the courtroom.

Outside, a volunteer gives the relatives a handbook entitled, "How to Help," which has the effect of focusing the relatives' attention on concrete steps that can be taken, and away from pure frustration.

After that, all relatives of the patient are assembled, given a handbook, told such things as visiting hours, how to contact the doctor, where to reach the social workers handling their case, and even are given photographs of points in the hospital they will be visiting.

State officials say results of the program have been good, in easing family anxiety and making them feel the community is interested in their problems, and in helping the state gather the facts it needs to treat patients.

Novato Must Toot Own Fire Sirens

Novato must toot its own horn without county help.

This was yesterday's decision by the Marin County Board of Supervisors on a request from Chief George Cavallero of the Novato Fire Protection District for county help in obtaining more fire sirens.

Cavallero said the area is "very large" and "there are reports that many of the subdivisions cannot hear the sirens."

The district lacks funds to buy more noise-makers, wrote Cavallero, so, "if the Marin County Civilian Defense can install extra sirens for the area it would be appreciated."

Administrator D. A. Jensen told the board no funds are budgeted for such purpose. The board turned down Cavallero's request.

New Railroad Dispute Doesn't Have Bullets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A bitter and historic battle is flaming up again in the west between two giant railroads—but this time it will be settled in dignified hearings instead of with wild stock speculations or six-guns.

Western Pacific directors want to turn control of their 1,189 miles of mainline over to the Santa Fe. But their plan was upset when WP's long-time competitor, Southern Pacific, announced it also wanted the prize and that it was ready to fight for it.

In the west's early days, railroaders were not unaccustomed to using bullets in their disputes with Indians, bandits and settlers as their iron horses puffed across the country.

The great race to complete the transcontinental railroad was marked by bombings and riots between rival Chinese and Irish crews.

And their employers struggled just as lustily on the stock market when they hardly blinked an eye-lash when their maneuvers caused crashes.

But times have changed. The current battle is being staged before the Interstate Commerce Commission, which must approve a purchase of control of WP. Both Santa Fe and SP have acquired some stock, but neither intends to buy more until the ICC acts.

Southern Pacific, the nation's biggest railroad moneymaker, says it wants Western Pacific so it can eliminate duplications in tracks and equipment in Northern California, Nevada and Utah. SP claims it could coordinate operations in the area so as to offer shippers faster and cheaper service.

But Santa Fe charges that if Southern Pacific wins, it will have the same monolopy on the area it had up to 1909 when George Gould completed the WP line from Ogden Utah, to the coast to break SP's stranglehold.

Besides, Santa Fe says, an SP victory might lead to elimination of Santa Fe's present north-south coastal business. The WP, which historically has cooperated with Santa Fe against SP, now is Santa Fe's link with Portland and Seattle via the Great Northern Railroad.

The WP board of directors has cooperated with the Santa Fe in its plan to acquire stock and complains that SP never consulted with them before it embarked on its plan.

WP directors believe their stockholders are being offered a better deal by Santa Fe, namely one and one-quarter shares of Santa Fe for one of WP.

To this the SP replies that the amounts of any offers are subject to modification by the ICC. SP has proposed a straight one-for-one stock exchange.

The SP denies it would have a monopoly if it controlled the Western Pacific. In the era of airplanes and trucks, trains now carry less than half the nation's freight and SP says no modern railroad can have anything resembling a monopoly.

As SP sees it, the question is not one of monopoly, but whether Santa Fe should be allowed to join WP end-to-end and extend its service into an area already "adequately served."

The main contention of SP will be that in the '60s it is too wasteful to operate two parallel and independent lines. Financial soundness, the SP says, requires some consolidation of facilities and systems.

With this, the WP agrees in part. In announcing itself for sale, the WP said it had prospered since it came out of receivership in 1944—but "the current movement toward desirable mergers and amalgamations will strengthen the whole railroad industry . . ."

Both bidders for the WP, however, plan to operate the company independently. Neither is seeking a merger, possibly because this would take more time than acquisition of stock control.

RESOLUTION NO. 2416
A RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DECLARING ITS INTENTION TO CALL A SPECIAL ANNEXATION ELECTION, AND FIXING A TIME AND PLACE FOR PROTESTS BY PROPERTY OWNERS.

BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of San Rafael:

1. That it is the intention of the City Council of the City of San Rafael to call a special election to be held in certain inhabited territory contiguous to said City, proposed to be annexed thereto, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors residing in said territory the question whether or not said territory shall be annexed to the City of San Rafael, and the property in the territory subjected to taxation after annexation equally with property within the City of San Rafael to pay the bonded indebtedness of the City of San Rafael outstanding or authorized, at the date of the first publication of the notice of election, for the acquisition, construction or completion of municipal improvements.

Said territory is described in the attached Exhibits "A" and "B" and made a part hereto.

2. That said territory hereby is designated and identified as "TERRA LINDA COMMUNITY".

3. Notice hereby is given that on the 19th day of December, 1960, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chamber of the City Hall of the City of San Rafael, any person owning real property within said territory so proposed to be annexed and having any objection to the proposed annexation may appear before said city council and show cause why such territory should not be annexed. Such protest must be in writing and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of the property affected by such annexation and the location and area of such property in general terms. If it be found that protest is not made by public and private owners equal to one-half of the value of the territory further proceedings shall be taken in accordance with the law for the holding of such special election.

4. The City Clerk shall cause this resolution to be published in the INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL once a week for the two weeks prior to the hearing.

I, W. L. MORGAN, Clerk of the City of San Rafael, hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly introduced and adopted at an adjourned regular meeting of the Council of said City held on Monday, the 21st day of November, 1960, by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: Councilmen Aby, Menary and Mayor McInnis.
NOES: Councilmen—None.

'55 Buick
$695

Here's a 4-Dr. Special sedan which is the small Buick. It has an economical standard transmission which gives outstanding gas mileage. Best of all the original owner who bought it from us in 1955 and just traded back to us on a new Buick—put only 35,000 miles on the car.

It's all white with a really clean matching interior on charcoal and grey. Not a scratch on the paint.

$195 SALE

Any one of these cars can be purchased this week with only $195 down. The $195 can either be in cash or in the form of a used car trade-in worth that amount.

'57 Buick $1,195
Regularly priced at $1,395 but this week only we'll sell for $1,195. With $195 down that brings the monthly payment to $49.58 per month. The car is a 4-dr. Hardtop Special with Dynaflow, radio, heater, power steering, and many other Buick extras. Locally owned. Original owner turned-in on new Buick.

'56 Buick $895
We have two to choose from. Both are 4-drs. with Dynaflow, radio, heater, power steering, power brakes. One has power windows and power seats. Both are local cars and have had only one owner before we took in on new Buicks. Monthly payment—$34.71.

'55 Buick $695
Two to choose from again—both are hardtop Riviera coupes with power steering, Dynaflow, heater, w/w tires and the works. Both locally owned and in good shape. Monthly payment—$24.79.

'55 Ford $595
Regularly priced at $795, but this week we'll sell for $595. V-8, 4-door Fairlane with overdrive, radio, heater and w/w tires. Monthly payment—$19.83.

'54 Buick $595
Regular $795 seller—we'll sell this week for $595. Full power equipment on this Riviera hardtop coupe including power steering, brakes, windows and seat. Monthly payment—$19.83.

1960 BUICK
$2,750

Here's a real buy. It's one of our company cars that we've used here for almost a year. It's a LeSabre 4-dr. in Ivy League green with matching two tone green interior. There's not a scratch on the exterior nor a spot on the interior.

It has all the Buick luxury equipment including—power steering, power brakes, dynaflow, radio, heater, tinted glass, white wall tires and many other items.

We've put just over 8,000 miles on this car but you would never know it had more than one or two thousand. We've just put a brand new set of US Royal white walls on the car to bring it up as close as possible to new condition. We'll give the regular one-year Buick warranty on this car just like a brand new one off our showroom floor.

"Since when does your homework include 'Oceanography'?"

Civil Defense Setup Causes Board Flareup

Civil defense "has degenerated into a proposition to keep people busy buying merchandise," County Supervisor William D. Fusselman declared yesterday in unsuccessfully opposing a move to give Marin County a fulltime civil defense worker with the U. S. paying half the cost.

Fusselman's explosion followed a letter from County Administrator D. A. Jensen and subsequent discussion revealing that the candidate, Mrs. Jean Smith of Jensen's office, is already spending 75 per cent of her time on what Jensen said is civil defense work.

"Helping people buy paper clips and screwdrivers isn't civil defense!" snorted Fusselman.

Jensen had just told how his office piled up an imposing file every two weeks by clearing purchases from civil defense "surplus" (actually "brand new stuff," Jensen said) for Marin official buyers.

Jensen's letter said that effective Jan. 1, the federal government will give $3,000 to $4,000 as half contribution to pay of a fulltime civil defense worker for the county.

This couldn't apply to salary of administrator for his part-time services as civil defense coordinator, he said. But as Mrs. Smith now spends 75 per cent of her time on such work, he suggested she be named deputy coordinator of civil defense, fulltime.

Fusselman demanded to know how three-quarters of her time could be going to civil defense. Jensen said it mostly went to helping purchase of "everything under the sun" for seven Marin cities and for fire, sanitary and water districts which "come to us daily" for lists of goods.

"It's almost like a supermarket," he said. "They load trucks."

The goods available include all manner of office supplies as well as such items as generators, refrigerators and trucks, Jensen disclosed.

"Those things are for sale here and our merchants are taxed locally and federally," objected Fusselman. "This is cockeyed."

A motion by Supervisor William Gnoss that Mrs. Smith try to qualify for the post passed 3-1, however, Fusselman dissenting and Mrs. Vera Schultz absent with a cold.

All four present voted unanimously to name Alan Bruce, who is replacing Jensen as administrator, as civil defense coordinator and county purchasing agent.

Board Shuts Door On Jr. Museum

Efforts of the Junior Museum of Marin to relocate at the civic center ran into a closed door yesterday when the civic center committee recommended against it to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The committee's finding was on the basis that the museum lacked two things it sought only last week.

What any qualifying activity should have for civic center location, said the committee, was that it be governmental or semi-governmental, and that "long-term financial responsibility be demonstrated."

The museum board wants the county to take over the junior museum, and has confessed itself considerably in the red.

The committee recommended that the architect be instructed to find a place in the civic center master plan for the veteran monument now in front of the courthouse, and that he be instructed to prepare bid calls for firsts tage landscaping.

County Administrator D. A. Jensen recommended that the board wait until County Auditor Leon A. deLisle figures on finances. The board agreed.

Hearings Slated On Land Takeover

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Under what circumstances should public agencies be able to take property from private individuals? How much should the owners be paid for their losses?

These are among questions to be explored tomorrow and Friday in hearings by the Assembly Interim Committee on Judiciary-Civil.

The committee plans to look into proposed changes in the law of eminent domain — the procedure which permits a public body to acquire private land if it shows necessity and pays just compensation.

Two Near Finals For Scholarships

Two San Rafael High School students have been selected as semi-finalists in the Hertz Engineering Scholarship Foundation competion recently, according to Alfred N. Thompson, vice principal.

Michael Casselman, 5 Westwood Drive, and Peter Strachan, 148 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael, were chosen because of their "scholarship, financial need and interest." Both boys are straight-A students.

The competition for the scholarships is carried throughout Marin County. The semi-finalists are to be interviewed by a group of scientists from the Hertz Engineering Foundation to determine the scholarship winners.

Bolinas Club Plans Dinner Saturday

Members of the Bolinas Beach Improvement Club will vote at their meeting Saturday night on what new road to recommend for improvement of Shoreline Highway.

The meeting, opening with a potluck dinner at 7 p.m. at the Mesa Clubhouse, will also include showing of pictures of a trip around the world by Mrs. Cyril E. Holt, announced Frank A. Fuller, president.

AN ASSIST FOR SANTA CLAUS

Sgt. Ernie Cruz of the 14th Rifle Company, Marin Corps Reserve, accepts from Mrs. Robert Alan Glah of Mill Valley a soft doll for the "Toys for Tots" barrel at the Shell Oil Co. service station in Kent Woodlands. Marin reservists have placed the barrels at all Shell service stations in Marin to collect usable toys for giving unfortunate children for Christmas. Looking on with approval are Austin Minto, Shell dealer, and — in more-than-lifesize — Santa Claus. (Independent-Journal photo)

Elementary Schools Merger Is Discussed

Between 25 and 30 residents of Tomales Elementary School District attended a meeting Monday night to discuss merger of their district and the Marshall School District, but most of them appeared uncertain of what would be involved.

The meeting at Tomales School was called by the Tomales District board. Merle E. Lawson, board president, said at least one more public meeting will be necessary before the merger proposal can be put to a vote.

Petitions for the merger are being circulated in both Tomales and Marshall districts, Lawson said.

Nine Marshall children are attending fifth through eighth grades in Tomales this year under an inter-district agreement. If the districts are merged, it is proposed to continue having the upper grade children attend Tomales School and operate the Marshall School for the first four grades only.

Involved in the merger is the Tomales District's building program. First and second graders now attend classes in the Presbyterian Church because the school building is overcrowded.

Lawson said a bond issue will be necessary for more classrooms, whether or not the merger is carried out. If the districts are merged, Marshall residents would help pay the cost of the construction, he pointed out.

No further meeting on the proposal is planned before the regular meeting of the Tomales board on Dec. 21, Lawson said.

Stop Sign Due In Stinson Beach

Stop signs will be installed this week in Stinson Beach on Highway 1 at the town's main intersection by Airey's Store.

Installation of the signs to stop traffic on the Shoreline Highway will make a four-way stop at the intersection.

Jerry P. O'Shea, assistant traffic engineer for the California Division of Highways, wrote to Ellen Dawson of Stinson Beach that the decision to install the signs had been made after a study of the traffic situation there. Mrs. Dawson had been urging the signs to make the crossing safe for children boarding the school bus at that corner.

MAYOR DROPS IN FOR GREENRBAE CHAT

Edith Goulart poses between Niels Schultz, developer of Greenbrae, and Mayor Arthur Storhaug of Larkspur, who stopped by to discuss community problems over coffee in Mrs. Goulart's Greenbrae Bakery in the Bon Air Shopping Center.

Market Adds New Process Of Tendering

Jim Kilpatrick, owner and manager of the Bon Air Super Market, celebrated his eighth anniversary by announcing a new development in service and quality to his customers.

Straight from the Swift Research Laboratories in Chicago comes Swift's Premium Proten Tendered Beef, prepared by a new tendering process to assure easy eating in every bite.

The Proten tendering process climaxes a long-time meat industry search for a practical method to produce steaks, roasts and other cuts of beef with increased tenderness for all grades. This new patented process involves adding natural food enzymes to cattle just before processing. A specially processed form of papain from the papaya plant is fed into the animal's circulatory system. This supplements the enzymes naturally present in beef to produce desirable tenderness.

The research behind the development of the Proten process is a story in itself. Since the final proof has to be in the eating, human judgment was considered more important than any laboratory tools in evaluation. Trained taste panels, made up of Swift experts, played a vital role in directing research.

Wide consumer testing has also proven helpful in assuring buyer acceptance. More than 2,000 homemakers have used Proten beef for periods of up to two years, and over 250 stores have participated in the testing. The new beef is identified in the dealers' meat cases by foil inserts bearing the name Proten.

Traditionally, dry heat cooking methods have been used for "tender cuts" and moist heat for "less tender" ones. Dry heat cooking includes oven roasting, broiling and charcoal grilling. Pot roasts and stews are examples of moist heat cookery.

Now, the innovation of Proten tendered beef widens our choice of preparation methods. Thirteen beef cuts formerly considered "less tender" move into the "tender" category through the miracle of Proten and can now be cooked by both dry heat and moist heat.

SHOPPING FOR WIFE?

Dress Shop Slates 'Men Only' Night

Edith Goulart, proprietress and moving force behind the Greenbrae Dress Shop and Greenbrae Bakery at Bon Air Shopping Center, obviously enjoys her work.

With the Christmas shopping season upon us, Mrs. Goulart told yesterday of some of the trials and tribulations of men shoppers in her Dress Shop and Boutique. Many come armed only with a burning desire to please their wife and no knowledge of height, weight or vital measurements. Usually their problems can be solved.

Mrs. Goulart recalls one husband who didn't try hard enough. Phoning from an office party, the husband instructed Mrs. Goulart to select anything within a certain price range, gift wrap it and send it to his wife. She selected an alluring black negligee of lace and net and sent it on.

Two days after Christmas, a girl in her twenties leading a toddler, holding a baby and obviously anticipating another, came in to exchange an alluring black negligee for a flannel nightgown, a raincoat and a pair of galoshes.

To encourage husbands to select gifts closer to their wife's desires, Mrs. Goulart has announced a "For Men Only" evening for Dec. 8. Patterned after other successful events of this kind, cocktails and a buffet will be available and kindly and understanding assistance will be provided. A double door-prize of bourbon and scotch will be presented and all that is required is some vague idea of wife sizes.

The Greenbrae Dress Shop and Bakery are side by side at 124-136 Bon Air Shopping Center and have met with great acceptance in the Greenbrae area.

New Assistant At Pharmacy

Robert Cuneo of Daly City is the new registered pharmacist assisting owner Henry Brocco at Greenbrae Pharmacy.

Lorraine Brocco, who has been sharing the prescription work with her husband since the store opening three years ago, has retired to prepare for a new addition to the Brocco family.

Cuneo has been at Greenbrae two months and comes from Bowerman's Drug Store in San Francisco. He and Henry Brocco worked together there before Brocco opened the Greenbrae Pharmacy.

"It doesn't look any different," says Art Hecht, Bon Air butcher as he inspects the first delivery of Swift Premium "Proten" beef to Marin. It doesn't look any different but what a difference these quarters will mean to the home meat buyer, the cook and the diner. In the whole beef there are now 22 cuts that can be dry cooked as compared to approximately 8 before. Broil or pan fry and they'll come out just as tender as the more select cuts. Swift has unlocked the natural process that will "guarantee" tenderness. No more experimenting with artificial tenderizers to prepare meat "just right." No more tussles with freshly honed knives—this meat cuts with your fork. And it has every bit of the unexcelled flavor that is always evident in Swift Premium Beef. FRESH GROUND BEEF lb. 55c

Bon Air is proud of its wonderful fresh ground beef . . . it's as lean as any chuck ground.

Ed Borello, Bon Air meat department manager, checks Bon Air Super's first order of Swift Premium "Proten" Beef. "Wait until my customers find out how easy this new beef cooks," he said. "This is the best thing that ever happened. Now we can guarantee the cut they choose will be tender. Even the best meat expert gets fooled sometimes." The Bon Air meat department is especially pleased that they are the first in Marin—and one of the first markets in California to feature this new "Proten" Beef.

Tony Thomas can tell it's tender by the way it cuts. "This is the fulfilment of real economy in meat," was his remark. "Now the housewife will no longer need to buy the most expensive cuts to serve flavor filled tender beef." It's more than that. Meat men know that some of the top flavor cuts are not the cuts that are generally the tenderest — nor the easiest to prepare. Swift's Premium "Proten" Beef solves this problem. Seven years of research conducted by Swift Company under the observation of the Dept. of Agriculture now brings "guaranteed" tenderness to beef.

"This doesn't make prime cuts obsolete," says Elenore Brossier as she inserts the distinctive "Proten" label in self-service packages. "Cooking time for these cuts is reduced . . . and the eating is even more enjoyable." Nor will the art of pot roasts be lost — for those who prefer the dishes prepared in this manner it just means that preparation, cooking, serving and carving are much easier. "A real boon for the working girl," added Elenore. "No need to wait dinner for hours while the meat cooks . . . and it tastes twice as good when you don't have to work so hard getting it ready."

"I absolutely guarantee this meat to be tender," Bon Air Super owner, Jim Kilpatrick tells customer Mrs. Renz Mezzera. "If it isn't, I'll give your money back and you don't need to bring the meat back to show me." Kilpatrick is especially enthused about Swift Premium 'Proten' came through with their unqualified test Bon Air quality tests can give. "I know the Department of Agriculture gave this product every scientific test they know — and 'Proten' came through with their unqualified endorsement . . . but, at Bon Air, we gave it the kind of test the housewife understands. We dry cooked the 'usually' toughest cuts of the beef . . . not only cut with a fork but enjoyed the fine flavor as never before. I don't gamble when I give a money-back guarantee on Swift Premium 'Proten' Beef."

NEW APARTMENTS FOR GREENBRAE—This design by architect R. R. Zahm has been approved for a new apartment house south of Via Casitas on Bon Air Hill in Greenbrae. This will add 12 units to the total of 280 apartments already in the area. Another 12-unit apartment is being built.

24 New Apartments To Be Added To 280 Already In Bon Air Group

The approval, under architectural supervision by the Larkspur Planning Commission, of a second apartment house in a new development area south of Via Casitas on Bon Air Hill in Greenbrae marks the steady progress in growth of the Bon Air Apartment group. Now containing over 280 units, the new apartment under construction and the second just approved add 24 new units to the total.

Classified by developer Niels Schultz as semi-luxury apartments, the new building and the proposed building will each contain 12 units on 3 floors.

The new areas being developed are 15 acres containing 35 lots and 20 acres containing 32 lots. Lot sizes will vary but all building will conform to the City of Larkspur ordinance requiring 2000 square feet of ground area per living unit.

The Schultz Development Co. intends to build less than half of the proposed structures, with the balance to be built by private investors. The difference in ownership will vary the size and number of units to be built but the area restrictions of the Bon Air Apartment group will restrict the height to a "reasonable" limit. The building now under construction shows the genal conception of planning for the entire area.

Designed by R. R. Zahm, A.I.A. and built by the Schultz Building Co., the structure will contain no courts but will take full advantage of the spectacular view afforded by San Francisco Bay, Mt. Tamalpais and the rolling, wooded Marin hills. Situated as it is above Corte Madera Creek, the development will have a grandstand seat to view the increasing water sports on the Ross Valley Waterway. The proposed Larkspur small craft harbor is closely adjacent.

The new building will offer a choice of two and three bedroom apartments with two baths. The third bedroom is so designed that folding doors allow access to the living room and suggest its use as a study. Wide balconies, reached by sliding glass doors, provide the sunning advantages familiar to Bon Air Apartment dwellers.

A building entrance bridgeway, finished in imported Italian Terrazzo, makes each unit a maximum of a flight of stairs away.

Within, the apartments are soundproofed and wool carpeted, with color coordinated General Electric kitchens. Finished in ash and plastics, the kitchens are a light, airy delight to the homemaker. Colored vinyl floor covering and washable canvas walls will assist in maintaining a minimum upkeep.

Stress has been laid by the architect to incorporate into the plans and details all the charm and comfort possible, at the some time keeping the rental reasonable. A record of more than 98% occupancy in the present Bon Air group indicates the wide acceptance of Bon Air living costs.

The builders have tried to create a home for those who want the comforts, but not the cares of a home of their own.

HOME TAKES ADVANTAGE OF HEIGHTS

This Greenbrae home was designed by Architect R. R. Zahm to take full advantage of the heights and site—graded to make living on one level the rule. Built by the Schultz Building Co., it features Arizona sunburst stone on both the exterior and interior. The home is located on Upper Eliseo Drive.

Lots Selling At Steady Clip In Greenbrae

George Bogel, manager of The Greenbrae Co., reports the growth of Greenbrae with lots selling at a steady pace throughout 1960. Early this year a new area was opened that climbed high into the Greenbrae uplands and joined San Rafael at Bret Hart Heights.

This group, site graded to allow level home sites, had the advantage of spectacular views of both the San Rafael-Richmond and Bay Bridges and great stretches of Marin hills leading up to Mt. Tamalpais. Since the presentation of this area for home builders, 40 per cent of the sites have been sold and most of these have completed homes on them.

Part of this group was built by Schultz Building Co. Other sites were purchased by individuals who arranged their own building.

One of the problems in this program has been the model homes. These are homes designed by R. R. Zahm, AIA and built by the Schultz Building Co. to be used for display purposes. They are decorated by Casa Marin of San Rafael so that the potential buyer is able to have a preview of a completed home. The problem has been that these homes have been purchased as soon as they were completed and The Greenbrae Co. has then had to build another model.

There are still many choice lots in this and other areas of Greenbrae. They range in size from 7500 square feet to ½ acre. Some are in sheltered areas. Most of them have native oaks and all of them are on skillfully graded sites with street work in and paid for.

Bogel says that the only way Greenbrae can be really appreciated is for a prospective home buyer to ride through and look at it.

Scientific Fitting Of Bowling Balls Offered

One of the many services to bowlers offered by Greenbrae Lanes is the scientific fitting of bowling balls.

Hands are as individual as faces and even beginner bowlers must select a ball with the correct weight, finger size and span from the many racks of bowling balls provided for use at the Lanes. Correct delivery of the ball demands complete control and a loose or tight grip can spoil an otherwise rhythmic delivery.

The balls provided for use at Greenbrae are drilled to fit a variety of average sizes but, as a bowler progresses, further refinement of fitting is desirable.

Frank Arbo of San Anselmo is the Brunswick-trained expert in ball fitting at Greenbrae Lanes. Specially designed ball-fitting equipment makes perfect fitting possible. Arbo, a trained machinist used to working with minimum tolerances, uses 31 different drillings and ball weights to fit his clients.

A bowling ball weighs from 10 to 16 pounds.

Buys Model Homes

Floyd H. White, San Rafael veterinarian, purchaser of the Greenbrae Co. model home on upper Eliseo Drive, is a connoisseur of model homes, according to George Bogel, Greenbrae Co. manager. This is the third model home that Dr. White has purchased.

Museum In Office

Neils Schultz, developer of Greenbrae and world traveler, has created a small museum in his office in the Bon Air Shopping Center. In it he has objects that he has collected from four continents. Japanese water colors, Chinese and African carved figures and boxes are among the many selections.
